Some interesting “life hacks” from Tom Lenard:

Hugging and cuddling kills depression, relieves anxiety, improves skin and strengthens the immune system.

The brain is much more active at night than during the day time.

Our eyes are always the same size from birth, but our nose and ears never stop growing.

Your thumb is the same size as your nose.

Press your tongue firmly against the back of your mouth to prevent a sneeze.

If you are feeling sleepy, hold your breath for as long as you can and then release it.

Put your hands in ice water and flex them if you have a migraine.

Keep an onion near you at night if you have a stuffy nose.

Scratch your ear to stop the tickle in you throat.

If you are in bed still feeling dizzy, place one of your feet on the ground. This will help the brain recalculate your position.

Place your tongue against the roof of your mouth if you have a brain freeze.

If you have a toothache, rub some ice between your thumb and forefinger. This can relieve the pain by up to 50 percent.

Yellow teeth are stronger, the natural color of teeth is light yellow, whitening your teeth can permanently weaken them.

People who eat spicy food tend to live longer.

Cracking your knuckles does not hurt your bones. The sound you hear is just gas bubbles bursting.

Thanks Tom!

Cooking Humor

Tonight for supper I fixed beef pot pie. Dave was reading the directions for me as the print is kinda small. He got to the part that said “cook in carton with top off” and nearly fell off his chair laughing. It took me a while to figure out what was so funny. When I finally “got it”, I assured him I would not be cooking with my top off! Dave, Dave, gotta love his sense of humor!

The power of story

Author Neil Gaiman explains the power of stories with a tale on the Books Bird website:

“My cousin Helen, who is in her 90s now, was in the Warsaw ghetto during World War II. She and a bunch of girls in the ghetto had to do sewing each day. And if you were found with a book, it was an automatic death penalty. She had gotten hold of a copy of Gone with the Wind, and she would take three or four hours out of her sleeping time each night to read. And then, during the hour or so when they were sewing the next day, she would tell them all the story. These girls were risking certain death for a story. And when she told me the story herself, it actually made what I do feel more important. Because giving people stories is not a luxury. It’s actually one of the things you live and die for.”

An enduring act of kindness

An act of kindness can have a lifelong effect, as this story illustrates:

A Jewish family who had immigrated from Lithuania to the United States took pity on a seven-year-old boy and brought him to their home. He spent the night in family home, where for the first time in his life he was treated with kindness and tenderness. When he went to bed, the mother sang him Russian lullabies, which he sang along with her. Later he learned to sing and play several Russian and Jewish songs.

Over time, the boy became the adopted son of this family. The father gave him money to buy his first musical instrument.

The little boy grew up and wrote a book about the family, and proudly spoke Yiddish fluently.

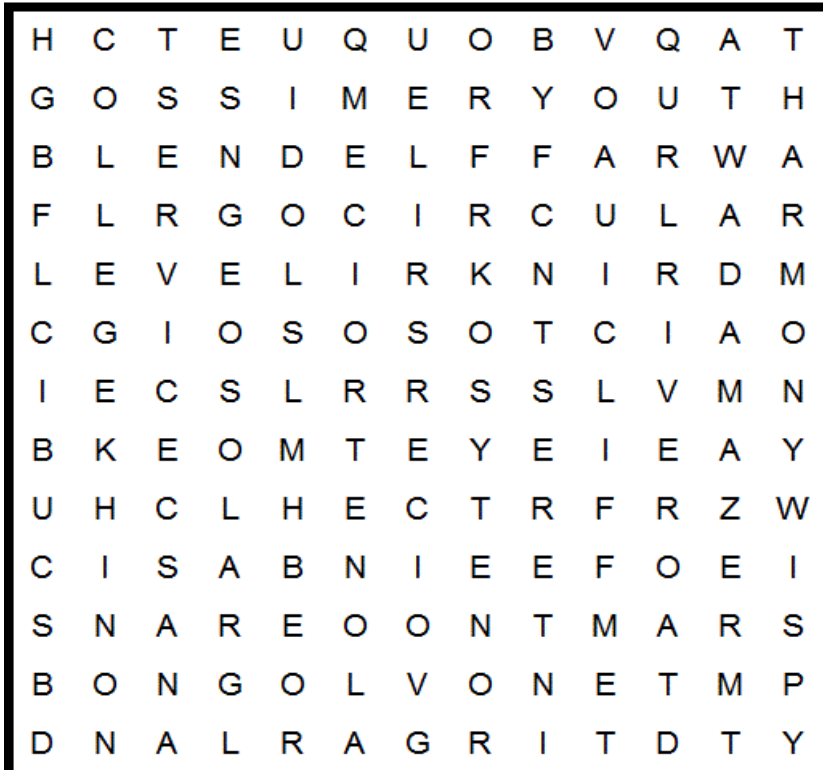

In memory of this family, he wore the Star of David. He said that in this family he learned determination and "to live a real life."

The little boy's name was Louis Armstrong.

Humanity’s legacy of stories and storytelling is the most precious we have. All wisdom is in our stories and songs.

— Doris Lessing

Low-impact exercise

---

Feeling the need to exercise? Start out with this one:

Stand on a comfortable surface with plenty of room on each side. With a five-pound potato bag in each hand, extend your arms straight out from your sides and hold them there as long as you can. Try to last for a full minute, then relax.

Each day you'll find yourself holding this position just a bit longer.

After a week, move up to 10-pound potato bags. Then try 50-pound bags. Eventually, try to get to where you can lift a 100-pound potato bag in each hand and hold your arms straight for three minutes.

When you feel confident, put a potato in each bag.

The last drop

A bartender was so sure he was the strongest man around that he offered a standing $1,000 bet. He would squeeze a lemon until all the juice ran into a glass. Anyone who could squeeze one more drop of juice out would win the money.

Many people tried over time—weightlifters, longshoremen, etc.—but nobody could do it.

One day a scrawny little man came into the bar wearing thick glasses and a polyester suit. He said in a tiny squeaky voice, "I'd like to try the bet."

Everyone laughed, but the bartender grabbed a lemon and squeezed it dry. Then he handed the remains to the little man.

Then the crowd's laughter turned to total silence as the man gripped the lemon and squeezed six more drops into the glass.

As the crowd cheered, the bartender paid the $1,000 and asked the man, "What do you do for a living? Are you a lumberjack, a weightlifter, what?"

"No," the man replied. "I work for the IRS."

- What did one eye say to the other? “Between you and me, something smells.”

- Insect puns bug me.
- My leaf blower doesn’t work. It sucks.
- Teacher: “Which book has helped you the most in your life?” Student: “My father’s checkbook.”
- My friend thinks he’s so smart. He told me an onion is the only food that makes you cry, so I threw a coconut in his face.
- Math teacher: “If I have five bottles of beer in one hand and six in the other hand, what do I have?” Student: “A drinking problem.”
- Two psychics run into each other on the street. One says to the other, “You’re fine, but how am I?”

Missing ingredient

A food critic visited a local restaurant to review its food for the local magazine. The owner welcomed her and showed her to a table.

After a while, the critic called the owner over to say that there was something missing in her bowl of soup.

The owner asked if it was too spicy, too sweet, or too salty. The critic said no, so the owner decided to taste the soup himself. “Give me a spoon.”

"That's what's missing," said the critic.
