PARADISE ISLAND UPDATE

Pat Walker, Association President

We have bid a fond farewell to our snowbird friends and neighbors and now have the park and all its amenities to ourselves. Whoopee!! All said in jest as we love our snowbirds. Now we no longer have to vie for space in Park 3's pool as the water temperature in our pool has warmed to a degree our bodies can tolerate.....well, your bodies at least, I'm not too sure about mine – is it up to 90 degrees yet?

The month of May saw the end our weekly bingo games; June through September bingo will be only once per month - on the third Thursday. We have really enjoyed the larger crowds of late (and you ladies know who we're referring to) who have increased the competition for both the games and the drawings. Just as players call out the one number needed for a win the room often erupts with groans as someone shouts "bingo" before their needed number is called. Hisses and cheers often follow - especially when someone wins for the third time in a row....and yes Beverly these verbal expressions are often directed at you – but it is all in good fun (I think). Of course nothing is lost on Lei and me, we know that y'all come mainly for the drawings, which also have vastly increased in number, so any bingo win is just icing on the cake. Speaking of cake, the half-time break has developed into a major sugar overload. Can hardly wait for September to arrive!

Kudos to Lei Crance and her team for coordinating and hosting the annual Kentucky Derby event. A record number of folks showed up, with several of the ladies sporting home-made derby hats....well, someone got theirs from Amazon, but I'm not saying who. Debbie Skovupsky designed, but did not wear, the winning hat. It got passed around the room and finally landed on the head of Rick Kastel's friend, Rosalyn, who sashayed around the room with this bed of roses atop her head like she owned the place – which she obviously did since she was the undisputed contest winner. Confession from one contest loser (me) -- it did look adorable on her. Things were going well until.....ever turn on your TV and get a blank screen? Welcome to our world. Rick Williamson finally discovered that the cable box was unplugged – and everyone knows that it takes forever to reboot. Tension in the room finally eased when the picture came on just as the horses were being led to their starting posts. Whew! Be still my heart! That was a very close call for sure. Wait - we endured all that for a two minute race!..... was it really worth it? I suppose it was IF you picked a winning horse. Congratulations to those who did, but for us losers – well, there's always the hope for better luck next year. All-in-all, a truly fun time as this event always is.

Thanks to those of you who attended the Memorial Day Remembrance and pot luck picnic event. It is always our privilege to honor those fallen warriors who made the ultimate sacrifice for freedom, for our nation, and for us individually. May they always be remembered, and may future generations never fail to acknowledge what a precious gift freedom is – a gift many were willing to die for.

There is no Association Meeting in June, and since we had the picnic pot luck in late May, there will be no June pot luck dinner. The Association does plan to have a social event during June – perhaps something casual like Hot Dog Night – so watch Facebook and your mail tubes for an announcement.

For those residents new to Lake Haven, if you are a Facebook member send a request to join our Lake Haven Happenings Facebook page. All that is required by the page administrator is your lot number. All three parks post events, notices and ELS management announcements on this page so it is a good source to keep updated on what’s “Happening” in Lake Haven.

We wish to express our appreciation to Park Manager Penny Riley-Garcia for conducting the first-ever Lake Haven Town Hall meeting. It was an opportunity to get to know her better and to have her respond to questions from the attendees. We are hopeful this will become a regular event.

I have noticed an amazing decrease in the number of unauthorized items being discarded in the dumpster area. Thanks for adhering to the disposal guidelines.

I would be remiss to not recognize what an outstanding job Orbie is doing as an addition to the park maintenance team. AND – a huge “Welcome Back” to Dean – you were greatly missed. I also heard that Lori Porter may not be transferred to Serendipity after all – fingers crossed!

Enjoy the lovely June weather – and Happy Father’s Day to all you dads out there.

TREASURE COVE HAPPENINGS- PARK 2

Hi everyone! Its June and summer is rapidly approaching. I hope that May was a wonderful month for you with its celebrations of Mother's Day and Memorial Day. It's getting pretty quiet around here as our snowbird friends have returned to their homes to escape the oppressive heat we have here in the summer. We wish them all safe travels and look forward to their safe return too Lake Haven in a few months.

Special observances this month include Flag Day on June 14th commemorates the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the official flag of the United States. I notice many proudly display our flag here in Lake Haven. We also celebrate Father's Day on June 18th. Thank you to our fathers that have contributed so much to our families. We honor all fathers and those that are like fathers to us in our lives. May you enjoy your special day. Lastly, we celebrate Juneteenth on June 19th when 250,000 enslaved black people in the state of Texas were free by executive decree.

As we know every year hurricane season also begins June 1- November 30. Please make sure you have all the necessary items just in case and always have a back up plan in case of evacuation. Let's pray its an uneventful season. Stay safe everyone and enjoy your summer!

What would you do?

You are one of two people on a malfunctioning airplane with only one parachute. How would you react?

- Pessimist: You refuse the parachute because you might die on the jump anyway.
- Optimist: You refuse the parachute because people have survived crashes just like this before.
- Procrastinator: You play a game of Monopoly for the parachute.
- Bureaucrat: You order them to conduct a feasibility study on parachute use in multi-engine aircraft under code red conditions.
- Lawyer: You charge one parachute for helping them sue the airline.
- Internal Revenue Service: you confiscate the parachute along with their luggage, wallet, and gold fillings.
- Advertiser: You strip-tease while singing that what they need is a neon parachute with computer altimeter for only $39.99.
- Engineer: You make them another parachute out of aisle curtains and dental floss.
- Scientist: You give them the parachute and ask them to send you a report on how well it worked.
- Mathematician: You refuse to accept the parachute without proof that it will work in all cases.
- Philosopher: You ask how they know the parachute actually exists.
- English major: You explicate simile and metaphor in the parachute instructions.
- Comparative Literature student: You read the parachute instructions in all four languages.
- Psychoanalyst: You ask them what the shape of a parachute reminds them of.
- Actor: You tie them down so they can watch you develop the character of a person stuck on a falling plane without a parachute.
- Artist: You hang the parachute on the wall and sign it.
- National Rifle Association member: You shoot them and take the parachute.
- Environmentalist: You refuse to use the parachute unless it is biodegradable.
- Auto Mechanic: As long as you are looking at the plane engine, it works fine.
- Tobacco Grower: You explain very patiently that despite a number of remarkable coincidences, studies have shown no link whatsoever between airplane crashes and death.

Need to clean — go green

If you feel like you're spending too much money on store-bought cleaners, maybe you should try making some of your own. Sound complicated? It's not. You can make homemade cleaners easily, and you won't have to worry about the toxins that are part of so many store-bought cleaning products.

Most homemade cleaners can be made from things that are readily available in households, or at least in your local grocery store. You might be impressed with the results of your cleansers. Here is a list of basic ingredients that will help get you started:

- Baking soda
- Vinegar
- Water
- Lemon juice
- Ammonia
- Salt
- Vegetable or olive oil
- Club soda
- Isopropyl alcohol
- Toothpaste
- Spray bottles

When you make your own cleansers, mix them in a well ventilated area. Label all containers and store them safely. Don't reuse old containers from other cleaners. And remember, never mix bleach and ammonia. Spot test your cleanser before you use it.

Club soda does a wonderful job of cleaning linoleum floors. And vinegar added to the rinse cycle works as a fabric softener. Toothpaste is a great chrome cleaner.

Here are a couple of recipes:

Glass Cleaner

- 1 gallon water
- 1/2 cup white vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon liquid dishwashing detergent

Furniture polish

- 1 cup vegetable or olive oil
- 1/2 cup lemon juice —adapted from “Homemade cleaners: How to make all-natural green cleaners,” by Sara Noel, on the Sideroad Web site

On failure

If at first you don't succeed, destroy all evidence that you tried.

How a little imagination changed the way we shop

A little story about imagination.

Before supermarkets existed as we know them, going to the grocery store used to be a totally different experience. In the old days, customers walked in and told a clerk what they wanted. Then the clerk set to the task of compiling the order for the customer.

Clarence Saunders made his living as a grocery store clerk in a small Southern town. He had never made more than $20 a week.

One day he stood in line at a cafeteria carrying a tray, waiting to select his food. Clarence Saunders had always seemed like an ordinary man — nothing in him so far had indicated that he had any unusual abilities.

But that day, as he stood in line, something happened. In his mind two ideas collided. His imagination took off and he took the “self-help” idea of the cafeteria and applied it to a grocery store — and thus was born the Piggly-Wiggly chain of grocery stores.

Clarence Saunders, the $20 a week clerk became a millionaire. And grocery shopping was forever changed. — adapted from The Law of Success in Sixteen Lessons, by Napoleon Hill

An unexpected conversation

A class of MBA students took a field trip away from their university. On the bus ride on the way back to the school after the trip, the driver pulled over at a rest stop. Most of the MBA candidates had been partying heavily the night before. One first year student, headed for the first stall in the restroom.

As soon as he entered the stall, the man in the next stall said, “Hi, there. How’s it going?”

The first-year student thought it was odd that the man in the next stall wanted to start a conversation, but he thought, “Who knows, this guy might be one of the facilitators at school, one who might be giving me a grade in the near future.”

He felt silly talking through the stall wall, but he answered, “Not bad.”

Then the man in the next stall said, “What are you doing?”

The intimidated student answered, “Well, we’re all headed back to school from the field trip, right?”

To which the man in the next stall said, “Look. I’ll have to call you back. Every time I say something, some genius in the next stall keeps answering me.

— adapted from the Chicago Business Online Web site

- A week after you buy your new computer, it's been declared obsolete and is being sold at half the price.
- Your excuse for not staying in touch with others is because you don't have their e-mail addresses. — adapted from the Business Café Online Web site

On poverty

Another good thing about being poor is that when you are 70 your children will not have declared you legally insane in order to gain control of your estate.

—Woody Allen

They say it is better to be poor and happy than rich and miserable, but how about a compromise like moderately rich and just moody?

—Princess Diana
