FROM THE PRESIDENT

By Mark Vetter

Communication, Teamwork and Trust

Hello Friends and Neighbors,

Happy July, 2022

I first want to recognize and thank Tim Caddell and Sherri Bourque for the countless hours they have both volunteered on the Board. They have each contributed immensely to the success of this community and we look forward to seeing them at park activities.

Secondly, I would like to recognize and thank April Loomis and Diane Cudnik; two experienced Board veterans, for agreeing to come back to the Board and help continue the work of successful park business.

Which brings me to my topic for this month, communication. I realize the importance of good communication, teamwork and trust in each other is vital to success. Know that I will always attempt to communicate with all of you to the best of my ability. While communication doesn't solve every problem, I am convinced that it is the key component towards achieving solutions.

We need teamwork from everyone. We may not agree on every single park issue but we should support and stand together once a decision has been made, this includes each and every one of you as Clearwater Cascade residents. Long suffering, continued criticism of past decisions does no good and only serves to cause division and animosity among us as a community.

I am pleased with the progress the Board is making on a variety of issues such as revising policies and procedures, rules and regulations, banking and financial investments, bringing homeowners account balances to current and working on a solution for the Cross Bayou (canal). We are developing a scope of work for the library, gym and office, as well as solving the everyday issues.

Most important is trust. We all want future success for Clearwater Cascade. We are a community and as members, we should care for and trust one another.

Join us as a cohesive team of Clearwater Cascade residents.

BETTER HEARING STARTS HERE

MANAGER'S MESSAGE

By Bobbi Gumm CMCA

New Office Administrator – Please join me in welcoming our new office administrator, Allison Anderson. She is a great asset to our team!

MANAGER

Independence Day – July 4th - Happy Birthday USA. The business office will be closed on Monday, July 4th for the National Holiday.

Windows – Most of the windows have been replaced in the library and office. We are waiting on some new windows which were damaged during the delivery. I am sure the park will save a considerable amount of money in energy costs when all the new windows are installed. The new windows will be much less likely to suffer damage from high winds!

Mosquitos – Pinellas County has a mosquito control division. There are 11 zones in the county. If you are bothered by mosquitos around your home, call 727-464-7503, or email mosquitocontrol@pinellascounty.org and they will send someone out to inspect your home's exterior. For the best personal protection, use a repellent containing Deet, Picaridin or Oil of Lemon Eucalyptus and/or wear loose, light colored long sleeves and pants.

Notices - By now the new bulletin boards should be installed at the front entrances of the laundry/mailbox rooms. Notices from the office will be posted there.

Rule Reminder -According to the Declaration of Master Form Occupancy Agreement, Monthly Maintenance Fees are due on the 1st of each month and become late on the 5th of the month. When payments are received late, the owner(s) is assessed a fee of either 5% of the delinquent amount of $25.00, whichever is greater. When the next payment is made, it will be first applied to any interest that was assessed, then to a late fee, then it will be applied to the attorney or management company's cost. The portion remaining will be applied to the owner's outstanding balance.

It is hard to believe 2022 is half over! Where does the time go? Before we know it, we will be doing holiday shopping and putting up decorations!

DOING THIS ONE THING NOW, WILL SAVE YOU THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS LATER. TRUST ME.

FROM THE EDITOR

By Donna Collins

A big thank you to Tim Caddell and Sherri Bourque for their service to our Clearwater Cascade community and hope that you can now relax and smell the roses. Thank you to Jane Jarlenski for all you did for our park. Best wishes in your new position.

It is going to be a pleasure to still see Bobbi's friendly face in the office in her new role as CAM. We look to you to keep us in line, Bobbi. And welcome to Allison. I know all the snowbirds are looking forward to meeting you and that you are enjoying meeting the year-round residents and enjoying the wonderful community that is Clearwater Cascade.

As I put together this month's Chronicle, I hear about and see the wonderful things that are going on in the park and it is wonderful. Have an amazing summer and Don and I look forward to seeing everyone in November.

BEAUTIFICATION

By Donna Miller

Happy Summer! This summer, plans are for the heliconia beds in front of the office. Over the past few months most of these beautiful plants have died - some from being trampled, some from other causes. Our current plans are to combine the two beds into one and plant something else in the other bed. Of course, this will not be started until work on the windows has been finalized and workers are not walking on the plants.

Some of the plants in the “spinner” garden outside the clubhouse have been replaced as have some at the butterfly garden. The new soaker hose at the butterfly garden is working well - thanks again to Leigh, Sandy and Don for such wonderful help with this!

As always, I welcome any and all suggestions for keeping our little community looking good. Please let me know if you see anything “needing help” in any of the gardens. Let’s try to keep our section of the world beautiful!

SOCIAL CLUB

By April Loomis

The summer team has been hard at work presenting exciting events and it has paid off!

Ann Vetter's Hawaiian pool party at the end of May was very well attended and enjoyed by the residents. The weather was hot and the pool was refreshing! The food was plentiful, the games were fun and many winners took home prizes.

June's photo scavenger hunt was equally successful. Theresa Parson organized a challenging, but fun, hunt. Sandwiches, chips and drinks were enjoyed afterwards, as well as prizes awarded. All in all, a fun afternoon!

On July 2nd, Ann and Theresa will hosted ice cream social. Who doesn't love a Sunday, covered in goodies?

There will be a wonderful assortment from which to choose. The perfect treat to start the Fourth of July weekend!

I hope everyone is preparing their act for the August "gong" show. It will be held on August 6th at 6:00 PM. In the clubhouse. Bonnie Barns is hosting and she has requested that all attendees bring a dessert to share after the show. Remember, you don't have to be talented, just brave! So, get your act together and contact Bonnie so she knows how many are participating. Or—you can just attend to cheer and laugh at your neighbors.

Stay tuned for more events to come and have a safe and fun Fourth of July celebration!

No Sports For Me

Doctor: Do you participate in sports?

Senior: No, my parents won't let me.

Doctor: Your parents?

Senior: That's right. Mother Nature and Father Time.

MYSTERY CORNER?

A Deadly Excursion

Chapter Three

“Welcome back dear friends, for I feel I call you that now. Two secrets have been told. Johnny and Marian have a history and a baby that Johnny didn’t know about. How will this be handled, I wonder?” We still don’t know about Rosie’s mysterious marriages.

Meanwhile, the others have also gone to check into their rooms. Fernando and Stanley, sharing a room, are also sharing their stories of winning at the blackjack table and being smart enough to quit while they were ahead.

Since Autumn seems to have gone her own way, Agnes has joined up with Rosie and Katherine. They have been giggling like school children while winning some, losing some at the slots.

Clyde and Julie have also been discussing the coincidences surrounding Julie and Marian, but put them aside to have a go at the roulette table and doing quite well.

As the afternoon wears on, everyone drifts back to their rooms to get ready for dinner. Agnes is a bit worried to find her room empty with no sign of Autumn ever having been there.

As she gets her suitcase on the bed, she notices a dark stain on it that hadn’t been there before. “How odd,” she thinks to herself. “I must stop at the front desk to report it.”

At seven o’clock the group gathers in the Red Room to find two tables each set for seven. After some indecisions, everyone is seated when Katherine pipes up, “Agnes, where is Autumn? We haven’t seen her since lunch.”

Agnes’s lip quivers and answers, “I don’t know. She hasn’t been to the room. At least, her bags haven’t been opened.”

“Oh really,” says Katherine as everyone else looks up in surprise. “I wonder where she could be? Maybe she picked up a friend.”

“Good riddance,” mutters Stanley. “She is a rude, snotty dame with no empathy for others. She certainly wasn’t nice to me on the bus.”

“I don’t know what to think, she could have at least let me know if she was going somewhere. She has changed so much from the friend I used to know,” says Agnes. She pauses and then asks, “Did anyone else’s suitcase have a stain on it? Mine had a small dark one that I reported to the front desk.” Everyone shakes their heads and a few wonders why she is concerned about a stain on her suitcase when her friend appears to be missing!

“How was your day, Fernando?” asked Marian.

“Excellent. Stanley and I did quite well at playing blackjack,” replied Fernando. “How about you and Johnny?”

“It was very interesting and one that has led me to make a decision I should have made a long time ago,” said Marian as she smiled at him. She turned to the rest of those in the room. “I must tell you all that I have not treated this man fairly for something that was not of his doing. Fernando is in fact my step-brother. My father fell in love with our Mexican housekeeper. He divorced my mother, married Maria, and they had Fernando. I was 9 at the time, and was very bitter towards my father and would not accept Fernando. I was wrong and am so glad that I helped him get a job at F & L MHP and brought him on this trip.” She turned to Fernando with tears in her eyes, “I am happy to call you brother,” she said as she gave him a big hug. There was silence in the room and then a burst of applause.

Rosie smiled to herself, “so that’s what that exchange on the bus was all about. I’m happy for them. At least someone here is able to let go of the past.”

“Well, I did not expect that secret to be made so publicly. Well done, Marian!”

The chatting resumes but now with a new topic to gossip about, when dinner arrives. There were numerous oohs and aahs over the presentation and then the taste of the delicious food. The room became quiet as everyone was enjoying the meal when the doors suddenly open and several suited men came in accompanied by a uniformed police officer.

Now the silence was not from enjoyment but more from apprehension.

“Ladies and gentlemen, I apologize for disturbing your meal. I am James Wardell, head of security at the Cascade Casino and Hotel. I have some distressing news and I am going to need your full cooperation. I believe you had another guest with you, a,” he refers to his notebook, “Ms Autumn Hadfield. I regret to inform you that her body has been found in a closet in the luggage storage room. Since it is evident that the body was removed from the scene of the crime and hidden, we are treating this as a homicide.”

There was total silence for about a second and then the room erupts in cries of disbelief and a cacophony of questions.

“Please, ladies and gentlemen, I know this is very upsetting news but I do need you to remain calm. Detective William Rathburn and his team from the local police will be here shortly and will inform you of how things will proceed from here. I understand that there was another member of your party, a driver from the Royal Limousine Service. Would any of you be able to provide his name and possibly his whereabouts?”

Betty raised her hand, “His name is Jack McGraw and he has a room here. The front desk could give you the room number. He is likely getting dinner or gambling in the casino.”

Security Officer Wardell referred to his notebook and looking at Agnes said, “are you the Agnes Summerville that reported to the desk that her suitcase had a stain on it?”

“Well of course I am,” said Agnes who by now was a complete wreck.

“Thank you. Ma’am, if you could please go with this security officer, the police will want to take a look at that suitcase for examination.”

“Who? Me?” cried Agnes, becoming more and more agitated. “Whatever for, I don’t know anything about the stain?”

“Could I please go with Agnes,” jumps up Katherine. “She needs moral support from a true friend right now.” Grudgingly, the officer agrees.

“In the meantime, the rest of you, please continue with your meal. The detectives will be arriving to take statements from all of you.”

The officer, Agnes, and Katherine get to the room where Agnes points out her suitcase. Katherine’s eyes wander around and she spies a piece of paper poking out of a pocket of Autumn’s suitcase. She carefully removes it, reads it, and turns to the officer. “This was sticking out of Autumn’s bag, officer. Do you think it might be important? It’s Jack McGraw’s business card.” Quickly the officer puts the paper in an evidence bag saying, “I’ll take that. Let us go back downstairs, ladies.”

It appeared that few were interested in eating as speculation was rampant as to the who and why of this horrifying situation. Fernando looks around, saying, “that’s strange. I wonder where Stanley is? He was here a few minutes ago.”

“This is certainly a tragic and unexpected turn of events. How has Marian managed to deal with three secrets in her past; a stepbrother, a high school affair, and a baby? What do you think is going to happen now? You will need to wait until the next installment next month.”

What can mobile-home owners do to stay safe during a tornado?

Get out. So-called manufactured homes—dwellings built in factories and transported to their final destination—lack the structural support to keep residents safe during a tornado. In a well-built standard home, a basement or interior hallway can offer some protection during a catastrophic weather event. But the lightness that makes mobile homes easily transportable also means they aren’t sturdy enough to stand up to a tornado’s winds. As many as half of all tornado-related fatalities occur in mobile homes.

If you must be in a mobile home during a tornado, it’s best to stay in one that’s not so mobile. The safest manufactured home is one that’s anchored to a concrete foundation like a standard home. The next best thing to concrete is a semipermanent anchoring system that uses rods or chains to attach your trailer to beams that are driven into the ground. Anchoring can be difficult if the ground is hard and rocky, and if the soil is too soft then a powerful tornado could still rip your home from the earth. Even with anchoring, a mobile home can be damaged in a “weak” tornado (one with maximum wind speeds of 112 mph) that probably wouldn’t damage a standard house.

TELL ME THIS WON’T HAPPEN TO US!

An elderly Floridian called 911 on her cell phone to report that her car had been broken into. She is hysterical as she explains her situation to the dispatcher. “They’ve stolen the stereo, the steering wheel, the brake pedal and even the accelerator!” she cried. The dispatcher said, “Stay calm...An officer is on the way.” A few minutes later, the officer radios in “Disregard” he says. “She got in the back seat by mistake.”

FLORIDA ANCHOR AND BARRIER COMPANY

To our valued customers:

During the current times we wanted to let you know that we are taking as many precautions as we can to ensure not only our workers safety but yours as well. We check workers' temperatures each morning and have limited the amount of contact our crews have with each other. Our crews work in Tyvek suits with respirators which helps to ensure your safety as well as theirs.

As a company, we want your business and there is no need for any contact if you so choose. Our business is deemed an "Essential Business" and we are here for you when you need us. You can schedule your inspection by calling 1-800-681-3772.

Wishing you good health and safety,
The Florida Anchor & Barrier Team
