We look forward to seeing you there!

SAFETY AND SECURITY:

Be wary of online quizzes. The Federal Trade Commission is warning people of online quizzers that may seem innocent and fun, but most likely are tricking you into sharing information. For example, when you are asked for things like the mother’s maiden name, your favorite hobby, even the high school you attended, these are commonly used for online account security.

The ATC says Scammers...use your answers in an attempt to reset your accounts, letting them steal your account information. Scammers hack social media accounts and send malware links to friends of the hacked account holder under the appearance of sharing a quiz.

The agency suggests staying away from these online quizzes. Or if you take them, don’t provide the truth in your responses. If you think an online quiz is a scam, you can report it at <http://ReportFraud.ftc.gov>

EARTH DAY - April 22, 2023:

“This is a day for all of us to remember the environment in our busy lives. A day that reminds us to continue to do the little things that help our environment. Things like turning off the lights, the conservation of energy, plant trees, recycle, reduce, and reuse.”

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

A little Zen ... thoughts for people who take life too seriously

- He who laughs last thinks slowest.
- Remember, half the people you know are below average.
- Save the whales. Collect the whole set.
- A day without sunshine is like, night.
- On the other hand, you have different fingers.
- 42.7 percent of all statistics are made up on the spot.
- Ninety-nine percent of lawyers give the rest a bad name.
- Clones are people two.
- I feel like I'm diagonally parked in a parallel universe.
- Honk if you love peace and quiet.
- Depression is merely anger without enthusiasm.
- The early bird may get the worm, but the second mouse gets the cheese.
- I drive way too fast to worry about cholesterol.
- Support bacteria. They're the only culture some people have.
- Monday is an awful way to spend 1/7 of your week.
- A clear conscience is usually the sign of a bad memory.
- Change is inevitable, except from vending machines.
- Get a new car for your spouse. It'll be a great trade!
- Plan to be spontaneous tomorrow.
- Always try to be modest, and be proud of it!
- If you think nobody cares, try missing a couple of payments.
- How many of you believe in telekinesis? Raise my hand ...
- OK, so what's the speed of dark?
- How do you tell when you're out of invisible ink?
- If everything seems to be going well, you have obviously overlooked something.
- When everything is coming your way, you're in the wrong lane.
- Hard work pays off in the future. Laziness pays off now.

How to plant a great herb garden

If you love having fresh herbs at your fingertips here are a few suggestions on setting up a herb garden you will use and love.

- Plant your herb garden as close to the kitchen as you can manage. Your herb garden can be grown in a series of containers if that helps you locate it where it will be most convenient. If you have to go to too much trouble to get to and pick the herbs, you won't use them as much.
- If you want to get the most pleasure you can from your herbs, plant them along walkways and where people will brush up against them. They won't release their fragrances until something brushes or bruises them.
- Make sure to place your marjoram, parsley and thyme along borders. These plants only grow a few inches high and they will get lost among taller plants.
- Dill, tarragon and coriander grow up to 2 feet high. If you have a walkaround garden, the center is the best place. If your garden is up against a wall or object then you will want to place these plants at the back of the garden.
- Grow bay leaves and rosemary in clay pots just beneath the soil of your garden. When the weather turns cold, just dig them up and take them inside. They will continue to grow and you can enjoy their fragrance and flavor year round.
- Remember some herbs spread (like mint, wild marjoram and tarragon). Each year they will take more and more room. To contain their growth, confine their roots by burying a section of stovepipe. The pipe will keep them from spreading.
- Cut your herbs just before they flower for optimum flavor. That's when their oils peak. If you're going to store your herbs, it's best to cut them midmorning on a sunny day.
- Store your herbs by freezing or drying or in oil or vinegar. You can use the oil and vinegar as seasonings when you cook.
- If you have refrigerator space, keep your dried herbs there, as they will keep better.

On truth

If truth is beauty, how come no one has their hair done in the library?

On batteries

I bought some batteries, but they weren't included.
