Notes from the HOA President

COVID Vaccines – You probably know by now that we were unable to arrange a Vaccine Clinic at Amber Glades. This may be old news by now but in case those who want the vaccine and have not yet been able to get one, here is information on the websites and phone number to put your name on a list to receive a vaccine.

Web Information: <https://www.patientportalfl.com> or <https://myvaccine.fl.gov>
Phone – 866-201-7113

If you need help with this process and do not have anyone to help, call Dave Suderman at 503-871-1388.

Rent Increase Notices have been sent out by the management. Needless to say, no one is happy about them. Our negotiating team consisting of Ann Ohr, Ann Marie Tiernan, Sharon DesJardins and Debra Santee have been preparing for months and are working diligently on behalf of the residents to fight for the best deal we can get. The first negotiation meeting was on March 19. More information will be forthcoming as it becomes available.

Homeowners Association (HOA) Board of Directors meetings occur October through April on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:00 PM in the Clubhouse. All HOA members are welcome to attend. If you are not already an HOA member, consider becoming one. Dues are $15 per year per household. We are considering having an informational meeting at the clubhouse for those who are not members but are interested in investigating membership further. Watch the Bulletin Board at the Clubhouse and/or social media for more information. In the meantime, if you have questions about the HOA, please feel free to talk to myself or any of the other Board members. We would be happy to answer any questions you might have.

Greetings from the plant lady

Timing tips for gorgeous Gardens.

Follow these phenology folk sayings and also apply them to perennials. The key is temperature. When you see a certain flower bloom, or a particular plant with leaves, you know the temperature is warm enough to sow seeds, prune, or transplant. Give this old-fashioned advice a try in your own garden.

There is no set date for when you can begin working the soil in the Spring but its best not to start too early – wait at least until the rains have passed. Working wet soil can destroy the structure or tilt. Once damaged, it can take years to recover. Walking on wet dirt can also compact it. Rather than relying on calendars, let the soil itself tell you when its ready. Pick up a handful and squeeze. Crumble easily? Then it's ready to do. If it sticks together and keeps its shape, that is still too wet.

Senior Social Security Scams

Crooks posing as Social Security employees triggered a record-shattering number of complaints in 2020 and led to nearly $45 million in victim losses, proving pandemic shutdowns did not stanch what the Social Security commissioner called a “terrible” problem.

In what has emerged as the No. 1 impostor scam afflicting a U.S. agency, there were more than 718,000 complaints about Social Security impostors during the 12 months ended Sept. 30, 2020, a significant jump from the roughly 478,000 reported during the same period the previous year.

The average victim lost $6,100 in calendar year 2020, though historically losses for some individuals have been much higher. A 27-year-old Chicago-area man is awaiting sentencing after admitting he and his accomplices ripped off an older woman in Massachusetts for more than $900,000.

The bad actors posed as Social Security Administration (SSA) and U.S. Department of Justice officials, and told victwims that their identities had been stolen and they needed to transfer money to various bank accounts.

Older people have more to lose

Federal officials said that while the Social Security impostor scam is not necessarily targeted at older Americans, losses for older victims may be steeper, since they generally have more money than younger people.

Andrew Saul, SSA commissioner, and Gail Ennis, the agency’s inspector general, discussed the rise in impostor scams on the eve of National Slam the Scam Day, which falls on March 4. As part of the effort, the agencies and their private-sector partners — one is AARP — promote scam awareness and prevention.

Happy landing

An airline had a policy that required the pilot to stand at the door while the passengers exited, smile, and say, “Thanks for flying with our airline!” The landing on one particular flight was particularly rough, and the pilot had difficulty looking the passengers in the eye, expecting that one or two would have a smart comment for him. However, it seemed that all the passengers were too shaken to say anything.

Finally, everyone had gotten off except for one little old lady walking with a cane. At the door she said, “Sonny, mind if I ask you a question?”

“Why, no, ma'am,” said the pilot. “What is it?”

The woman said, “Did we land or were we shot down?”

Enough is enough

Investor John Bogle, founder of Vanguard, once told a profound story about the value of money:

“At a party given by a billionaire on Shelter Island, Kurt Vonnegut informs his pal, Joseph Heller, that their host, a hedge fund manager, had made more money in a single day than Heller had earned from his wildly popular novel Catch-22 over its whole history. Heller responds, ‘Yes, but I have something he will never have—enough.’”

Legend of the touchstone

When the library of Alexandria burned centuries ago, only one insignificant book was saved. A poor man who could read a little bought it for a few coppers. The book wasn't very interesting, but between its pages he found something very interesting indeed—a thin strip of parchment on which was written the secret of the touchstone.

The touchstone, according to the document, was a small pebble that could turn any common metal into pure gold. The writing explained that it was lying among thousands and thousands of other pebbles on a beach. The real stone would feel warm to the touch, while ordinary pebbles are cold.

The man sold his few belongings, went to the seashore described on the parchment, and began testing pebbles. Figuring that if he picked up ordinary pebbles and threw them down again because they were cold, he might pick up the same pebble hundreds of times. So, when he felt one that was cold, he threw it into the sea.

He spent days at his search, picking up a pebble—cold—then throwing it into the sea. Picking up another and throwing it into the sea.

One day, after weeks and months, the man picked up a pebble and threw it into the sea. Then he realized that the pebble had been warm—the touchstone! But he had formed such a strong habit of throwing each pebble into the sea that when the one he wanted came along he still threw it away.

Don't let your habits trick you into throwing away your opportunities.

Storytelling is among the oldest forms of communication. Storytelling is the commonality of all human beings, in all places, in all times.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."
