Social Club President's Letter

Sandy Rasmussen

It is nice to be back in the swing of things, so much still happening this summer and it will only get busier. This is the first summer that Mark and I have both been out of the park, beginning our venture of being snowbirds. I know everyone has had to practice patience with all the changes happening in our community this summer and I'm sure that will continue over the next few years. Look for flyers for more information, Please join us on Saturday mornings at Koffee Klatch. Come and hear about all the great events and activities we have planned. Also check on bswresidents facebook page. The computer in the library is available to you. The pop-up kitchen is a huge success, pre-orders have been going over big. We have an Arts and Crafts fair in October, Welcome Wednesday - the last Wednesday of the month, along with a Halloween dance/party. Bingo is every Thursday evening Beginning promptly at 7 pm. ROMEO group is looking for new leadership!

After 17 years of leading the ROMEO, (Retired Old Men Eat Out), group, I have decided that the time has come to pass on the leadership to a younger man. Coordinating the monthly luncheons is not really very difficult and is a wonderful opportunity to socialize with your friends and neighbors and visit many of the area's fine restaurants. The monthly luncheons were discontinued during the covid pandemic period, but we hope to restart them on the 3rd Thursday of November 2022. Please contact me at 727-538-2604. Thank you, Joe Walker

Just for fun!

Halloween is a celebration observed in many countries on 31 October, the eve of the Western Christian feast of All Hallows' Day. It begins the observance of Allhallowtide, the time in the liturgical year dedicated to remembering the dead, including saints (hallows), martyrs, and all the faithful departed. One theory holds that many Halloween traditions may have been influenced by ancient Celtic harvest festivals, particularly the Gaelic festival Samhain, which may have had pagan roots – some scholars hold that Samhain may have been Christianized as All Hallows' Day, along with its eve, by the early Church. Other academics believe, however, that Halloween began solely as a Christian holiday, being the vigil of All Hallows' Day.

October 1 is World Vegetarian Day – these days, you can find a plant-based version of most popular dishes, from classic shepherd's pies to stacked burgers and cozy casseroles. In the spirit of World Vegetarian Day, try some vegetarian recipes—you won't even miss the meat.

October 4 is Cinnamon Roll Day – ooey, gooey, and best served warm with fresh coffee, cinnamon rolls are a perfect breakfast for chilly fall weekends. For Cinnamon Roll Day, try making your own rolls from scratch. If you really want to take your cinnamon rolls to the next level, layer pieces of lightly baked bacon into the strips of dough before baking.

October 6 is Garlic Lovers Day – any garlic-lover will tell you this: When it comes to adding fresh garlic to food, don't let a recipe tell you how much to add; let your heart tell you. Then, maybe just double up on the mouthwash after dinner. For Garlic Lovers Day, make your favorite garlic-centric dish. To keep it simple, try roasting a bulb of garlic with olive oil and spreading the soft garlic over crusty bread.

October 7 is National Frappe Day – for the days when you're sick of plain old coffee, there's always a delicious frappe. This iced coffee drink with milk and sugar originated in Greece when a businessman couldn't find hot water to make his instant coffee. He used cold water and ice instead, and the frappe was born. Today, there are many different flavor combinations, so pick your favorite to celebrate National Frappe Day.

October 9 is International Beer and Pizza Day – today's the day to dig into your favorite pizza, and then wash it down with an ice-cold beer. Looking for the perfect pairing? Opt for a crisp, hoppy brew to sip with your 'za. The bitterness of the beer will cut the richness of the pizza, leaving you with a perfectly balanced palate.

October 11 is Southern Food Heritage Day – there's a dish for everyone's tastes on Southern Food Heritage Day. Try some simple recipes, such as shrimp gumbo, Carolina rice with ham, or homemade biscuits with gravy. Not only do these dishes showcase the delicious flavors of the South, but they're packed with history, too, so be sure to look up the history of the dish you decide to make.

October 12 is National Gumbo Day – gumbo, the state food of Louisiana, is the definition of Southern comfort food. With ingredients such as fresh shellfish or meat, strong stock, and the "holy trinity" (bell peppers, onions, and celery), homemade gumbo is packed with flavor. Add your favorite hot sauce or Cajun seasoning for an extra kick to celebrate National Gumbo Day.

October 14 is National Dessert Day – if you've been looking for an excuse to bake a pie or whip up a banana split, National Dessert Day is the perfect day to do it. Indulge in your favorite delicious dessert today, or try a new recipe. You can't go wrong when it comes to dessert.

October 16 is National Liqueur Day – grab your cocktail glass and raise your pinkies—it's time to toast to National Liqueur Day. Sipped straight or mixed into a cocktail, liqueurs can add richness, sweetness, and warmth to nearly any happy hour. Mix up your favorite drink or try something new to celebrate the day.

October 17 is National Pasta Day – pasta is delicious hot or cold. It works in elaborate dishes with sauces, meats, cheeses, and veggies. And it tastes great on its own with just a little butter. Celebrate everyone's favorite carbohydrate today with a plate of spaghetti and meatballs, macaroni and cheese, homemade pasta salad, or another favorite pasta dish.

October 18 is National Chocolate Cupcake Day – There's something about a chocolate cupcake that feels decadent, even though it's a handheld cake. Whip up a batch of chocolate cupcakes to celebrate this dessert-themed holiday. You can layer on the chocolate flavor with some chocolate frosting. Or go with another classic combination, such as buttercream or peanut butter frosting.

October 21 is International Day of the Nacho – sometimes nachos are topped with black beans, and sometimes they're topped with beef. Sometimes they're drowning in queso, and other times they're packed with jalapeños. But when it comes to nachos, one thing is for certain: They're always delicious. So for International Day of the Nacho, whip up your favorite nacho recipe to celebrate.

October 22 is Eat a Pretzel Day – soft, crunchy, twisted, or straight, pretzels have been a celebrated snack food for centuries. The origin stories for the pretzel are a bit murky, but the creation finally made its way to North America sometime in the late 18th century. It's come a long way with various seasonings, glazes, and other toppings. Learn to make your own simple soft pretzel today for Eat a Pretzel Day.

October 26 is National Pumpkin Day – with Halloween only five days away, it's pumpkin time. The uses for the season's favorite gourd are extensive. Create an amazing carved pumpkin for your doorstep, make tasty pumpkin seeds with your favorite seasonings, or blend pumpkin flesh into baked goods for seasonal flavor.

October 27 is American Beer Day – there's more to American beers than the bitter, flavorless brews bartenders sling by the thousands. In fact, the American craft beer movement has ushered in a golden age of beer. For American Beer Day, check out your local brewery for some new-to-you beers or try your hand at making your own beer at home.

October 29 is National Cat Day – if you're a kitty parent, you know cats have many characteristics to love and celebrate. They're absolutely adorable, cuddly (sometimes), and amusingly judgmental. Today, give your kitty a little extra love by extending playtime, treating it to a fun new toy, or offering a bit of catnip.
