Hard to believe we're already in the month of July. It's very hot out there so do your activities for outdoors early morning late evening.

New backsplash is up for the golf driving range and the area around the putt putt has been cleaned up.

The boxes are in for cards for the pool and the clubhouse for evenings. If you haven't done it yet be sure to call or stop in the office to get your card registered. We hope this continues to make people feel a little more secure when they're at the pool or in the clubhouse.

Remember we all live here so if you see something that needs to be done tell management and they will take care of it, and if they don't, let us know and we will see what we can do to help. Enjoy all the fireworks.

IN THE NEWS

From Reggie "K"

Pasco County, Wesley Chapel, FL.

Neighbors are concerned about a new development coming and built by SoHo Capital, called Dayflower. It would be built near the rural communities of Quail Hollow and Angus Valley. They have concerns about a 1000 plus homes in a rural area. Neighbors, say they have lived in the Quail Hollow neighborhood since 1988. Right next to the property the developer is looking to build more than 1000 new homes. The fact that the developer wants into this rural area and slam high density against farms, just blows their minds. One of the concerns is the traffic that will have to cut through those residential neighborhoods to get to the new development. Other neighbors are worried about the environmental and flooding impacts on the wetlands there which will be degraded. SoHo stated that the project will contribute money to road improvement in the area. Neighbors are skeptical and want more answers, what we do not want to see is high density slammed against us, said one neighbor.

The area has been zoned for development for years, Pasco County still must approve the project.

Should Recreational Marijuana be Legal in Florida?

There is no shortage of opinions in Florida on the use of recreational marijuana. From ardent supporters of a measure to approve it, including deep-pocketed attorney John Morgan, to those who pump the brakes on any full-blown open use of it -mostly from law enforcement. Talk about the push for legislation in Florida, who is for it, who is against it and why some other industries statewide may be in no rush to back it. Meanwhile. A driving force behind legalizing medical marijuana in the state, says it is only a matter of time for recreational as well. "It is such a no-brainer I can't believe it's a debate," said Morgan, who added he uses it medicinally with gummies. Morgan also said a recreational marijuana industry could benefit the state financially as well, adding jobs and taxes and a wealth of new opportunities, -- But not everyone is sold.-

Obviously, law enforcement is not so gung-ho on the issue. Pinellas County Sheriff Bob Gualtieri, said marijuana enforcement is not a priority of his department, but he also said he is not in favor of full-blown legalization. I think the community attitude and sentiments toward marijuana continue to change. They have changed dramatically over the years; we need to be aware of what the community wants and believes.

Poultry Prices

The pandemic has led to shortages of many items. One of the latest is chicken wings.

David Rhoden, owner of Clearwater Egg and Poultry says there is an increased demand of chicken wings and prices have skyrocketed over the past year. "The demand of chicken is just unbelievable, and the fact that the plants are shorthanded, they just don't have enough workers to meet the demand. Prices are also high on meats other than chicken.

Rhoden sells meats to local restaurants. He says before the pandemic, chicken wings cost roughly $1.00 per pound. In May of 2020 he was selling them for $2.00 per pound, now they are $3.70 per pound. "Every week, the price has gone up 10 to 15 cents a pound and it's making the restaurants struggle. Since the start of the year, many restaurant owners he works with have only been able to get about 75% of what they order.

David Berlo is one of Rhoden's customers who owns Varsity Club in Clearwater, there is a sign on the door telling customers his new wing prices and why he had to raise them. Don't expect prices to drop anytime soon.

Peanuts are not nuts. If they are not nuts, then what are they? They are legumes. Real nuts, also called drupes, grow on trees while peanuts grow underground.

Found in Southeast Asia, there are bananas that have a red peel. They are said to taste sweeter than the traditional bananas.

Butterflies do not have taste buds, they taste with their feet they stand on their food to get a sense of it and then decide if they want to eat it or not.

Who eats the most cheese in the world.? The answer is Denmark, they eat cheese at the rate of 28 kg per person. Ireland came in second place and Finland rounding out the top three.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Perhaps the most famous Native American leader of all time, Geronimo was a medicine man in the Bedonkohe band of the Chiricahua. Born in June 1829, he was quickly acclimated to the Apache way of life. As a Jung boy, he swallowed the heart of his first successful hunting kill and had already led four separate raids before he turned 18. Like many of his people, he suffered greatly at the hands of the “civilized” people around him. The Mexicans who still controlled the land, killed his wife and three Jung children. {Though he hated Americans, he maintained a deep-seated abhorrence for Mexicans until his dying day.}

In 1848, Mexico ceded control of vast swaths of land, including Apache territory, in the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. This preceded near-constant conflict between the new American settlers and the tribes which lived on the land. Eventually, Geronimo and his people were moved off their ancestor's land and placed in a reservation in a barren part of Arizona, something the great leader deeply resented. Over the course of the next ten years, he led several successful breakouts, hounded persistently by the U.S. Army. In addition, he became a celebrity for his daring escapes. He finally surrendered for the last time on September 4th, 1886, followed by several different imprisonments. Shortly before his death, Geronimo pleaded his case before President Theodore Roosevelt, failing to convince the American leader to allow his people to return home. He took his last breath in 1909, following an accident on his horse. On his deathbed, he was said to have stated; "I should never have surrendered; I should have fought until I was the last man alive."

A chief and holy man of the Hunkpapa Lakota, Sitting Bull was born in 1831, somewhere in present-day South Dakota. In his youth, he was an ardent warrior, going on his first raid at only 14. His first violent encounter with U.S. troops was in 1863. It was his bravery which led to him becoming the head of all the Lakota in 1868. Though small conflicts between the Lakota and the US would continue for a decade, it wasn't until 1874 that full-scale war began. The reason: Gold had been found in the sacred Black Hills of South Dakota.

The violence culminated in a Native American coalition facing off against US troops lead by Custer at the aforementioned Battle of Little Bighorn. Afterward, many more troops came pouring into the area, and chief after chief was forced to surrender, with Sitting Bull escaping to Canada. His people's starvation eventually let to an agreement with the US whereupon they were moved to a reservation. After fears were raised that Sitting Bull would join a religious movement known as the Ghost Dance, a ceremony which supported to rid the land of white people, his arrest was ordered. A gunfight between police and his supporters soon erupted, and Sitting Bull was shot in the head and killed.

JULY JOKES

From Reggie "K"

Husband: Honey, tell me what you would like for your birthday.

Wife: Frankly, I would like a divorce.

Husband; Yikes! I wasn't planning on spending that much.

A man with a nagging secret could not keep it any longer. In the confessional he admitted that for years he had been stealing building supplies from the lumberyard where he worked. "What did you take?" his priest asked. "Enough to build my own house and enough for my sons house. And houses for our two daughters and our cottage at the lake." "This is very serious," the priest said. "I shall have to think of a far-reaching penance. Have you ever done a retreat?" "No father I haven't," the man replied. "But if you can get the plans, I can get the lumber."

A man takes a seat in the theater, but he is too far from the screen, so he motioned to the usher and whispered, "This is a mystery and I have to watch a mystery close up, get me a better seat and I'll give you a handsome tip." The usher moves him into the second row and the man rewards him with a quarter. The usher looks at his tip for a second and then leans over to whisper to the man; "THE WIFE DID IT."

A man was taking his afternoon walk one day when he came upon this big house in a very nice neighborhood. Suddenly, he noticed that there was a couple, making love on the lawn and a couple over behind a tree, then another couple behind some bushes by the house. He walked up to the door and knocked. A well-dressed woman answered the door, and the man asked her what kind of place this was. "This is a brothel." Replied the madam. "Well then what is all that out on the lawn?" Queried the man. "Oh" replied the madam.
"WE ARE HAVING A YARD SALE TODAY."

There once was a flood and everyone had reached safety except for one man. He climbed to the top of his house with the water lapping at his feet. A helicopter flew over his head and hung down a rope for him to climb, but the man was deeply religious and said, "It's alright the lord will save me." So, the helicopter flew away. water continued to rise, and a boat came to him, but once again he shouted; "The lord will save me." And the boat sped off. The water was getting dangerously deep now, so the helicopter came back and on cue the man repeated "I don't need saving, my lord will come and save me." Reluctantly the helicopter left. The rain continued to pour, the water continued to rise, and the man drowned.

At the gates of heaven, the man met St. Peter. Confused, he asks "St. Peter, if lived a life of a faithful man why did my lord not rescue me.?" St. Peter replied.

"FOR PITY SAKE, I SENT YOU TWO HELICOPTERS AND ONE BOAT!"
