Social Committee Tidbits

Karen Parr

Greetings to all park residents!!

This message is being sent to you from Green Bay, WI and bouncing to all your home locations, or in the park for the year-round residents!! Hoping everyone is having an enjoyable summer! We had a hard time warming up in Green Bay, and some days I still need a jacket 🥶. Hard to believe for those who are having regular 90° temps. Stay cool!! So happy the park is continuing to have social activities. The end of May, they had an organized, sign-up activity. Thanks to Virginia Fuchtman for getting the wheels in motion. They had a sign-up sheet in the Clubhouse that around 20 people signed up to attend. Thanks to Janice Bender-Troyer for the details. Everyone had a great time, and the food was excellent at the Country Pizza Italian Grill on Hwy 19 in Largo. If any further social events get scheduled, please send me an email (klparr55@gmail.com) with details, and I will get the event posted in our monthly Newsletter for posting. Thanks very much and have a fun, safe, and memorable rest of the summer!

I am missing everyone. 🙌🙌

LOOKING BACK

Once again, Mary Gilmore has guessed correctly! The first picture is in front of #85, Dennis and Ingrid Eby with Dennis' parents, Gladys and Kendall! The second picture is Dennis and Ingrid and their three children, Dawn, Jason and Lisa!!

We're sad to say, but due to lack of response/interest, this will be the last LOOKING BACK. We do encourage you to share any stories, pictures, etc that all our Boca Ciega residents would enjoy!

Cruising the Danube

Darryl and Paula Paquette

We started our trip with a short flight from Ottawa to Toronto on May 24. After a short layover, we flew from Toronto to Zurich, Switzerland. From Zurich, we had a short flight to Prague, Czech Republic. At the baggage claim, we came to realize that we were missing one piece of luggage! Paula had placed an Apple Air tag in each suitcase, so we were able to see that the suitcase was still sitting in the Toronto Airport. Thankfully, we had packed half and half in each suitcase, plus a change of clothing in our carry ons!

We spent 3 wonderful days in Prague! What a beautiful city full of history and wonderful sights. We certainly enjoyed the Czech beer and wine, and one evening enjoyed a traditional Czech dinner of duck, with dumplings and sauerkraut! We had a lot of free time, and we sure did a lot of exploring. We quite enjoyed visiting The Dancing House and enjoying a lovely cocktail, while we took in the views on the observation deck! After a lovely afternoon at a wine tasting, we hopped on the transit and headed back to our hotel, only to find that our suitcase had arrived. It was just in time, as we were to start our cruise the next morning. It was so nice to see that once again, we had a greater choice of clothes to wear!

We left Prague and headed by bus, to Regensburg, Germany, where we would board the Emerald Sky! The next day we enjoyed a guided tour of Regensburg. Then we set sail down the Danube to Passau. We had a walking tour of the city which suffered a terrible flooding in 2013! Our next port was Melk, Austria, after sailing through the Wachau Gorge experiencing beautiful sights of castles and vineyards.

We joined a hiking group in Durnstein and hiked 45 minutes up a “donkey trail” to the ruins of Durnstein Castle! The view from the top was unbelievable and certainly worth the climb! Our reward that day was a traditional Austrian lunch of spaetzle, sausage, pretzels and of course an Austrian beer.

On to Krems, where we toured the 900-year-old Gotweig Abbey. Vienna was our next stop. While on a walking tour in Vienna, we watched a military parade only to find out that the Austrian President was about to arrive. He was to greet the Czech President who was coming for a meeting. We were only about 25 feet from the President. Even our guide was excited! That evening we attended a "private Viennese Concert, which we BOTH enjoyed!!

The next port was Bratislava, Slovakia. Another great guide took us on a tour of the city. A little later that day, we went on another wine tasting tour. We visited a private vineyard and then did some sampling at two venues.

Our final port was the beautiful city of Budapest, Hungary! How we wished we could have visited the city for another day or two. A guided tour through the city was lovely but we were sure it just showed a fraction of what Budapest has to offer. In the evening, after dinner, we enjoyed traditional Hungarian entertainment. Just when we were thinking our cruise was ending, the captain took us on an evening cruise to view the awesome sights of Budapest at night. The Hungarian Parliament buildings were spectacular!

We started our journey home the next day, and after being up for 24 hours, we arrived home at 11:30pm

The saying on the cruise ship when we left was: Don't Cry because it's over, Smile because it happened!

P.S. We're just adding a little note. After returning home we both ended up with Covid! We had to look at the positives and we used our isolation time getting this article written and the newsletter ready for another month!

Famous people who refused to be failures

We've all heard the stories of famous people who had rough or bumpy starts. Here's a few for the record:

- Lucille Ball: She began studying to be an actress in 1927 and was told by the head instructor of the John Murray Anderson Drama School, "Try any other profession. Any other."
- Clint Eastwood and Burt Reynolds: In 1959, a Universal Pictures executive dismissed them at the same meeting with the following statements. To Burt Reynolds: "You have no talent." To Clint Eastwood: "You have a chip on your tooth, your Adam's apple sticks out too far and you talk too slow."
- Marilyn Monroe (Norma Jean Baker): In 1944, Emmeline Snively, director of the Blue Book Modeling Agency, told modeling hopeful Norma Jean, "You'd better learn secretarial work or else get married."
- Elvis Presley: In 1954, Jimmy Denny, manager of the Grand Ole Opry, fired Elvis after one performance. He told Presley, "You ain't goin' nowhere son. You ought to go back to drivin' a truck."
- Alexander Graham Bell: When he invented the telephone in 1876, it did not ring off the hook with calls from potential backers. After making a demonstration call, President Rutherford Hayes said, "That's an amazing invention, but who would ever want to use one of them?"
- Thomas Edison: He was one of the greatest inventors in American history. When he first attended school in Port Huron, Mich., his teachers complained that he was "too slow" and hard to handle. As a result, Edison's mother decided to take her son out of school and teach him at home. In his lifetime, Edison produced more than 1,300 inventions.
- Franklin D. Roosevelt: Paralyzed by polio at 39, he went on to become one of America's most beloved and influential leaders. He was elected president of the United States four times.
- Julia Child: In 1953, she and her two collaborators signed a publishing contract to produce a book tentatively titled French Cooking for the American Kitchen. Julia and her colleagues worked on the book for five years. The publisher rejected the 850 - page manuscript. Child and her partners worked for another year totally revising the manuscript. Again the publisher rejected it. But Julia Child did not give up. She and her collaborators went back to work again, found a new publisher, and in 1961—eight years after beginning—they published Mastering the Art of French Cooking, which has sold more than 1 million copies.
- Douglas MacArthur: He might never have gained power and fame without persistence. When he applied for admission to West Point, he was turned down, not once, but twice. But he tried a third time, was accepted and marched into the history books.
- Abraham Lincoln: He entered the Blackhawk War as a captain. By the end of the war, he had been demoted to the rank of private.

How to convince someone...

In the musical “My Fair Lady,” based on George Bernard Shaw’s novel Pygmalion, Professor Higgins has driven his cockney prodigy Eliza Doolittle to exhaustion teaching her how to speak “proper” English.

Late in the play, Eliza responds with frustration when her would-be swain Freddie talks about his affection for her in romantic phrases but doesn’t kiss or hold her.

“Words! Words! Words!” Eliza explodes. “I am so sick of words! I get words all day through. First from him, now from you! Is that all you blighters can do?”

Then she sings, “Don’t talk of stars burning above; if you’re in love, show me! Tell me no dreams filled with desire. If you’re on fire, show me!”

There is a profound lesson here for anyone trying to persuade someone to his or her point of view.

An old American proverb says: “Tell me, and I will forget, show me, and I may remember; but involve me, and I’ll understand.” —from The IdeaBank Web site

A lesson about getting to the top

A tired and disheartened turkey had a chat with a bull. During the conversation the turkey revealed one of his deepest desires to the bull. “I would love to get to the top of that tree there,” the turkey said, “but I just don’t have enough energy to do the job.”

The bull scratched his head and after a moment he came up with an idea. “Why don’t you eat some of my droppings. It won’t cost you anything, and my dung is packed with nutrients.”

The turkey thought about this for a minute, then began pecking around and nibbling at the dung. After the turkey had finished a whole lump of dung, he suddenly felt the strength to reach the first branch of the tree.

The next day, the turkey ate some more dung, and he was able to reach the second branch. After two weeks of dining on dung, the turkey could finally be seen proudly perched at the top of the tree. Soon he was spotted by a farmer and shot out of the tree.

Moral: While bullsh*t might help you get to the top, it probably won’t keep you there for long. — adapted from Paul Tomko’s Collection of Humorous Quotes Web site

The anti-cancer lowdown on herbs and spices

Many spices and herbs are believed to be imbued with health-building properties and have anti-cancer effects. Herbs and spices are believed to be full of antioxidants, which prevent the damage that free radicals can do to cells.

The National Cancer Institute has identified the following herbs and spices as having cancer-preventing properties: tarragon, cumin, coriander, anise, caraway, turmeric, fennel, rosemary, thyme, oregano and sage. Some of these; caraway, tarragon, fennel and cumin; may also prevent tumor growth, and they are believed to reduce cholesterol levels. Coriander, it is believed, is effective in combating carcinogens. Turmeric contains curcumin, which gives it a yellow color, and has been shown to protect mice against Alzheimer's. Saffron and paprika are believed to stimulate immunity. Cloves and nutmeg are believed to fight bacteria, and chili peppers and ginger might help prevent tumor formation. Cinnamon could be a possible treatment for diabetes in the future. One to two teaspoons were found to lower blood sugar and prevent insulin spikes. —adapted from the U.C. Berkeley Wellness Letter

A hodgepodge of health tips

Here is a smattering of tips to keep you at your best:

- If you need long-lasting energy, eat foods like lentils, soybeans, couscous and dried fruits.
 - Make sure that you drink plenty of water. Eight to 10 glasses a day help replenish and cleanse the body.
 - Want to feel better? How about popping a chocolate kiss in your mouth. Just one has been shown to raise endorphin levels and make you feel better. More, however, won't make you feel any better than just one.
 - Add ginger to your recipes. Ginger has been used since ancient times in China to help digestion and cleanse the body.
 - After age 30, people begin to lose muscle mass, and it becomes increasingly important to perform weight-bearing exercises.
 - Eat 1 cup of yogurt per day. Women who ate 1 cup of yogurt per day for six months got 33 percent fewer yeast infections, according to a recent study.
