JUNE MANAGER'S LETTER FOR MONTHLY MEDIA

1. If you have not had the opportunity to meet the new community manager, stop by the office and introduce yourself to Maria Lugo. Maria started on April 5 and she is hitting the ground running. Be on the look out for community improvements and she will be conducting 360 inspections soon. Maria is going to be a great asset for our community!
2. Parking and towing – Just to make sure everyone knows, we have contacted the towing company and they will not tow any car on the street before 11 p.m. Just be aware that if you are parked on the grass at any time, your vehicle can be towed. This goes for the empty lot on 7th street by the pool. You can park on the street during the day around the clubhouse and pool area (just be sure other vehicles can get through, i.e. just use one side of the street and don't block anyone's driveway).
3. Trash – We are looking into getting a third pick up day for the household trash dumpsters. In the meantime, if you see that the dumpster is overflowing, just don't throw your trash on the ground around the dumpster. We are also working on different scenarios to keep the areas by the dumpsters cleaner. If the dumpster is overflowing when they come to pick it up and trash falls out, the dumpster may get set right on top of it. With only 1 full time maintenance person, it can be difficult to have them available to follow the trucks around to clean up while it is being emptied so nothing gets left behind.
Another area is the roll off dumpster. It is a capital improvement project to have a cement foundation put under the roll off dumpster and have new fencing all around both dumpsters on the south side. In the meantime, again, do not overfill the dumpster and DO NOT LEAVE ITEMS ON THE GROUND OUTSIDE THE FENCE. This just makes extra work for our maintenance staff. You can't dispose of TVs, refrigerators or wet paint in the roll off dumpster or they will not take it and we, again, need to go into the dumpster and retrieve the unacceptable items.

JUNE DAYS

Global Day of Parents, June 1. Emphasizing the crucial role of parents in the lives of children, the Global Day of Parents recognizes that the family has the primary responsibility for nurturing and protecting children.

National Cancer Survivors Day, June 5. Whether you're a cancer survivor yourself, a family member, a friend, or a medical professional, this day provides an opportunity for everyone living with a history of cancer to connect, celebrate milestones, and recognize those who have supported them.

Flag Day, June 14. A day commemorating the adoption of the flag of the United States in 1777.

Father's Day, June 19. This day honors all fathers, grandfathers, and father figures for their contribution to their children's lives.

Summer Solstice, June 21. The solstice marks the official beginning of summer in the Northern Hemisphere.

First day of summer—are you ready to celebrate?

Summer begins in 2022 on June 21 with the summer solstice, the day when the Earth's axis tilts our northern hemisphere most prominently toward the sun. On this day, the sun will reach its highest point in the sky, and afterward the daylight hours will grow shorter.

The solstice has been a time of celebration and ritual in cultures around the world throughout history. At Stonehenge, a visitor standing in the center of the stone circle can see the sun rising directly over the Heel Stone, located just outside the ring of stones. The Egyptian Great Pyramids were built in such a way that an observer standing near the Sphinx can watch the sun set directly between two of the Pyramids.

Celts and Slavs celebrated the event with bonfires and dancing to help the sun increase its strength. The Native American Hopi tribe had males dress as dancing spirits of rain and fertility known as Kachinas—messengers between humanity and the gods who left the villages at midsummer to live in the mountains, where they were said to visit the dead.

The ancient Druids' belief that the solstice represented the wedding of heaven and Earth is responsible for the tradition of brides planning a lucky June wedding.

JUNE CALENDAR

Alzheimer’s and Brain Awareness Month. Worldwide, more than 55 million people are living with Alzheimer’s or another type of dementia. Join the Alzheimer’s Association in going purple and raising awareness in June. The more people know about the facts about Alzheimer’s and dementia, the closer we come to a cure.

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBTQ) Pride Month. Celebrations include parades, picnics, parties, workshops, symposia, and concerts. The purpose of the commemorative month is to recognize the impact that lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender individuals have had on history locally, nationally, and internationally.

National Oceans Month. The ocean is home to fish, turtles, colorful coral reefs, and other unique organisms. National Oceans Month recognizes our connection to the ocean and seeks to raise awareness about the dangers it faces—pollution, overfishing, and more. These days it’s more imperative than ever to take action to treat ocean resources with respect.

National Rose Month. Roses come in more than 300 species, and in different sizes and colors across the globe. They have long held a special place in people’s hearts, used to show love and affection for weddings, childbirth, and other special occasions. The rose is also a state flower of five U.S. states.

Week

National Headache Awareness Week, June 5–11. What causes headaches? Stress, diet, or a life-threatening ailment? These questions can be answered only with extensive research. National Headache Awareness Week seeks to provide help to thousands of headache sufferers across the U.S.

National Nursing Assistants Week, June 16–23. National Nursing Assistants’ Week provides a timely opportunity to showcase the wonderful hands-on care that nursing assistants provide to patients across the country.

Lightning Safety Week, June 19–25. The National Lightning Safety Council established National Lightning Safety Awareness Week to provide the public with safety information about lightning. Visit NOAA’s comprehensive lightning safety website to learn more about lightning and lightning safety.

Learning Disability Week, June 20–26. This week aims to improve the quality of life for individuals with learning disabilities by raising awareness about important issues, fighting stigma and discrimination, and raising funds for outreach and support programs.

Remember these at your next party

- I just got my doctor's test results and I'm really upset. Turns out I'm not going to be a doctor.
- As I get older, I remember all the people I lost along the way. Maybe my career as a tour guide was not the right choice.
- I visited my friend in his new apartment. He told me to make myself at home, so I threw him out. I hate having visitors.
- My parents raised me as an only child, which really annoyed my sister.
- I threw a boomerang a few years ago. I now live in constant fear.
- I'll never forget my grandfather's last words to me just before he died: "Are you still holding the ladder?"
- My relatives liked to tease me at weddings, saying things like, "You'll be next!" They stopped once I started saying the same to them at funerals.
- I childproofed my house. Somehow they still got in.

Beware the anti-riddle

Some jokes can be funny precisely because they're not jokes. It's a paradox, but these riddles prove it:

- What do you call a joke that isn't funny? A sentence.
- What did one Frenchman say to the other Frenchman? I don't know, I don't speak French.
- I told my friend she was drawing her eyebrows too high. She looked surprised.
- How is a laser beam like a goldfish? Neither one can whistle.
- What did the man say when he lost his truck? "Where's my truck?"
- What's the one thing in life you can always count on? A calculator.
- What did one ant say to the other ant? Nothing, ants can't speak.
- Do you know what always makes me smile? Face muscles.
- How tall is the Empire State Building? One Empire State Building tall.
- Do you know what's odd? Every other number.

Guard your home against burglars

We all want to be secure in our homes, but burglars are out there, looking for vulnerable houses to rob. Keep your home safe with this advice from the CNET website:

- Keep doors and windows locked. This is the simplest step to take for security, but it's easy to overlook. Don't make things easy for burglars by leaving any access point unlocked, even when you're home. Doublecheck before you leave or go to bed to make sure everything's locked up tight.
- Strengthen your entrances. Every door leading outside should have a deadbolt to make breaking in more difficult. Make sure your door frames and hinges are secure as well. Replace them if they've gotten old. Look into smart locks that you can engage remotely.
- Get a home security system. Security cameras will scare any would-be burglar off. They can alert you to movement outside even if you're not at home, and notify the police automatically. Motion sensors on your doors and windows can also add extra security.
- Keep valuables hidden. Don't leave jewelry, electronics, cash or credit cards, or anything else of value where they can be seen through a window. Keep curtains and blinds closed so your interior isn't visible to anyone outside. Close your garage doors so passersby can't spot bikes or expensive tools.
- Light up your yard. Install outdoor lighting so no one can get close to your house without being seen. Motion sensor lights will illuminate the outdoors whenever they detect movement, and if you have security cameras, you'll get a good look at anyone trying to break into your house.
- Hide keys effectively. Don't just leave a spare house key in a flowerpot or underneath your welcome mat—that's where most burglars will look first. Use a lockbox that can only be opened with a combination, and hide it away from your front door. If possible, leave an extra key with a neighbor you trust.
- Don't let your house look empty. Burglars target houses where no one is home. Remember to stop your newspaper and mail delivery when you go on vacation. Leave a few lights on inside when you go out at night. Install a system for turning lights on and off when you're away to give the illusion that someone is inside.

Famous fathers and their offspring

Father's Day celebrates the special bond between fathers and their families. Every dad is a celebrity in his child's eyes, of course, but in some families fame and fatherhood go hand in hand. Take a look at some of these well-known fathers and their successful children from the world of movies, music, and sports:

- Kirk Douglas and Michael Douglas (acting)
- Tony Curtis and Jamie Lee Curtis (acting)
- Lloyd Bridges, Beau Bridges, and Jeff Bridges (acting)
- Archie Manning, Payton Manning, and Eli Manning (football)
- Jon Voight and Angelina Jolie (acting)
- Bob Dylan and Jakob Dylan (music)
- Frank Sinatra and Nancy Sinatra (music)
- Ken Griffey and Ken Griffey Jr. (baseball)
- Henry Fonda, Peter Fonda, and Jane Fonda (acting)

Flag Day trivia

Flag Day is June 14th, when Americans proudly display their patriotism by flying the U.S. flag far and wide. The design of the U.S. flag was originally established by the Second Continental Congress on July 14, 1777. The Flag Resolution stated:

“Resolved, that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation.”

New mineral discovered in diamond

Scientists have discovered a mineral never before seen in nature—in the heart of a diamond. Scientific American reports that the mineral, a form of calcium silicate perovskite, has been created artificially in laboratories under high-pressure conditions, but it reverts to a different form under normal pressure. However, scientists found three small chunks of the material when examining a diamond from Botswana. Because it has a different crystalline structure, they gave it a new name, davemaosite (after one of the researchers, geologist Ho-Kwang “Dave” Mao).

The diamond was formed deep in the mantle of the Earth, some 410–560 miles down. The davemaosite was found to have high levels of potassium, which may have helped keep it stable; it also contains small amounts of uranium and thorium, which are radioactive and contribute to the heat the Earth generates beneath its surface. Geologists speculate that davemaosite may make up to 5–7% of the material in the Earth’s mantle, providing new clues to the structure of our planet.

Greenland holds clue to ridges on Jupiter’s moon

Jupiter’s moon Europa is covered by ridges that appear in pairs stretching for hundreds of miles over channels of ice, and until recently scientists were puzzled about how they were created. Now, according to the Science News website, they believe the ridges arose from a process resembling the formation of similar ridges found in Greenland on Earth.

A NASA satellite in 2016 showed the existence of an 800-meter-long double ridge system in Greenland. Astronomers analyzed the Greenland ridges, which are much smaller than those on Europa due to Earth’s higher gravity. Radar shows that the Greenland ridges lie on top of a layer of water-filled snow about 10–15 meters deep; meltwater from the surface sinks into the buried snow beneath the ridges of ice.

Scientists theorize that the ridges on Europa have a similar origin, although the lack of meltwater or precipitation on the moon’s surface means that the shallow water probably comes from an ocean under the shell of ice that makes up Europa’s surface. When water rises through cracks, it collects in thick layers of ice from which the ridges grow.

A NASA probe scheduled to launch in 2024 and arrive at Europa in 2030 will provide more data to confirm the theory.
