Fairway Social Committee (FSC)

Sherry Moore, FSC Chairperson

September is a slow social month as residents are busy preparing for the Fall social line up. We are delighted to announce that we have a volunteer to lead the Labor Day Event. Pat Trefry has come forward and will not let this holiday go by without a celebration. She will require help to set up tables etc, please come forward and make this a day to remember. Thanks so much Pat.

Time is flying by; our social committee has been busy bringing you events for your enjoyment. These are just a few, please refer to our calendar in the center of this flier for a full listing of events.

- September 4 – Labor Day Picnic
- September 11 – Flier Deadline
- September 16 – Koffee Klatch – Melinda Baker
- September 16 – Karaoke – Bob Dunn
- September 26 – Chorus Begins – Anna Martin

FSC is always looking for volunteers, if you would like to help out, email sherrymoore94@gmail.com or call/text 902-410-7588. Feel free to contact me at any time. I may not know the answer to your question; however, I will find one.

Thanks again for all you do, support is crucial to having such a vibrant community to live in.

Cheers and Stay Safe, Sherry

FVRA Chorus

Anna Martin

Calling all chorus members! It may be Fall on the calendar, whether or not Fairway has seen it. But that also means that the FVRA Chorus will begin to tune up for a singing season.

Anyone who has ever sung in a chorus, a church choir, or in the shower, is invited and urged to join us as we prepare music for the Fall, Winter and Spring season.

Again, this Fall we will work on the tunes from ABBA with a recorded CD to help us. We will be rehearsing on Tuesdays from 10 am to 12 pm in the Conference Room beginning September 26. Hope to see you there!

Come Sail Away With Us On A Summer Cruise

Nancy Whitford

The summer cruise on the SS Fairway was without a doubt packed full of beautiful memories. The attendance at all three Ports of Call was amazing and we have just had one of the most exciting summers in recent history.

First, many thanks to an amazing team of volunteers on this committee. Laura Gant, a fantastic artist and the builder of the 22-foot-long ship, photo booth, and hallway decorations, she is just so creative. Jo Anne Witt masterfully put together awesome dance music and videos to keep the energy flowing throughout the event, along with getting tickets design as well. Debi Dragon arranged all the dinner entertainment which was simply outstanding, along with the beautiful table decorations. George Daughenbaugh and Bill Witt were essential for the strength needed to set up the ship and tables/chairs for each event, along with so much help for all the other items along the way. Each of these individuals also made sure a delicious meal was served at each port which required shopping and cooking as well, then all the clean up after. A huge Thank You to an outstanding committee!

We all worked very hard to ensure your cruise was the best it could be. Then, we have all of you reading this article today. Whether you donated large cardboard boxes for the ship or liquor bottles for the stage bar decorations, you were a server or helped with food prep and clean up, you ran the audio booth, or assisted with ticket and raffle entry, you helped with table/chair set up, you grilled in the heat all day, or you helped place a decoration on the table, and also to all the sponsors for the prizes and so many other items you saw at each port, or any of the tasks to have the success of summer parties – each and every one of you deserves a huge Thank You.

I have enjoyed being your Event Lead and thank you to everyone who participated in attendance and the success of this memorable summer cruise.

You May Need An Audiologist

The easiest way to determine if you should go to an audiologist is to determine if you have hearing loss

SOME TELL-TALE SIGNS TO LOOK FOR ARE:

- People sound muffled or mumbly
- You have difficulty hearing high-pitched sounds such as birds, doorbells, your phone, or alarm clock
- It's challenging understanding conversations in noisy places, like a restaurant

But don't let this list define your hearing loss—you can (and should) visit an audiologist before you even have signs of hearing loss. This will ensure that if you do develop hearing loss over time, it's caught as soon as possible and prevents disruption to your life.

The hitchhiker

A hitchhiker caught a ride. As soon as the hitchhiker sat down in the front seat the driver floored the gas pedal and drove right through a red light.

Frightened, the hitchhiker said, “You oughtn’t do that—it’s dangerous.”

The driver looked over at the new passenger and said earnestly, “Why, that’s the way my brother always drives.”

They continued on and when they came to the next traffic light, it was red, and the driver didn’t as much as pretend to slow down. He barreled right through the intersection. Other cars slammed on their brakes to keep from hitting the red-light-running car.

By this time the hitchhiker was starting to lose his temper, “What are you trying to do—kill us? You’re driving like a maniac.”

Again, the driver answered in a sincere fashion and said, “My brother always drives exactly like this.”

They continued down the road, and as they approached the next traffic light, it turned green just as they were about to go through it. Suddenly, the driver slammed on the brakes and stopped the car immediately.

Beside himself, the hitchhiker said, “Why on earth are you driving like this. Why are you running all the red lights and stopping on green?”

The driver looked at the hitchhiker and said: “My brother might be coming through.” — adapted from “Bad driver;” as told by Ivan Amburgey, in Laughter in Appalachia, by Loyal Jones and Billy Edd Wheeler

The sawmill

There was once a sawmill worker who bent down, got too close to the saw and cut his ear off. The ear fell down into the pile of sawdust and disappeared.

The worker got down into the sawdust pit and started scratching around looking for his ear.

I walked by and saw my worker in the pit and I asked, “What you looking for?”

The worker said, “I cut my ear off and I’m down here looking for it.”

“Well, hang on,” I said. “I’ll come down and help you.” I got down into the pit and started feeling around in the sawdust and I found the ear. “I got it,” I called out. “Here it is.”

The worker took hold of the ear and looked at it closely, then he threw it back down in the sawdust. “Better keep on looking,” he said. “Mine had a pencil behind it.” — adapted from “Wrong ear;” as told by Glen Baker, in Laughter in Appalachia, by Loyal Jones and Billy Edd Wheeler

Pick the right wine shop

Here is how some top wine pros pick their wine shops in Chicago:

- Stay away from hot shops. If you walk into a wine store in the summer and it's not air conditioned, experts suggest you walk out. The heat “cooks” the wine and ruins it.
- Be wary of wine bottles displayed in an upright position. Wines should be laid on their sides to keep corks moistened. A dry cork allows air into the bottle, which ruins the wine.
- Look for deals. Look for wide ranges in price. Wine pros think stores should offer as many price choices as varieties.
- Don't get hung up on scores from Wine Spectator and other publications. Ask the shop staff what wines they prefer. Talking to someone who has actually tasted the wine rather than just read about it is the rule to follow here.
- Choose wine stores with knowledgeable staff. If workers don't know what they're selling, go somewhere else.
- Buy from a wine shop that makes you excited to try what they recommend. Also, make sure your wine shop has people who know how to couple wine with food.
- Go to a wine shop that asks you the right questions. If staff asks you questions that are too general, like “What do you want this wine for?” and neglect asking you “Is this wine for a dinner at home or a dinner party?” “What will the menu be?” “Is this a gift?” or “How long until this wine will be drunk?” go some-where else.
- If the wine store you frequent is dusty, consider choosing another place to shop. Wine cellars can be dusty, but modern American wine shops need to show they care—and dust usually means neglect.

— adapted from “10 tips for finding the right wine shop,” by Bill Daley in the Chicago Tribune

A city story

A man goes into a bank in San Francisco and walks up to the teller. “I’d like to borrow $5,000 dollars for a business trip to Europe,” the man said.

“Fine,” said the clerk, “but we’ll need some collateral if we’re going to give you a loan.”

The man handed the clerk a set of keys and said, “You can keep my Rolls Royce as collateral.”

The bank clerk was surprised, but the car title checked out and when everything was verified as legitimate, he gave the man a $5,000 loan for his trip. The teller then sent another worker out to move the car into the bank’s parking garage for safekeeping.

Two weeks later the man returned to the bank, repaid the $5,000 loan—plus $15.41 in interest.

The clerk said to the man, “I don’t understand. I did some checking while you were gone—and I know you’re a millionaire, why did you have to borrow $5,000?”

The millionaire smiled knowingly and said, “Where else am I going to find parking for two weeks in San Francisco for $15.41?” — adapted from the Clean Funny Web site

A crafty entrepreneur

A little boy was selling lemonade at a stand. At the front of the stand he had a sign that said LEMONADE 55 CENTS: ALL YOU CAN DRINK.

A woman who was passing by thought about it, and even though the cup the boy stocked at his stand looked small, she decided to buy a lemonade since it was only 55 cents.

The boy handed her a cup and filled it up and she drank the entire contents straight down and then held her cup out for a refill. However, the boy firmly shook his head no to her request.

“But it says ‘All you can drink’ on your sign for 55 cents,” the woman protested.

“That’s right,” the boy said. “It’s all you can drink.” — adapted from the Clean Funny Web site

Too many people spend money they haven’t earned, to buy things they don’t want, to impress people they don’t like.
