St. Patrick's Day:

---

Historical Background: Saint Patrick, who lived during the 5th century, is credited with bringing Christianity to Ireland. He used the shamrock to explain the Holy Trinity, which is why the shamrock is a symbol of the holiday<sup>2</sup>.

Religious Observances: Traditionally, St. Patrick's Day was a religious feast day. Many people attend church services, and Lenten restrictions on eating and drinking alcohol are often lifted for the day<sup>1</sup>.

Cultural Celebrations: The day is marked by parades, festivals, wearing green attire, and displaying shamrocks. In many places, rivers and landmarks are dyed green to celebrate<sup>12</sup>.

Global Celebrations: While it originated in Ireland, St. Patrick's Day is celebrated worldwide, especially in countries with large Irish communities like the United States, Canada, and Australia<sup>12</sup>.

Fun Facts:

First Parade: The first St. Patrick's Day parade took place in 1601 in what is now St. Augustine, Florida<sup>2</sup>.

Green River: In Chicago, the river is dyed green every year to celebrate St. Patrick's Day<sup>2</sup>.

St. Patrick's Day is a vibrant celebration of Irish culture and heritage, enjoyed by people of all backgrounds.

Lighthearted St. Patrick's Day jokes

---

Why do leprechauns love to garden? Because they have green thumbs!

What kind of spells do leprechauns use? Lucky charms!

Why don't you iron four-leaf clovers? Because you don't want to press your luck!

What do you call a fake Irish stone? A shamrock!

Why did the leprechaun go outside? To sit on his patio!

How can you tell if an Irishman is having a good time? He's Dublin over with laughter!

What do you get when you cross a four-leaf clover with poison ivy? A rash of good luck!

Did You Know?

March is named after the Roman god of war, Mars? If military activities were interrupted by winter, March is when they would be resumed.

March used to be considered the first month of the year?

March and June always end on the same day of the week?

Using format to inspire funny writing

Need to write something funny for the company newsletter? Why not trying using a humorous format, suggests humor writer Tim Bete, director of University of Dayton's Erma Bombeck Writers' Workshop. Bete's work has been published in the Christian Science Monitor and more than a dozen parenting magazines. He is also the author of In The Beginning...There Were No Diapers.

Bete says there are three parts to humor pieces: the topic, the format and the individual jokes. Formats help tie pieces together and make them coherent, Bete says. Don't wait for the world's funniest idea to strike you before you start writing, he says. Starting with structure and letting the humor come through is much more effective. Here are a few of the formats he recommends to get you writing.

1. The Diary Format. This format gives you a chronological structure to build on. "Day 1: Day 2; etc.
2. The Advice Format. This parodies the "Dear Abby" style.
3. The How-Not-To-Format. This might be in the vein of how to buy the worst birthday present in the world, etc.
4. Parody interview format. An interview, for example, of the mother who always buys the worst Christmas presents every year.
5. Quiz Format. This might be a quiz that helps you determine whether you've picked the world's worst Valentine's Day gift or not.

Using formats, Bete says, often generates ideas that don't fit neatly into the template. But who cares — you're writing, and that's what counts.

For more information on humor writing, Tim Bete and the Erma Bombeck Writers' Workshop, go to www.humorwriters.org or www.timbete.com.

And I quote ...

---

Here's a list of famous last words as collected on the Internet site quotations.home.worldnet.att.net:

- Are you sure the power is off?
- Don't be so superstitious.
- Double dare me!
- Help!
- He's probably just hibernating.
- Hey, watch this!
- I'll get a world record for this.
- I'm making a citizen's arrest.
- I've seen this done on TV.
- I wonder where the mother bear is.
- That's odd.
- That stuff only happens in the movies.
- The odds of that happening have to be a million to one.
- These are the good kind of mushrooms.
- This doesn't taste right.
- Well, we've made it this far.
- What does this button do?
- What duck?
- I think it's dead.
- It's only a little one.
- Does this go any faster?
- No, Tony, I don't have your money.
- I built it myself.
- I don't need a helmet.

A matter of taste

---

A psychiatrist greeted a new patient and asked him to sit down. "So what brings you to see, me?" the doctor asked.

"Well, my family asked me to come. They think I'm nuts because I absolutely love shoes."

"Hmm," said the doctor, "that seems awfully petty of them. I myself have a taste for good shoes."

"You do!" the patient exclaimed. "Do you like them boiled or lightly breaded and fried?"
