THEY CALL US “THE ELDERLY”

We were born in the 40-50-60's.
We grew up in the 50-60-70's.
We studied in the 60-70-80's.
We were dating in the 70-80-90's.
We got married and discovered the world in the 70-80-90's.
We venture into 80-90's.
We stabilize in the 2000's.
We got wiser in the 2010's.
And we are going firmly through and beyond 2020.
Turns out we've lived through Eight different decades.
Two different centuries...
Two different millennia...

We have gone from the telephone with an operator for long-distance calls to anywhere in the world. We have gone from slides to You Tube, from vinyl records to online music, from handwritten letters to email and Whats App.

From live matches on the radio, to black and white TV, colour TV and then to 3D HD TV.

We went to the Video store and now we watch Netflix. We got to know the first computers, punch cards, floppy disks and now we have gigabytes and megabytes on our smartphones. We wore shorts throughout our childhood and then long trousers, Oxfords, flares, shell suites and blue jeans. We dodged infantile paralysis, meningitis, polio, tuberculosis, swine flu and COVID-19.

We rode skates, tricycles, bicycles, mopeds, petrol or diesel cars and now we drive hybrids or electric.

Yes we've been through a lot but what a great life we've had.

They could describe us as “exennials”; people who were born in that world of the fifties, who have had an analog childhood and a digital adulthood.

We've kind of “Seen-It-All”!

Our generation has literally lived through and witnessed more than any other in every dimension of life.

It is our generation that has literally adapted to “CHANGE”.

A big round of applause to all the members of a very special generation, which will be UNIQUE.

RHYME AND REASON

BY DONNA OLANDER

I opened my mouth and my mind said
Say something courageous, say something redemptive,
Something helpful.

I opened my mouth and my heart said, say something healing, something encouraging, something supportive.
I opened my mouth and my soul said, say something to put the broken pieces together again, something sacred, something holy.
I opened my mouth, and the pain was too much and all I could do was sob.

JUST A THOUGHT....
“The measure of a man is the size of the things that get his goat.”

GREETINGS FROM THE THEATER CLUB

The annual Halloween Dance was a huge success thanks to the effort of our DJ Ken Flietstra, and of course, all those who attended. The decorations were frightening even before entering the Clubhouse. And let's not forget to mention some of the scary costumes. Thank goodness Nightmare at Golden Gate was all just make believe. If you weren't there you missed a great time!

The Holiday Season is sneaking up on us. So many of us are already planning for meal preparation, shopping, travel, company and so much more! It makes one tired just thinking about it. But it's always a fun time of the year so let the festivities!

With the holiday season being mentioned, we're looking for people to help us in our Christmas program. If you're interested in either participating in an act or working behind the scenes, then please be in touch with Linda Davis at 145 4th Ave. or calling 207-598-6991. You can also contact anyone in the Theater Club. We hope to hear from you soon! No experience is necessary, it's all for fun.

So, again, until next time....TTFN!

SATURDAY SEWING

The monthly Sewing days will be December 20 (Christmas Party?), January 17, February 28, March 28, April 18. Mark your calendars. We meet from 10:00-3:00. Bring your lunch, we have use of the refrigerator and microwave.

This sewing group is different from Labor of Love, although many of the members are the same. Labor of Love is a charity group; items are made to donate. Saturday Sewing is to learn new techniques and create items for ourselves (or to donate).

During this upcoming winter season, I would like to cover such items such as raw edge applique, binding a quilt, putting a zipper into a tote or pouch (not clothing), and creating quilt blocks using plastic templates. The last item will also teach how to use a commercial pattern.

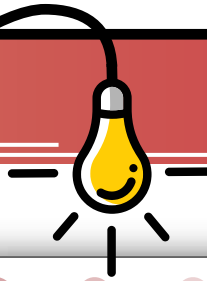

Our community has many new residents, so if you sew, or wish to learn, we will welcome you to come to these events.

Do you belong to ‘Team Coyote’?

In their book, Beep! Beep! Competing in the Age of the Road Runner, Chip R. Bell and Oren Harari discuss the messages we can learn from one of the most recognizable pair of antagonists around: Wile E. Coyote and the Road Runner. The authors describe two different cartoons:

In one, the coyote holds a medicine bottle labeled “Acme Hi-Speed Tonic—Contains vitamins R+P+M.” When he gives a spoonful to a small mouse, the rodent zooms around at jet speed. The coyote drinks the whole bottle and zips off after the Road Runner. But the Road Runner stops suddenly, sticks out his foot, and trips Mr. Coyote.

The second cartoon begins with a close shot on a box labeled: “One Acme Jet-Propelled Pogo Stick.” Wile E. removes the pogo stick from the box, switches it on, mounts it, and waits for the Road Runner. As the Road Runner races by, Wile E. begins bouncing up and down after him. But soon the coyote loses control of the stick and falls backward over a cliff.

“What these scenes show is that you cannot remain a coyote and expect to compete against road runners by simply copying their movements,” write the authors. “Sure, the coyote can buy high-speed tonic or jet-propelled pogo sticks, but his body and soul are still coyote. If you are a coyote team or organization, no matter what fads or quick fixes you jump into, you are just imitating a road runner—and the real thing will beat you every time.”

What is a moment really worth?

On the bulletin board of a California company, someone once posted this sign to remind everyone of how time is relative—but the value of time is priceless:

- To realize the value of one year: Ask the student who has failed his final exam.
- To realize the value of one month: Ask the mother who has given birth to a premature baby.
- To realize the value of one week: Ask the editor of a weekly newspaper.
- To realize the value of one day: Ask the daily wage laborer who has 10 kids to feed.
- To realize the value of an hour: Ask the lovers who are waiting to meet.
- To realize the value of a minute: Ask the person who has missed the train, the bus, or the plane.
- To realize the value of a second: Ask the person who has survived an accident.
- To realize the value of a millisecond: Ask the person who has won a silver medal in the Olympics.

Heart attacks waiting to happen: Don't ignore risk factors

Are you a few years away from a heart attack? Or maybe just a few minutes? No one can tell you for sure, but you can evaluate your risk for suffering a coronary. Just be on the lookout for these health and lifestyle factors that can indicate the likelihood of having a heart attack at some point in your life:

- Age. The older you are, unfortunately, the higher your risk. Men who are 45 or older and women 55 or older are more likely to suffer heart attacks than younger people.
- Gender. Men are more at risk than women, although at older ages women are more likely to die within a few weeks of a heart attack than men are.
- Family history. Heart disease can have a genetic component. If your parents, grandparents, or siblings have suffered heart attacks, your own risk rises. Race may also play a role: Heart disease seems to be more common among African-Americans, Mexican-Americans, Native Americans, and some other ethnic groups.
- Smoking. Cigarettes, cigars, and second-hand smoke can increase your risk of heart attack. Cigarette smoking doubles the threat.
- Cholesterol. High levels of low-density lipoprotein (LDL) raise your risk, as does an excess amount of triglycerides.
- High blood pressure. The harder your heart has to work, the greater your chances of suffering a heart attack, as well as stroke and kidney failure.
- Diabetes. Your body's inability to produce enough insulin to process glucose in your blood can contribute to heart disease.
- Weight issues. Obesity, which is often linked to the three factors listed above, places stress on your heart.
- Lack of physical activity. Regular exercise can alleviate many of the risk factors associated with heart attack, controlling weight, blood pressure, and cholesterol.
- Alcohol and drug use. Yes, a moderate amount of alcohol can limit your risk, but the key word is "moderate." And drugs like cocaine and amphetamines can trigger muscle spasms in your heart that could cause an attack.
- Stress. Stress and anger can elevate your blood pressure and tempt you toward overeating and drinking too much.

Surprising sources of pain

It's an old joke: "Doctor, it hurts when I lift my left arm over my head!"

"Well then, don't do that!"

The causes of pain aren't always obvious. Consider these unexpected sources:

- Back pain. Taking your vitamins? Chronic back pain can be caused by low levels of vitamin D. Another possibility: constipation caused by block-age in the colon. Eat more fruits, vegetables, and fiber for better digestion. (Source: Prevention magazine)
- Achy feet. Wearing sandals or flip-flops can cause pain in your feet, ankles and knees due to poor arch support. (Source: the Web MD website)
- Headache. Cheese may be the culprit. A substance called tyramine in cheese can trigger headaches. Also, low blood sugar can create a headache even before you realize you're hungry. A snack like whole-grain crackers with peanut butter can bring quick relief. (Source: the Web MD website)

Where do alligator shoes come from?

A lawyer from the big city was visiting Florida. He wanted to take home a pair of genuine alligator loafers in the worst way, but he was reluctant to pay the high prices the local vendors were asking.

He was certain that with all his legal training he could negotiate a better price, but at shop after shop he had no luck. After getting frustrated with one sales associate who wouldn't budge, the lawyer shouted, "Well then, maybe I'll just go out and catch my own alligator!"

The saleswoman smiled. "I'd like to see you try."

The lawyer turned on his heel and headed out toward the swamps, determined to catch an alligator.

Later in the day the saleswoman was driving home, and she spotted the lawyer standing waist deep in the murky swamp water, shotgun in hand, a huge 9-foot gator swimming rapidly toward him. The saleswoman pulled over as the lawyer took aim, shot, and killed the creature. With a great deal of effort, the lawyer hauled it onto the swamp bank—right next to four more dead alligators.

The saleswoman stood on the side of the road, watching the lawyer struggle to flip the gator on its back.

Then, looking up toward the sky in great frustration, the lawyer shouted, "No! This one is barefoot, too!"

A Teachable Moment

A kindergarten teacher was helping one of her students put his boots on. It was quite a struggle, but after a lot of pulling and pushing, they succeeded in getting one boot on, and then the other.

Then the little boy said, "But they're on the wrong feet!" The teacher looked and sure enough, he was right. Pulling the boots off wasn't any easier than putting them on was, but she managed to stay calm as they worked together to get the boots back on—this time on the right feet.

"Why are your boots so hard to get on?" she asked when they were finished.

"But these aren't my boots," the boy said.

"Why didn't you say so? Take them off." And they worked up a sweat getting the boots off again.

"Now, where are your boots?" the teacher asked.

"They're at home. These are my brother's boots. My mom made me wear them."

"OK . . ." the teacher sighed, and again they fought to get the boots back on the little boy's feet. "Now, where are your mittens?"

"I stuffed them in the toes of my boots," the little boy said.

In dreams, you can control your reality

The movie Inception explored the idea of controlling one's dreams. Although that featured collapsing cities and struggles in zero gravity, the concept of guiding your own dreams isn't so outlandish. "Lucid dreaming" can allow you to fly, conquer nightmares, and solve real-life problems.

Here's how to take control of your nighttime visions:

- Keep a dream journal. The first step to controlling dreams is remembering them. Keep a journal close to your bed, and write down any dream you have as soon as you wake up (or keep a digital voice recorder handy). Look for recurring themes—people, situations, etc. This trains your brain to become more aware of dream activity.
- Do a "dream check." Throughout the day, pause and ask yourself, "Am I dreaming?" This trains your mind to start asking the same question while you're asleep.
- Nap. Some studies suggest the best time to attempt a lucid dream is during a nap taken a few hours after getting up in the morning. If you wake up during a dream, stay quiet and try to return to the dream as you drift off again.
- Perform a reality check. After some practice, you'll start being aware of the fact that you're in a dream. To confirm this, try some experiments: Look at a clock, turn away, then look again. In dreams, the time will change. Or look at yourself in a mirror; in a dream, the image you see will be distorted or blurry.
- Take off! Once you're aware that you're dreaming, try taking charge of the environment. Jump up and down to see if you can fly, for example. If you're having a nightmare, confront the danger instead of running away; this can reduce the fear you feel when you

'Double' your brain power with this exercise

Here's a simple exercise for your brain: Pick a small number and then double it in your mind—no paper, no calculator. How far can you get?

Take the number 7, for example:

7, 14, 28, 56, 112, 224, 448, 896 . . .

Most people can get close to 10 doublings. Try reaching 20 to really test your concentration. By the way, 7 doubled 20 times is 3,670,016 (but we cheated and used a calculator).

Quotes:

I've met a few people in my time who were enthusiastic about hard work. And it was just my luck that all of them happened to be men I was working for at the time.
—Bill Gold

Don't waste time learning the "tricks of the trade." Instead, learn the trade.

People who work sitting down get paid more than people who work standing up.
