FROM THE EDITOR

By: Donna Wurtz (lot 938.....509-1182.....momshse@aol.com)

Summer months provide a great opportunity for residents to show their creativity. There is lots of room in the voice for imaginative news articles to be published. BUT – if they are not submitted to me, I can’t get them in the newsletter. Thanks to some newcomers who have sent items in (even if they are published as anonymous) In addition we need photos. They are an important part of sharing the news of the community. Photos submitted should be taken with a camera, or a phone with a high quality of pixels to make them appear on the page correctly for easy viewing. We have had a few in the past that just did not have a quality that could be used by the publisher.

Your help in submitting articles and photos by the 10th of each month is appreciated so that we have time to put together the final pages to send for the next month's publication.

Thank you all again.

Donna

FROM THE DESK of the PRESIDENT

By: Linda Casey (lot 1211.....581-5257.....lcasey9@tampabay.rr.com)

Well, summer is here and so is Hurricane season and I hope you are already. Make sure you know what to do and what you should have on hand. Make sure you know where you will go if we need to leave the park and make sure you know what you are going to do with your pet if you have one. We passed out some copies last month at coffee and I hope you follow some of the things they tell you to do. If you leave the park, please make sure you remove all items that the wind can carry and put objects into you Florida room. We still need some people to come forward to take care of the items in the back of the voice. I have been looking at several places to get our food for our dinners (Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter) and things have gone up. So please if you think you can do some of the cooking let us know. Have a happy Fourth of July and please be safe.

CORNHOLE TAKES LINCOLNSHIRE BY STORM

By: Teri Jones.....(#210.....269-207-0466)

The first ever indoor cornhole tournament was held on Saturday, June 10. We had a wonderful turnout with about 70 residents in attendance. 16 teams registered to compete, and there were many residents who came to watch, nibble on the snacks that were brought in, and chat with one another.

This was a double elimination tournament, and it came to a nail biting ending with two teams who fought toe to toe to the finish. After some serious competition, the final score was 21 to 20. The first place team was Duane Burger and Joe Thompson. They each won a $25 gift card to Wawa. Second place buy a slim margin went to Tom Boyd and Irv Bottom. They each won a $10 gift card to Walmart. I should mention that booby prizes went to Sherman and Shirley, Todd and Terrise.

A raffle was held with four $45 winners. Those were Kathy Burk, Mike Parr, Bob Mitchell of 1550 (there are two Bob Mitchells) and Janis Malara.

Good job, bagging those holes teams!!

“CAUGHT YA DOIN’ SOMETHIN’ GOOD”:

A segment from the past re-instated here due to people in the community noticing that there is good being done by others here in the park
ANNONYMOUS

I had the distinct pleasure of meeting up with a fellow resident as I was out walking one evening. I was going on about my business when the lady spoke to me but it seemed she had more to say than just a quick hello. Never intending to be rude or dismissive of anyone I encounter, I quickly removed my earphones to engage to whatever degree my neighbor wished to.

I learned that she was widowed by the man she fell in love with at 14, the same age I was when I met my husband. This man had courted her from then until his dying day. My husband and I are still together since that school bus ride some 43 years later. This kind of fairytale romance is one many dream of but never find – but he found her and my soulmate found me.

From there our conversation blossomed and she shared tidbits of her early life in another country, her life of many facets, her storied life’s work and her family. Her eyes shone brightly in the daylight as she spoke of her family she adored. The joy radiated from her in talking about her children is the very same joy I have in my heart for my children.

In listening I learned she has always been active in whatever community she resided, that she showed care and compassion and generosity to her neighbors and friends, I imagined her, visibly in her glory to aid and nurture those less able than herself. I realized that this is the true meaning of neighbor and community.

As we continued our conversation, I noted that she is 25 years my senior, a full generation between us, yet here she was, yearning to continue to care for others at a time many would be seeking care for themselves. She was still so full of life and ideas. Her zest to roll up her sleeves for the benefit and satisfaction of making someone’s day a little easier, a little better, a little brighter was overwhelmingly inspiring. These are ideals I am passionate about; however, she is the embodiment of exactly that.

As we all go about our business on a daily basis, wouldn’t it be nice to take the pause to talk to a neighbor or resident that we’ve just never taken the time to listen to, to hear their story? To hear of their triumphs and their sorrows; to consider the positive ways they have impacted their life and the lives of others; to recognize their experiences as opportunities to grow from having taken a moment to listen, to interact, to gather a wonderful perspective from the benefit of their experiences?

I am reminded how fortunate I am that I am afforded an opportunity to meet so many of diverse backgrounds and to enjoy getting to know more about my community members in a chance meeting, on any given evening, at any given crossroads in any given season.

I continue to recant our conversation that lasted mere minutes but allowed me a glimpse in the decades of a glorious existence by a woman that I am grateful to have found. Or is it maybe that she found me?

Request from Noreen in Lincolnshire Office

With so many new residents here in the community, there are a number of opportunities for people who have special skills and would enjoy keeping busy helping and working for neighbors. It's a great way to earn some extra spending cash to enhance your retired life without being tied down to a scheduled job. Neighbors are always stopping by the office and asking about people in the community who do odd jobs like garden care, cleaning, maintaining property when residents are up north, and many other tasks that can be handled right here by neighbors for neighbors. If you have a talent or expertise in some area, and would like to let it be known, stop by the office and let us know what you would like to do, and we will put you on the list of people who offer services here in Lincolnshire

LINCOLNSHIRE HISTORY:

By: the "new - old timers"

A blast from the past:

Did you know that there once was an in-park "service Station" for trikes and bikes? Well, there was! From reports received, "Eddie" Garluczak was an energetic and considerate fellow who, after watching elderly residents having much difficulty hand-pumping air into low and sometimes flat tires, arranged for the purchase of an air compressor. Upon receipt and setting up of this air compressor Ed would have the residents come around to his coach on a regular schedule and he, personally, attended to filling up or topping up the air pressure of their trike and bike tires... repairs on the "wheels", too. Today Ed is no longer with us, but we still have an air compressor (not the original of course) at the laundry room, - - but - - we have to do our own tire-filling

Sunshine Committee

By: Mary Jo Webert & Marge Kristall

July 2023

Happy 4th of July everyone. Busy travel month for many of us that are full time residents of Lincolnshire. Many of us will head north to visit family or friends now that the weather is warmer up there, or we have planned a trip to an area of our country that we have never seen before. Whatever your vacation plans do it safely. If you are taking that road trip drive safely. Remember we are retired, (most of us) and have time to do it slower than others out on the road. Try taking the less travelled roads not the crazy big interstates. If you are flying to your destination, make sure you check your flight times the day before for any time changes and give yourself plenty of time to get to the airport and through security. Some of us may be traveling overseas or on a cruise. Whatever and wherever your vacation plans take you, be safe.

Dates to look for in July.

July 1st – International Joke Day – special day intended to cheer people up. So, tell someone a joke and make them smile.

July 2nd – Largo 4th of July event – Yes, the date is correct. The City of Largo is holding their annual fireworks event on the 2nd of July not the 4th. The event runs from 6PM to 9PM at Largo Central Park. Parking will be $10.00 at the assigned lots. Bring blankets or chairs. The event will have live music, and the best fireworks around. Food and beverage vendors will be on site. No alcohol, dogs, boom boxes or personal fireworks including sparklers are permitted. If you are leaving or returning to the community during this event time you might want to avoid the 8th Avenue/Donagan Rd. area use Donagan to Lake for your travels.

July 4th – America’s birthday. On this day we celebrate our Independence Day. Of course, it is a national holiday commemorating the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4th, 1776. A date that declared us independent from Great Britain. Independence Day is usually celebrated with fireworks, parades, barbecues, and picnics. Did you know that Thomas Jefferson and John Adams who were once fellow Patriots and then adversaries died on the same date July 4th, 1826, within five hours of each other.

July 7th – World Chocolate Day – Anniversary of introduction of chocolate to Europe from the Americas in 1550. Yum.....what would we do without chocolate.

Thought we would include some information regarding our local community opportunities for some summer fun.

Do you have membership in the Largo Community center? This summer might be the time to join. Seniors’ annual membership is only $9.33. If you have a cell phone or computer with internet access, check out the fun things available every month. Just type Largo community center into your search. I have included a couple of outings I saw on the July calendar. They also have Bingo, various other games offered weekly at the community center as well as exercise programs. Great way to get out of the house and out of the heat at the same time!

July 11th and July 25th – Hard Rock Casino in Tampa 8:30 AM to 3:00 PM. Members cost $20.00 Non-members cost $25.00. Transportation included.

July 28th - Lunch Bunch to the Mill Restaurant – St. Petersburg 10:30 AM to 1:00 PM. This restaurant has won several Golden Spoon awards and has amazing food.

Largo Community Center located at 400 Alternate Keene Rd.

Don’t forget our Largo Library. We are lucky to live around the corner from our library. If you have never been there, take some time to check it out. You can get your library card while you are there, shop in their store which has great deals on used books, music, and movies. All your spending dollars fund the library directly. There is also a great little restaurant in the lobby of the library. Make it a lunch date and pick up one of the booklets they publish every other month covering classes and events they sponsor for folks of all ages.

VETERAN'S CORNER

An early prediction for the 2024 cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) applied to military retirement, Social Security, and other federal payments predicts a continued increase in prices, but a final figure far below last year's 8.7% rate.

An analyst for The Senior Citizens League (TSCL), a nonprofit advocacy group affiliated with TREA: The Enlisted Association, estimates next year's figure at "around 3.1%" in a May 10 press release. While this is less than half the 2023 boost, the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) would still need to rise in the coming months for it to take effect. In other words, prices would need to keep going up.

The April CPI-W figure, released in May, was 2% above the yearly baseline. For the TSCL prediction to take effect, the average of the fiscal year's final three CPI-W figures (July, August, and September) would need to be 3.1% above that baseline.

It's far from unreasonable – last year's index shot from 6% to 9% above its baseline from April to June before leveling off slightly. A spike in food, fuel, and housing prices contributed to the boost; Congressional Budget Office \(CBO\) projections don't show a similar increase, but even a slight one could be enough for the index to reach TSCL prediction.

While a 3.1% hike would be a significant drop from last year and the 5.9% increase in 2021, those two years are the outliers – aside from those years, the adjustment hasn't topped 3% in more than a decade. You can find the full list of Social Security adjustments at this link, with two important caveats: The years reflect when the first COLA payment is made (December, in most cases, meaning the 2022 figure applied to nearly all of 2023), and the Social Security adjustment wasn't always used to determine the military retiree pay increase.

The Department of the Air Force selected Florida's Patrick Space Force Base on Wednesday as the preferred headquarters location for STARCOM, the service's training and education command. Space Training and Readiness Command had been temporarily headquartered at Peterson Space Force Base in Colorado since it was organized under the then-newly created Space Force in 2021. STARCOM's Space Delta 10, the group underneath STARCOM that is responsible for doctrine and war gaming, will also be located at Patrick, according to a Space Force press release.

The locations for two other Space Deltas, which are overseen by STARCOM, were also announced. Space Delta 11, which "delivers realistic, threat-informed test and training environments through the provision of live, virtual and constructive range and combat replication capabilities," is expected to be located at Kirtland Air Force Base, New Mexico, according to the press release.

Space Delta 12, a unit responsible for testing and evaluating space systems, is expected to be located at Schriever Space Force Base, Colorado.

How often have you gotten home from the physician, primary or a specialist and have said "I just forgot to ask about this. The visit just goes so fast, and I just forget. Next time." Believe me you are not alone.

Even with years of training I forget too. Knowing better does not always make things happen.

We can freeze up when we finally get into the examination room and in front of your doctor. Here are tips that I try to follow when talking to my doctors or nurse practitioners.

First, let us try to remember that they just cannot read our minds. If we are a frequent patient, they usually remember the big reasons we are back in the office. Not always. Really 3 types of office visits: follow-up on an issue, treatment, routine well guy or gal yearly updates and then for a new issue. Their medical training is not only based on knowledge, also keeping up to date on their profession and being a bit of a detective. "Dr. Holmes I presume."

And that detective work will be easier for your medical team when we get to the appointment ready. The best example for me is getting ready for my taxes each year. Show up with income and expense receipts. Translated means writing down what is bothering you, results of what you have done already and questions. By importance please. When I saw a patient for coordinating their care and benefits, I learned to ask for the last item on the list first. Never failing, it was the most important.

Most of the advertising and literature we see suggests this is supposed to be a partnership. In an effective way it still is. We are expected to voice what is going on with our bodies, they listen, ask questions, examine, run tests (blood work, scans and a million others) and the path should lead to a conclusion. Sometimes there is uncertainty. One more test, just one more. Frustrating. As Einstein certainly said, "Just when I was close to the answer, I ran out of chalk." If it really affects the quality of your life, then keep up the pursuit. Easy to say and I know much harder considering the price tag we may have to pay. Not just money but our time and hopes of an answer.

Here are a some not too top-secret tips you can use to prepare: write down on paper (that you will, will leave by the car keys), include symptoms (what it looks like and makes you feel); when those began, how did it start (what were you doing), how long-ago including things like (all day long, only when I am.... etc.), what makes it worse, how it affects your quality of life! When we do this, it tends to control the visit on what is bothering us. Do not keep them guessing. Many are not good at that anyway. I know I was not.

Three other thoughts: Know and share your family's health history especially if it is related to your health issue, keep track of your vitals like blood pressure because it is ours and no one else's and if there is something you know you would like to discuss at your appointment.

If your gut says I am being dismissed and not listened to by your doctor that's a warning sign and a signal to hit the yellow pause button and change your approach. Sometimes a stronger stated reminder that "my daily life is really affected by this and limiting my quality of life," and to me the best "there's something going on and I'm having a hard time putting it together. I'm asking for your help."

Lastly though takes further thought on our part. You can also ask for a referral to see another specialist (called a second opinion and a benefit in almost all health plans.) Next time come with a close friend to support and often can offer testimony that this health issue is important. Oh, taking a deep breath before you enter the exam room is well worth the 2 seconds. The doctor does.
