A Message from your Social Activities Committee

All regularly scheduled activities sponsored by your Social Activities Committee have been suspended until further notice due to the Covid-19 pandemic. As you know, the Clubhouse is closed for all activities and the pool is open for residents only. Thank you for your cooperation. Stay safe and stay well.

Volunteers Needed

As cooler weather continues, covering the pool at night becomes necessary to maintain the heated temperature of the water. Volunteers are needed for this task. There will be a signup sheet on the bulletin board in the laundry room for volunteers. Please sign-up and take your turn at helping out.

The pool is covered if the low overnight temperature is 65 degrees or lower. The pool must be covered before dusk. The volunteer week begins on Monday night and continues through Sunday night. If the pool is covered on Friday night, it will be uncovered on Saturday morning by 8:30AM, by the volunteer of the week, (provided the temperature is above 65 degrees) -If the pool is covered on Saturday night, it will be uncovered on Sunday morning by 8:30AM, by the volunteer of the week, (temperature restrictions apply as stated above). Uncovering the pool during the week is performed by the maintenance staff. If there are no volunteers for the week, maintenance staff will cover the pool at 3:00PM. There will be instructional help available to make the covering and uncovering of the pool easy and efficient.

Volunteers are the backbone of our community. Please help when and where you can. Thank you!

Mysteries of the largest black hole

It's the biggest and oldest black hole ever discovered. And it's nowhere near close to giving up all its secrets, according to the Science News website.

The black hole, J0313-1806, has a mass equal to 1.6 billion suns. It's at the center of a galaxy more than 1.3 billion light-years from Earth, and it comes from a time when the universe was only 670 billion years old—about five percent of its age now.

How did it get so large? That's the mystery. Supermassive black holes—also known as quasars—are typically thought to grow from smaller black holes pulling in matter. However, astronomers estimate that if this quasar formed right after the universe's oldest stars and grew as fast as possible, it would have needed to start out with at least 10,000 times the mass of the sun. Collapsing stars that form black holes, though are thought to only create quasars around a few thousand times the mass of our sun.

Scientists theorize that a huge black hole could have formed from the collapse of primordial hydrogen gas in vast amounts. On the other hand, this black hole could have been produced by stellar collapse and grown more quickly than previously thought.

Which explanation is correct? Scientists will have to look further back through time toward the birth of the universe for smaller black holes and measure how they grow.

Yikes! Electric eels hunt in packs

Imagine fleeing from an electric eel. Pretty scary, right? Now imagine trying to escape a pack of them.

It's not a horror movie (yet). But The New York Times reports that scientists have discovered that eels, long considered to be loners of the deep, actually congregate in packs to hunt other fish. The behavior was actually first observed in 2013, when a Brazilian diver exploring an Amazon waterway came upon a “writhing mass” of 100 or more eels ganging up to prey on a group of tetra fish. The eels nudged them into tight balls and then hit them with a series of synchronized shocks.

The discovery was confirmed by other researchers and recently written up in a scientific journal. The eels have been identified as the Volta electric eel, which can grow to eight feet long and deliver a shock of 860 volts. Ten of them working together could produce enough electricity to power 100 light bulbs. Researchers speculate that they coordinate their attacks by communicating with low-voltage energy discharges.

*The aim of science is to seek the simplest explanations of complex facts.
—Alfred North Whitehead*

Happy April Fools' Day!

The April Fools' Day tradition has been around since at least the 15th century (with a possible reference to it appearing in Geoffrey Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales), and the question of how it began has been asked almost as long: A letter to the British magazine Apollo in 1807 wondered, "Whence proceeds the custom of making April Fools?"

The usual explanation involves the calendar. The Julian calendar began the New Year on March 25, and festivals celebrating it were typically held on April 1. When the world began changing over to the Gregorian calendar, which places New Year's Day on Jan. 1, pranksters sometimes tried to fool their friends and neighbors into thinking that April 1 was still the first day of the year.

In the 18th century, some believed that April Fools' Day dated back to the days of Noah and the flood. A newspaper article published in 1789 suggested that Noah sent the first birds off to look for land too soon, and that he launched them on the first day of the Hebrew month corresponding with April.

Coincidentally, in 1933 a newspaper in Cologne ran a story about the discovery of Noah's Ark by an expedition sponsored by the "Royal Yalevard University" in Massachusetts, led by "Professor Mud" and "Professor Stoneass." The story appeared on April 1; on April 8, the paper admitted the joke, but other publications printed the story as if it was genuine.

From hare to eternity: origins of the Easter Bunny

Next to Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny is probably the most beloved bringer of gifts to small children. This famous symbol of spring was originally associated with Eostre, a German goddess of fertility who was often depicted with a rabbit companion.

Both rabbits and eggs, not surprisingly, are considered symbolic of fertility.

The bunny as a symbol of Easter was first mentioned in German writings during the 16th century, and edible bunnies made of pastry and sugar were made in Germany during the 19th century. The Easter Bunny was introduced to American children by German settlers in the Pennsylvania Dutch region in the 1700s.

Children were encouraged to build colorful nests and hide them in their homes. If the children had been good, the Osterhase would leave brightly colored eggs in the nests.

April gets you out of your head and out working in the garden.

Last will

Robert went to a lawyer and said, "I'd like to make a will, but I don't know exactly how to go about it."

The lawyer smiled at Robert and replied, "Not a problem, just leave everything to me."

Robert looked upset. "I knew you were going to take a big portion, but I would like to leave a little to my family, too!"

Happy landing

An airline had a policy that required the pilot to stand at the door while the passengers exited, smile, and say, "Thanks for flying with our airline!" The landing on one particular flight was particularly rough, and the pilot had difficulty looking the passengers in the eye, expecting that one or two would have a smart comment for him. However, it seemed that all the passengers were too shaken to say anything.

Finally, everyone had gotten off except for one little old lady walking with a cane. At the door she said, "Sonny, mind if I ask you a question?"

"Why, no, ma'am," said the pilot. "What is it?"

The woman said, "Did we land or were we shot down?"

To our valued customers:

During the current times we wanted to let you know that we are taking as many precautions as we can to ensure not only our workers safety but yours as well. We check workers' temperatures each morning and have limited the amount of contact our crews have with each other. Our crews work in Tyvek suits with respirators which helps to ensure your safety as well as theirs.

As a company, we want your business and there is no need for any contact if you so choose. Our business is deemed an "Essential Business" and we are here for you when you need us. You can schedule your inspection by calling 1-800-681-3772.
