HOA President's UPDATES

Jerry Zielinski, HOA President, 727-225-3657

Facebook page: Serendipity Homeowners Association

On the last Tuesday of May we celebrated "Memorial" Day." There was a Memorial Service at the monument located at the front Clubhouse. It was a time to remember those who lost their lives while serving Our Great Nation. Memorial Day is the unofficial start of Summer.

On a different note, there was an incident on Prince Oak on the 3rd of June. Someone smashed into the bench located at Lotus. I sit outside a lot and have noticed that there are several residents who while walking, take a small break and sit on the bench. This happens during the daytime as well as the nighttime. Luckily there were no residents sitting on the bench when this happened. (God must have been watching over them). It's not known if it was a resident or visitor who crashed into & destroyed the bench. I guess that person did not want to accept responsibility for their actions. I don't know for sure if the bench will be replaced or not. For those who used the bench to rest, I'm sorry.

There are many of us that have grandchildren and great-grandchildren who visit us. This is something that we look forward to...Seeing Our Loved Ones.

I don't know why what I am going to say happens in our park. There are CHILDREN driving Golf Carts in the Park. There are a couple reasons why they should NOT be driving these carts. It is AGAINST the Law for Children to be operating Golf Carts unless they have a Driver's License.

Adults have been with the children while they operate the Golf Carts. It's FUN for the Children to operate them. There is NO Fun in seeing a child being injured while operating them. Golf Carts are Not Toys. Here is the sad part of this issue. When adults have been approached about this they smile and basically ignore it. They sit next to the children while they are operating the Carts and think this ok.

I Pray that the children doing this are NEVER injured or injure anyone else. Residents... Think about this.

Let's have a safe and wonderful summer! Stay Healthy and Happy! - Jerry Z.

Neighborhood Watch

Marty Ott, 727-787-3272

Hi Serendipity Residents!

My name is Marty Ott and I live at #340 on India. I have been appointed the Neighborhood Watch Liaison for Serendipity MHP by the HOA and Pinellas County Sheriff's Department. My responsibility in this position is to take calls from the residents of Serendipity and give weekly feedback to the park manager and the PCSO Neighborhood Watch Commander, Deputy Chuck Skipper.

June 2022 Notes from the Neighborhood Watch Coordinator:

Things have been quiet in Serendipity. I've received 3 phone calls from residents, investigated their issues and sent a report to Deputy Skipper. I will follow up with those residents involved over the next several weeks. I believe we live in a very safe neighborhood since I've received so few calls.

Just a reminder if you see something dangerous or feel threatened, call 911. If it is just to report something suspicious, call the Sheriff's non-emergency number at (727) 582-6200. Then call me the next morning at (727) 787-3272 and I will note it in the daily log so that we can categorize the types of problems we are having, and the Sheriff can assign manpower to our park at times and places necessary.

Serendipity residents should ONLY call me during regular business hours which are 8:00AM - 5:00PM.

REMEMBER...IF YOU SEE SOMETHING, SAY SOMETHING

Pat Lucksinger, Dawn Roberts

Day 1
Early morning will depart directly from your community and begin the relaxing and scenic drive through the heart of Florida. From the vantage point of our comfortable tour bus you will be able to take in the rural beauty of our fine state as we pass by many quaint historic towns. For your convenience we will be making regular comfort stops.

Mid way through our journey we will stop for lunch at a suitable restaurant (lunch on own). In the afternoon we will stop for a photo opportunity at Battleship Park. The Hero Of The Pacific USS Alabama, rests here on Mobile Bay. Depending upon our time schedule you will either have dinner en route to the hotel or after we arrive.

Day 2

After breakfast you will board the tour bus for a short drive to New Orleans one of America's oldest cities. Upon arrival you will meet your step on guide who will take you on a tour of this colorful city. The guided tour will end in the heart of the French Quarter marketplace. After you have soaked up the scenery, history and its fascinating tales then it's time to get the good times rolling down Bourbon Street which is located right in the French Quarter and thanks to the annual Mardi Gras has quite a party reputation. You will have time to stroll down Bourbon Street, shop at one of the numerous unique stores, enjoy a relaxing meal in one of the many wonderful restaurants specializing in French Creole cuisine or have coffee and beignets at one of the numerous cafe's. The tour bus will meet you in the afternoon and take you back to the hotel so you may freshen up before returning to the city early evening.

Day 3

After enjoying breakfast you will set off for a whole day of exploring and discovery. You will enjoy a brief ferry ride across the Algiers so you may enjoy the city from this beautiful aspect. This is a free day to spend in the city as you wish. Your tour bus will be available mid

You will find restaurants offering great local cuisine, historic neighborhoods rich in architecture, a French Quarter buzzing with excitement, and of course Jazz!

Things That Make You Go...HmMMMMM?

submitted by Neil Thomas, resident

Stagflation is when the nation's gross domestic product (GDP) is declining while there is high inflation (above 2%). You may hear more of this term stagflation in the coming midterm election campaigns. Some economic experts are predicting stagflation. The country has not seen stagflation since the 1970's to 1980. By the summer of 1980 the unemployment was at 7.8% while inflation was 12.3%. Now, oil and gas prices have hit record prices. Cost of goods and services are increasing on most items. Searching cyber space for the term "stagflation" have spiked! The Federal Reserve will fight inflation by raising interest rates which usually results in a decline in the economy. If the GDP declines two consecutive fiscal quarters, it is called a recession. Both Harry Truman and Ronald Reagan have used this quote: "A recession is when your neighbor loses his job. A depression is when you lose your job."

Youtube is streaming numerous podcasts about our current economy particularly stagflation.

“Marilyn’s Recipe Corner” by Marilyn Farnworth

From the kitchen of Joanna Cismaru, www.JoCooks.com (6/15/2022)

SEX IN A PAN

Prep: 45 mins Cook: 20 mins Serves: 12

INGREDIENTS:

For Crust:

- 1 cup pecans chopped
- 3 tablespoon granulated sugar
- ½ cup unsalted butter melted
- 1 cup all-purpose flour

For Cream cheese layer:

- 8-ounce cream cheese
- 1 cup powdered sugar or confectioner's sugar, use 1/2 cup for less sweetness
- 1 cup cool whip or whipped cream

For Vanilla Pudding:

- 5.1-ounce instant vanilla pudding
- 2 cups milk

For Chocolate Pudding:

- 5.1-ounce instant chocolate pudding
- 2 cups milk

For Toppings:

- 2 cups cool whip or whipped cream
- shaved chocolate optional

DIRECTIONS:

Preheat oven to 350 F degrees.

Spray a 9×13-inch baking dish with cooking spray.

In a mixer mix all the crust ingredients together. Press the mixture into the prepared baking dish.

Bake it for about 20 minutes.

Prepare the vanilla pudding as per the instructions on the package. I used 2 cups of milk instead of the 3 cups on the package instructions to get a firmer pudding.

Prepare the chocolate pudding as per the instructions on the package. I used 2 cups of milk instead of the 3 cups on the package instructions to get a firmer pudding.

In a mixer add the cream cheese, powdered sugar, and the cup of whipped cream. Mix until light and fluffy.

Let the crust cool. Spread the cream cheese mixture over the crust evenly. Spread the vanilla pudding over the cream cheese layer, then the chocolate pudding. Spread the whipped cream as the last layer then top with shaved chocolate if preferred.

Refrigerate for a couple hours until it sets before serving.

Shuffleboard/Fun League

Chuck Bellinger (727-729-5039), George Wagner (716-604-6370)

WATCH THE BULLETIN BOARDS AND THE MONTHLY MEDIA FOR MORE INFO

A note to all that may be interested in Shuffleboard. The last official shuffle gathering in Serendipity was Mar. 2019. Covid ended shuffling for two years. At that time, we had a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and four team captains. We played on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 3 pm. We had about 40 to 50 people playing 10 to a team. Over these Covid years we have lost many of the past participants, but we can get a shuffle group going if there is enough interest. The only people left as officers are Jan Barrett, Vice President, Jim Lewendowski, treasurer, and me.

To get back to what we were before we would need officers and captains. Serendipity has a long history of shuffling. As late as 2017 we had two traveling teams and a fun league. There were 16 people each on the A and B traveling teams and normally 50 to 60 people in the fun league. I am not suggesting we get back to traveling teams but a fun league within the park is possible if there is interest. But we would need people to pitch in and help get this going again. We will put a signup sheet at both club houses that will be there all summer. If interested, please sign up and mention if you are interested in being a captain or if you're interested in being an officer. None of the present officers are here in the summer. We really should elect new officers also if we get something going. Normally the fun league does not start until January.

Try it you will like it! Chuck Bellinger, President

The First and Last Camp

Dachau, a town founded in the 9th century with a population of about 47,000, is located approximately 12 miles northwest of Munich, Germany. Like many European towns the architecture reflects its rich historical past. However, its rich historical past has been tainted for its proximity to the infamous WWII concentration camp that bears its name, Dachau. The first in a series of camps that would include the names of some more notable camps, such as Auschwitz, Bełżec, Bergen-Belsen, Buchenwald, Ravensbrueck, Chełmno, and Treblinka.

Many Germans felt that the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, were responsible for the horrendous conditions of their society. The unrelenting propaganda by the German government, during World War I, kept citizens in the dark. They were oblivious about the crumbling German lines on the Western front. They felt betrayed by the military, their elite, and others for surrendering, that resentment and need to assign blame helped build the Nazi Party, the National Socialist Workers Party. The racist and anti-Semitic beliefs of the party fueled violent attacks against Jews upon seizing power in 1933. The violence and economic pressure towards Jews, and others deemed undesirable, was used to encourage emigration to other countries.

Dachau concentration camp opened on March 22, 1933. It was the first detention or concentration camp initially for high-level political prisoners; Communists, Social Democrats, trade unionists, and other political opponents. Over time Jehovah's Witnesses, Gypsies, homosexuals, anti-socials, repeat criminal offenders, intellectuals, and the handicapped were also added to the ever-growing list of undesirables. Dachau, a labor camp, used prisoners in various construction projects to build roads, drain marshes, and work in small handicraft industries established within the camp. However, a speech given by Johann-Erasmus Freiherr von Malsen-Ponickau on May 11, 1933, to men of the SS that had just arrived at Dachau, left no doubt about the purpose of the camp.

“Comrades of the SS!

You all know what the Fuehrer has called us to do. We have not come here for human encounters with those pigs in there. We do not consider them human beings, as we are, but as second-class people. For years they have been able to continue their criminal existence. But now we are in power. If those pigs had come to power, they would have cut off all our heads. Therefore, we have no room for sentimentalism. If anyone here cannot bear to see the blood of comrades, he does not belong and had better leave. The more of these pig dogs we strike down, the fewer we need to feed.”

In 1935 the passage of the Nuremberg Laws made it possible to add race and the racially impure to the list. The camp became a training center for SS concentration camp guards, and its organization and routine became the model for all SS concentration camps. An edict, issued by Hitler, stated that Dachau and all other concentration camps would not be subject to German law, and that the administrators could hand out punishment as they saw fit. During the first year it held about 4,800 prisoners.

In early 1937, the SS, decided to expand the camp. Using the prisoners as the workforce, they started with the destruction of the old munitions factory. Completed in August 1938, the camp was now divided into two sections: the camp area capable of holding 6,000, and the crematoria area. The camp area had 32 barracks with two set aside for imprisoned clergy and the other for medical experiments. Summary execution of prisoners took place in the courtyard between the prison and the central kitchen. The camp was surrounded by an electrified barbed-wire fence, a ditch, and a wall with seven guard towers. (Note: There is no evidence that the gas chamber at Dachau was used for extermination purposes. Those not selected for labor or medical experimentation were sent to the Hartheim "euthanasia" killing center near Linz, Austria.) The incinerators were used to dispose of individuals who died of exposure, exhaustion, experimentation, malnutrition, or liquidation by other means. Many communities in Germany had people taken away to Dachau and its sub-camps. You risked being silenced, ostracized, or possibly disappearing for even expressing a different or opposing opinion. Many served in government, the military, or in civil positions, that supposedly enabled them to engage in subversive activities against the government. The government would not tolerate any kind of criticism or verbal decent. Newspapers continually reported “the removal of enemies of the Reich to concentration camps.” A jingle started around 1935: "Lieber Herr Gott, mach mich stumm, Das ich nicht nach Dachau komm" ("Dear God, make me dumb [silent], That I may not to Dachau come.").

Nazi security services closely monitored the clergy to counter their strength and spiritual influence on society. Priests were often denounced, arrested, and sent to concentration camps, simply for being "suspected of activities hostile to the State" or that there was reason to "suppose that his dealings might harm society". The majority of recorded clergy during the war at Dachau, 2579 of 2720 clergy, were Catholic priests.

On April 29, 1944, Allied British and American forces approached Dachau making it the third camp to be liberated by western allied forces. Most of them had only heard of the existence of these camps. The soldiers, and generals, were totally unprepared for what they would encounter. Outside the camp, a foul, putrid, sickening smell beckoned the curious to the more than 30 railroad cars, brought to Dachau, filled with dead bodies in various stages of decomposition. The sight left many soldiers physically sick and emotionally shocked, but it was only a taste of what awaited them inside the camp. The phrase "Arbeit macht frei" appeared on the sign above the entrance gate, contextual English translation: "Work shall set you free".

Upon entering the camp, they found piles of naked corpses, "stacked like cordwood," their skin stretched tight across extremely malnourished bodies. Prisoners still alive were walking skeletons, barely able to stand or walk, others unable to stand, all malnourished. Some would die days later after eating food given to them by sympathetic soldiers, their bodies unable to digest the food. Word about the mass graves, the ovens, and grotesque conditions found inside the camp spread swiftly through the allied army, and many soldiers and officers visited the camp in disbelief, to bear witness. Dachau gave a new meaning to the war for many soldiers. They weren't just fighting an enemy; they were fighting evil itself.

In the years following the war Dachau held SS soldiers awaiting trial. After 1948, it held ethnic Germans expelled from Eastern Europe that were awaiting resettlement, and also used for a time as a United States military base during the occupation. It was finally closed in 1960, bringing an end to what was Germany's first and longest operational concentration camp. It is unlikely that the total number of victims who died in Dachau will ever be known, estimates vary up to approximately 200,000 detainees and 41,500 deaths.

Germany elevated the process of eliminating those deemed deplorable or undesirable to new heights, with estimates up to 8,000,000 people exterminated. Occasionally a story may appear in the paper or on the news about an old person being deported from a country to stand trial for their participation in those events about 75 years ago. The irony is that as repulsive as these events were to the world. Similar attempts, by governments or groups, to eradicate or forcibly change others has taken place since WWII, even today people suffer such degradation. Will the world ever have the fortitude to stop or prevent such atrocious behavior?

"For evil to flourish, it only requires good men to do nothing."
