Why Not Look After Your Ears Too?

Hearing changes often do not result in an overall loss of volume. Some sounds remain as audible as they always were, yet others become harder to hear, and some conversations require more attentiveness. You might notice that words just don't sound clear.

If you suspect that your hearing may be changing, it's up to you to be alert to the signs and have your hearing tested by a qualified professional.

Bringing out the best in others — naturally

If you've ever had anyone appreciate you for your natural abilities, you'll appreciate the story of the flower seed principle.

Try to think of every person as a flower seed: He or she already has the disposition to become something amazing and beautiful. But each seed will become only a certain kind of flower.

In the workplace, you overhear a manager say—"I think that sunflower over there has some potential, and I think with a little training he could become a really great long-stemmed rose."

The truth is that a sunflower seed is only going to produce a sunflower—and how beautiful the flower becomes often depends on how it is nurtured.

But in the workplace what often happens is someone in charge brings in some information to try and teach the sunflower how to try and become a long stemmed rose. The sunflower is encouraged to have lunch with and network with the roses, in the hope that one day, he too can become one of them. Before the sunflower goes to bed each night, his boss tells him to say over and over to himself, "I am a beautiful long stemmed rose."

And so do you know what the sunflower becomes.

He does not become a rose—certainly not. No. He becomes the world's most insecure sunflower. Because no one has ever noticed his own innate beauty and the gifts he has for the world. Because for a long time everyone has been telling him it's not OK for him to be who he is.

The best thing anyone can do for someone else is to try and find out what that person's nature is. And then once you find out what that person's nature is you ask yourself, "What can I do to cultivate the person's natural talents and abilities?"

A true leader would say: "Here's a seminar on how a bunch of beautiful sunflowers got together and did something wonderful. Here's a place where you can go and network with other sunflowers."

That is how you help someone tap their true potential, which is what good leaders do. First you find out what kind of seed the people already have inside and then you help them grow into what they were naturally meant to be.

The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. # Why people are afraid of Friday the 13th

Every year has one to three Friday the 13ths. Friday, May 13, 2005, is the only Friday the 13th this year. Fear of the number 13 is known as triskaidekaphobia.

It's estimated that about 17 million to 21 million people in the United States are afflicted with a fear of Friday the 13th. Not only that, but it's estimated that somewhere between $800 million and $900 million is lost on any given Friday the 13th, because people are afraid to fly and do business like they do normally, according to Donald Dossey, founder of the Stress Management Center and Phobia Institute in Asheville, N.C. People who are afraid of Friday the 13th are possibly people who consider themselves to be unlucky in the first place, and they are probably superstitious, says Richard Wiseman, a psychologist at the University of Hertfordshire in Hatfield, England. In a survey of 2,068 people, Wiseman found that one-quarter of respondents believed that the number 13 was bad luck. He also found that the people who believed in this bad luck tend to be more anxious on Friday the 13th, and so it may be their own expectations and anxiety that bring on the "bad luck."

Here are a few facts about the history of the idea that the number 13 is unlucky:

- There was a Norse myth about 12 gods in heaven having a dinner party. A 13th guest walked in, the god Loki, and shot the god of joy, Balder. When Balder died the whole world became dark.
- Judas, who betrayed Jesus, was the 13th guest at The Last Supper.
- Witches in ancient Rome supposedly gathered in groups of 12. The 13th attendee was the devil.
- More than 80 percent of high rises lack a 13th floor.
- Most airports skip a 13th gate.
- Hotels and hospitals often do not have room number 13s.

As for the Friday part of the bad luck, it seems that this belief rose from the idea that Jesus was crucified on a Friday, that Eve tempted Adam on a Friday, and that Abel was slain by Cain on Friday.

Things not to say when you get pulled over

1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
2. Sorry, officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugged in.
3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me.
Good job!
5. Are you Andy or Barney?
6. I thought you had to be in relatively good physical condition to be a police officer.
7. You're not gonna check the trunk are you?
8. I pay your salary!
9. Gee, officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me a warning too!
10. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
11. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there are no other cars around. That's how far ahead of me they are.
12. When the officer says "Gee, son...your eyes look red, have you been drinking?" You probably shouldn't respond with, "Gee officer your eyes looked glazed, have you been eating doughnuts?" —from cybersalt.org

A leadership odyssey

The story of Homer's Odyssey is about a king named Odysseus. He and his men spent 10 years fighting the Trojan War, and they won.

Then they spent another 10 years trying to get home. Along the way, Odysseus and his men stop at an island to get provisions. They meet people who sit around all day and eat the sweet fruit of the lotus trees.

The fruit is so delicious these lotus eaters spend all their time eating it. They stop caring about anything else.

Odysseus' men try the fruit and soon they are addicted too. They have no interest in going home.

They forget all about their goal.

Odysseus wants to get back home and he gets his men to get on the ship and leave.

Odysseus kept his eye on his vision and purpose.

He never forgot his goal.

What to do when someone interrupts you

---

It is annoying when someone interrupts you while you're talking. Here are a few strategies for handling interrupters: Just hold up your index finger. You might be surprised at how effective this is. Merely say, "Wait a minute, I'm not done with what I'm saying..."

- Keep talking and interject, "What I was trying to say was..."
- The next time someone interrupts you, use it as an opportunity to do something rather than just get upset.
- Pause, then say, "I wasn't finished; hear me out." Or pause, then tell the person how it makes you feel when you are cut off—without attacking the person. Here are a few lines that might help:
- "Please let me finish..."
- "It's really hard for me to listen to you right now because you did not let me finish what I was saying."
- "When I'm talking to you and you interrupt me with something that has nothing to do with what I'm talking about, it makes me feel like you're not interested in what I'm saying."

—adapted from The Lost Art of Listening, by Michael P. Nichols

How to win someone over

---

If you want to win people over to your way of thinking, here are some guiding principles to help you:

- If you want to get the best out of an argument— avoid it.
- Always show respect for another person's opinions.
- When you're wrong—admit it.
- Be friendly.
- Find a way to get the person to agree with you on something right away — even if it's just a small point.
- Let the other person talk— a lot.
- Allow the other person to think the idea is hers.
- Try to see from the other person's perspective.
- Be truly sympathetic to what the other person is saying.
- Try to appeal to noble notions in the other person.
