Happy Holidays!

SOCIAL CLUB

submitted by Pat Jones

The first of the season meeting was held on November 5th after the Coffee Several events were discussed and were agreed on. The first is a HOLIDAY WELCOME party to be held on December 3rd beginning a 7pm.

This party will include a basket raffle and a share the wealth raffle. A request will be made for individuals or clubs to donate a basket or gift type item to the raffle.

We will hold another HAPPY HOUR on Friday December 16th at 5pm. We are looking for 4 to 5 of our many resident chefs to prepare an appetizer.

On Sunday December 11th there will be a COOKIE EXCHANGE held in the clubhouse at 2pm. There are guidelines available in the club house. There will be a sign up page in the purple book in the clubhouse. Get together with your friends and choose a table hostess. The responsibility is to keep everyone at the table from making the same cookie. There will be tables to join if you want to participate and your friends don't. It is suggested that each table member bring a dozen cookies for each of the others at the table and also a dozen for the main share table. If possible a copy of the recipe should be brought so others can try making it at home. Rather than a leaflet the recipes will be put in the monthly media magazine.

There will be "something" going on in the clubhouse on New Years Day. No final decisions on what that will be were made. If you have a suggestion please pass it on to a board member.

Finally we will begin plans for a NFL Championship Party. If you would like to help organize this party please see a board member.

POTLUCK

Potluck dinners are held on the 2nd and 4th Thursday's of the month at 6pm in the clubhouse. When attending please be sure to bring your table setting. You also need to bring a side to share. You don't have to make enough to serve everyone as there is always plenty to eat. Please bring your side dish ready to serve. Do not plan on using the stove or the microwave as the host/hostess will probably be using them.

If you are unsure what to bring there is a sheet of suggested items in the purple book. The hosts may also list suggested items on the sign up page. You also need to sign up that you are attending by the Tuesday preceding the dinner, this is so there is enough entree for all. If you sign up, please show up so we are not wasting food. Perhaps you would like to be the host/hostess? There is a sign up sheet on the social club bulletin board with the dates of this season's potlucks. Money for the entree is provided by ELS. If you have any questions please see Pat at 1009.

Throw the holiday party for your style and budget

Kraftfoods.com offers these tips for throwing a holiday party that will meet your needs and make your guests happy. You have to think about the kind of party that will make you feel good.

- You'll probably want to go buffet style if you want something that's casual or you don't have a lot of seating. People will walk around and mingle and have fun.
- Go for a sit-down dinner if something a bit more formal suits your style. If you enjoy dinner conversation and you have enough seating for everyone who will be in attendance, then this is a good choice for you.

After you decide what kind of party you're going to have, make a list of everything you will need. Then cross off everything that you already have and estimate the cost for each item you need. Add a few dollars for the inevitable extras that will pop up. If the estimated cost is over your budget for the party, then you can start eliminating things on your list until you get the figure you need.

A few facts about mistletoe

According to AllThingsChristmas.com, mistletoe has been revered since 200 years before the birth of Christ. Druid priests used it as part of their winter celebrations. The plant, which stays green all year even though it has no roots, was thought to be magical.

The Howstuffworks Web site says that Mistletoe is a parasitic plant. It lives in trees, and one mistletoe plant can grow on top of the other.

There are several stories that link mistletoe to the ritual of kissing under it. One is the myth of Frigga, the Viking goddess of love. Frigga's son was killed by his blind brother (who was actually tricked into shooting a dart of poison from the mistletoe into his brother.) Frigga was so stricken with grief that she cried and when her tears fell on a mistletoe plant the berries were turned from red to white (there are both red and white mistletoe berries) and this brought her son back from the dead. From then on Frigga kissed everyone who walked beneath the mistletoe because she was so grateful to have her son back.

Christmas

Christmas at my house is always at least six or seven times more pleasant than anywhere else. We start drinking early. And while everyone else is seeing only one Santa Claus, we'll be seeing six or seven.

You give but little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of yourself that you truly give.

— Kahlil Gibran

All you have shall some day be given; therefore give now, that the season of giving may be yours and not your inheritors.

— Kahlil Gibran

Christmas Day

I sometimes think we expect too much of Christmas Day. We try to crowd into it the long arrears of kindness and humanity of the whole year. As for me, I like to take my Christmas a little at a time, all through the year. And thus I drift along into the holidays—let them overtake me unexpectedly—waking up some fine morning and suddenly saying to myself: “Why this is Christmas Day!”

— Ray Stannard Baker, pseud. David Grayson

“Maybe Christmas,” he thought, “doesn’t come from a store. Maybe Christmas... perhaps... means a little bit more.”

— Dr. Seuss, from How The Grinch Stole Christmas

Simple things

When we recall Christmas past, we usually find that the simplest things—not the great occasions—give off the greatest glow of happiness.

— Bob Hope

Compulsory holiday

A lovely thing about Christmas is that it’s compulsory, like a thunder-storm, and we all go through it together.

— Garrison Keillor
