March is here and spring is coming and time change and St. Patrick's Day. Hope everyone had a good February as March gets very busy. At the end of January a new Board of Directors was elected and then the board chose officers for the year. Please see the inside cover of the Messenger for your new list of directors and their offices. Also, the bylaws have been placed on the shelf by the bulletin boards. There is also an updated list of meetings for the year.

Management has purchased a new griddle for the clubhouse so come out and enjoy the pancakes. As we voted on in the January meeting, the clubhouse is now closed from Fridays at 5 PM till Mondays at 7 AM unless you use your card. I would recommend going over and checking it out some evening to make sure yours is working before you truly need it.

Management has hired a humane trapper for the wild cats in the park. If you see cats roaming around please call the office and give the lot number. I would recommend that your indoor cats have a collar on just in case they get out.

If you have old fruit trees that you no longer are taking the fruit from, the office will cut it down. Just give them a call and they will schedule it. This eliminates the problem with fruit rats.

HOA now has their own suggestion box on the shelf by the bulletin boards. You can drop off suggestions or concerns or questions that we may be able to help you with.

Our March HOA meeting is March 14 at 7 o'clock in the clubhouse. Hope to see you there.

HOA MESSAGE FROM THE HOA TREASURER

With negotiations fast approaching there is still time to join the HOA to show a united front to the Landlords. There is a $10.00 fee per coach (not per person) to join the HOA. If your lot number is listed below, you have already paid and are a member in good standing. Negotiation meetings will begin in March with the Board.

If your Lot number appears in this list, thank you for your dedication to the HOA. If you need to pay your HOA fees, please drop them in the mail slot on my front door at 335 Twin Oak. Thanks to everyone for their attention to this matter.

For example:

An optometrist should have a Ford Focus

A Scottish person should have a Toyota Highlander

One of the Spice Girls should have a Porsche Cayenne

Get it?

Send me your fun suggestions and I'll publish them next month.

CRAFT DAY AT OAK CREST/ACORN

Every Friday morning from 9 am to 12 pm
Our first Craft Day was Friday, February 4th and was very successful. We had a great turn out, with twelve crafters including myself. We decided to offer a craft to get some of you started. Some of you had your own craft/hobby you wanted to work on. It was great to see so much talent and smiling faces.

Craft day is every Friday from 9am to noon. We asked that you bring a table cloth or something to protect the tables from being stained and your own supplies/brushes. For the clay pot craft I did supply paint/brushes for those that didn't have or bring any. Bring something to drink and your own snack or you could bring a treat to share with everyone.

Looking forward to seeing you all every Friday morning. If you have any questions you can get ahold of me, Bunnie (517-712-4560) or Lorie (978-317-3697) or Yvonne (518-569-4904). Welcome any ideas or suggestions.

Happy Crafting
Bunnie

March Calendar

Brain Injury Awareness Month. More than 5.3 million adults and children are living with a permanent brain injury-related disability in the United States. If you know someone who is living with a brain injury, or if you have one yourself, join the #MoreThanMyBrainInjury campaign to help educate people about what it's like to live with a brain injury.

Red Cross Month. Red Cross Month has been an annual tradition since 1943, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued the first Red Cross Month proclamation. Join the Red Cross mission by volunteering, donating blood, learning lifesaving skills, or making a financial contribution.

Social Work Month. The theme for Social Work Month 2022 is “The Time is Right for Social Work.” During Social Work Month, take time to learn more about the positive contributions of the profession and celebrate the social workers you know.

Women’s History Month. Since 1995, presidents have issued a series of annual proclamations designating March “Women’s History Month.” These proclamations celebrate the contributions women have made to the United States and recognize the specific achievements women have made over the course of American history in a variety of fields.

Weekly

LGBT Health Awareness Week, March 1-7. Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people encounter discrimination in employment, relationship recognition, and insurance coverage on a regular basis; consequently, they are less likely to be able to afford vital health care than their straight and non-transgender neighbors.

National Consumer Protection Week, March 6-12. National Consumer Protection Week (NCPW) is a time to help people understand their consumer rights and make well-informed decisions about money.

Save Your Vision Week, March 6-12. Few realize how many people lose their sight every year. Many forms of blindness can be cured if discovered soon enough, and many people blinded by accident could have kept their sight had they taken minor eye safety precautions. Our eyesight and the eyesight of our children should be paramount on our list of personal responsibilities. Money can't buy it, but a checkup and early care can preserve it.

National Poison Prevention Week, March 20-26. National Poison Prevention Week raises awareness of poison prevention nationwide. The week is an opportunity to highlight the dangers of poisoning for people of all ages and promote community involvement in poisoning prevention.

March Days

World Wildlife Day, March 3. This year's theme, "Recovering key species for ecosystem restoration," seeks to draw attention to the status of some of the most endangered species of wild fauna and flora, and to drive discussions towards imagining and implementing solutions to conserve them.

Pi Day, March 14. Divide any circle's circumference by its diameter and the answer is always approximately 3.14. Keep calculating, as mathematicians have been doing for 4,000 years, and you'll discover it goes on with no pattern literally forever.

St. Patrick's Day, March 17. The luck of the Irish be with you!

World Storytelling Day, March 20. A global celebration of the art of oral storytelling, celebrated every year on the March equinox.

National Agriculture Day, March 22. This year's theme: "Growing a Climate for Tomorrow."

NUMBERS IN THE NEWS

City or somewhere else? The pandemic changed minds

The pandemic has fueled a change of attitude about where people want to live, according to the Courthouse News Service website. In research conducted by the Pew Research Center, 23% of participants said they preferred living in the city in 2018, a number that declined to 19% in 2021. The number of people who expressed a preference for living in the suburbs was 46% in 2021, a 4% increase from 2018.

Forty-three percent of city residents said they wanted to move in 2021, up from 37% in 2018. Forty percent of suburb dwellers, and 50% of rural residents, said they had no desire to move in 2021, a shift from 36% of suburbanites and 43% of those in rural areas in 2018. Only 8% of any Americans actually moved in 2020, the lowest number since the 1950s, according to U.S. Census Bureau data.

It is not in numbers, but in unity, that our great strength lies.

Could be worse

James was walking down the street one day, and he happened to see his old high school friend, Harry. "Harry, Harry, how are you?"

"Not so good," said Harry.

"Why? What happened?"

"I just went bankrupt," Harry said, "and I don't know what I'm going to do."

"Could be worse," James replied calmly. "Could be worse."

A month or so later, James again encountered Harry, this time in a restaurant. "How are things now?" he asked.

"Terrible!" said Harry. "Our house burned down last night."

"Could be worse," said James again, and he went to sit down at his table.

A month later, James ran into Harry a third time. "Well, how goes it?" he inquired.

"Oh!" said Harry. "Things just get worse and worse. Now my wife has left me."

Harry nodded his head. "Could be worse."

This time, Harry grabbed James by the shoulders. "Wait a minute!" he said. "I'm not letting you off so easy this time. Every time I tell you about the latest disaster in my life you say the same thing: 'Could be worse.' This time, Harry, I want you to tell me: How in heaven's name could it have been any worse?"

James looked at Harry with a little wisp of a smile. "Could have happened to me."

At the height of laughter, the universe is flung into a kaleidoscope of new possibilities.

The wooden sword

One night a king changed out of his fancy robes for a walk outside his palace. On the edge of town he saw a man sitting in a small house singing as he cooked his modest dinner. Curious, the king knocked at the door, and the man let him in.

“How can you be so happy with such a small house and small meal?” the king asked.

“I make just enough money fixing people’s shoes to get by,” the man explained.

The king thought this poor man was very foolish. The next day he signed a law forbidding anyone to fix shoes for pay.

That night he visited the man again. “The king passed a law against fixing shoes,” the man explained, “so I got a job carrying water from the river.”

Annoyed, the next day the king passed a law against carrying water for pay.

The man took a job as a woodcutter. Losing patience, the king ordered all woodcutters to report to his palace and serve as guards. He gave them all swords.

The man, needing money, carved a sword from wood and sold his own sword to a peasant. But the next day the king spotted the peasant carrying a sword. Enraged, he arrested the man and then ordered his guards to the palace. Spotting the man he’d been talking to, he pointed his finger and said, “I order you to cut off this thief’s head.”

At first the man protested. “I have never killed even a fly.”

But the king insisted. So the man approached the peasant, his hands trembling. Then he had an idea.

He lifted his head and cried, “Oh, God, if this man is guilty, let my sword slice his head clean off. But if he is innocent, turn my sword to wood so that I may spare him!”

He drew his sword, and the people cheered, believing they had seen a miracle.

The king was suddenly moved by the man’s cleverness. Calling him over, he revealed that he had been the man’s visitor, and said, “Now that I see how wise you are, I would like you to come live in the palace and be my chief advisor. I have much to learn from you.”

Storytelling is the commonality of all human beings, in all places, in all times.

— Rives Collins

You may tell a tale that takes up residence in someone’s soul, becomes their blood and self and purpose. That tale will move them and drive them, and who knows what they might do because of it, because of your words. That is your role, your gift.
