FROM THE DESK OF THE SOCIAL CLUB PRESIDENT:

I want to take this opportunity to Welcome New Residents to our community and our Old ones back!

You are all invited to join the community’s weekly events, including water aerobics, bocce, social coffee, various games and bingo nights, with a Thanksgiving celebration on the 27th featuring a cocktail hour and dinner.

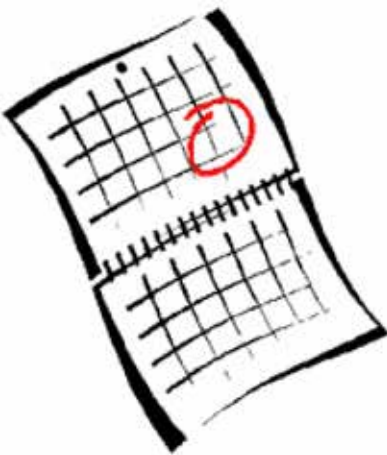

I urge everyone that has a new neighbor to welcome them by inviting them to Wednesday morning coffee and donuts or to Meet Your Neighbor held on the second Saturday of the month. Since this is our thankful month, I want to let everyone know how thankful I am for all the support and help I have received. I could not do this without you!

I know it has not been easy for any of us, but I do believe we can get our park back to what it once was. Let's get involved and count our blessings! Be kind to one another!

Happy Thanksgiving!!

SENIOR JOKE:

A friend said she didn't understand cloning, I told her that makes two of us.

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM A CONFUSED SENIOR:

So no cocaine is legal in Oregon, but straws aren't. That must be frustrating.

Still trying to get my head around the fact that 'Take Out' can mean food, dating or murder.

Dear paranoid people who check behind the shower curtains for murders. If you do find one, what's your plan?

You know you are over 50 when you have 'upstairs ibuprofen' and 'downstairs ibuprofen'.

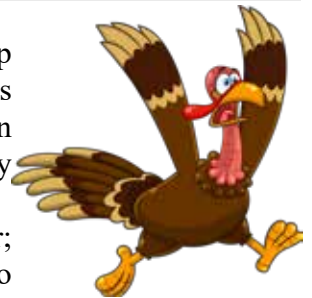

If only vegetables smelled as good as bacon.

HERE'S WHAT'S COOKIN':

Good Bye Turkey Casserole:

Ingredients: 5 Tbs flour, 1 tsp salt, ¼ tsp onion salt, ¼ cup melted butter, 2 ½ cups milk, 1 1/3 cup Minute rice, 1 ½ cups turkey or chicken broth, ½ cup grated processed American or Parmesan cheese, 1 ½ cups cooked asparagus, 2 cups sliced or diced cooked turkey or chicken, 2 Tbs toasted silvered almonds.

Directions: Blend flour, half of the salt, and onion salt into butter; then gradually stir in milk. Cook and stir until thickened. Pour rice into a shallow 1-quart baking dish. Combine broth and remaining salt, pour over the rice. Sprinkle on half of the cheese and top with asparagus; then add turkey. Pour on sauce. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Garnish with the toasted almonds just before serving.

If you have a recipe you would like in an issue, please send to jafroscoe46@yahoo.com.

Where do alligator shoes come from?

A lawyer from the big city was visiting Florida. He wanted to take home a pair of genuine alligator loafers in the worst way, but he was reluctant to pay the high prices the local vendors were asking.

He was certain that with all his legal training he could negotiate a better price, but at shop after shop he had no luck. After getting frustrated with one sales associate who wouldn't budge, the lawyer shouted, "Well then, maybe I'll just go out and catch my own alligator!"

The saleswoman smiled. "I'd like to see you try."

The lawyer turned on his heel and headed out toward the swamps, determined to catch an alligator.

Later in the day the saleswoman was driving home, and she spotted the lawyer standing waist deep in the murky swamp water, shotgun in hand, a huge 9-foot gator swimming rapidly toward him. The saleswoman pulled over as the lawyer took aim, shot, and killed the creature. With a great deal of effort, the lawyer hauled it onto the swamp bank—right next to four more dead alligators.

The saleswoman stood on the side of the road, watching the lawyer struggle to flip the gator on its back.

Then, looking up toward the sky in great frustration, the lawyer shouted, "No! This one is barefoot, too!"

A Teachable Moment

A kindergarten teacher was helping one of her students put his boots on. It was quite a struggle, but after a lot of pulling and pushing, they succeeded in getting one boot on, and then the other.

Then the little boy said, "But they're on the wrong feet!" The teacher looked and sure enough, he was right. Pulling the boots off wasn't any easier than putting them on was, but she managed to stay calm as they worked together to get the boots back on—this time on the right feet.

"Why are your boots so hard to get on?" she asked when they were finished.

"But these aren't my boots," the boy said.

"Why didn't you say so? Take them off." And they worked up a sweat getting the boots off again.

"Now, where are your boots?" the teacher asked.

"They're at home. These are my brother's boots. My mom made me wear them."

"OK . . ." the teacher sighed, and again they fought to get the boots back on the little boy's feet. "Now, where are your mittens?"

"I stuffed them in the toes of my boots," the little boy said.

Do you belong to ‘Team Coyote’?

In their book, Beep! Beep! Competing in the Age of the Road Runner, Chip R. Bell and Oren Harari discuss the messages we can learn from one of the most recognizable pair of antagonists around: Wile E. Coyote and the Road Runner. The authors describe two different cartoons:

In one, the coyote holds a medicine bottle labeled “Acme Hi-Speed Tonic—Contains vitamins R+P+M.” When he gives a spoonful to a small mouse, the rodent zooms around at jet speed. The coyote drinks the whole bottle and zips off after the Road Runner. But the Road Runner stops suddenly, sticks out his foot, and trips Mr. Coyote.

The second cartoon begins with a close shot on a box labeled: “One Acme Jet-Propelled Pogo Stick.” Wile E. removes the pogo stick from the box, switches it on, mounts it, and waits for the Road Runner. As the Road Runner races by, Wile E. begins bouncing up and down after him. But soon the coyote loses control of the stick and falls backward over a cliff.

“What these scenes show is that you cannot remain a coyote and expect to compete against road runners by simply copying their movements,” write the authors. “Sure, the coyote can buy high-speed tonic or jet-propelled pogo sticks, but his body and soul are still coyote. If you are a coyote team or organization, no matter what fads or quick fixes you jump into, you are just imitating a road runner—and the real thing will beat you every time.”

What is a moment really worth?

On the bulletin board of a California company, someone once posted this sign to remind everyone of how time is relative—but the value of time is priceless:

- To realize the value of one year: Ask the student who has failed his final exam.
- To realize the value of one month: Ask the mother who has given birth to a premature baby.
- To realize the value of one week: Ask the editor of a weekly newspaper.
- To realize the value of one day: Ask the daily wage laborer who has 10 kids to feed.
- To realize the value of an hour: Ask the lovers who are waiting to meet.
- To realize the value of a minute: Ask the person who has missed the train, the bus, or the plane.
- To realize the value of a second: Ask the person who has survived an accident.
- To realize the value of a millisecond: Ask the person who has won a silver medal in the Olympics.
