Women Working Wonders (WWW)

Kathy Sturdee

It is a brand new year! Time for new beginnings! It is that time of year when you sit back and manifest what 2026 will be like. A time for dreams and ambitions to come true. On Thursday, January 8th, WWW will be hosting an "Open House" for those in our village who have been thinking of becoming a volunteer for Women Working Wonders. We will be hosting a table with information about WWW in the lobby of the clubhouse from 5-6 pm. Come meet some of our WWW members that will be there to greet you. We look forward to meeting you. We are a very active group. We visit our residents monthly, deliver donuts or light meals. We actively got 40 people signed up in case of a hurricane to be pre-registered at a special needs shelter that included transportation. We are actively working with the Office of the Aging to get FREE services! We have been blessed to have the Seniors in Service monthly meetings. We get the information out to our 90+ residents and get them signed up with the office. We also work with Meals on Wheels for FREE services in Fairway Village. Our normal meetings are on the first Monday of the month at 11 am in the clubhouse.

Please plan to join us on Thursday, January 8th at 5 pm for our Open House and bring a friend. It is such a rewarding experience to be able to work with our residents. WWW has made an impact in my life. I have been truly blessed with my involvement with this group. Consider being a part of this. I know you will be blessed as well.

If you are new to the park and are 90+ years young or a shut in and currently are not receiving WWW services, please call Kristy Williams at 727-218-8121 and let her know. If you are interested in FREE services from the Office of the Aging, call Kathy Sturdee 727-421-7063. Please contact Charlene Pettigrew at 774-719-3419 if you will be turning 90 this year. She wants to be sure you are on the 90th Birthday Party list. Wishing you all a very wonderful New Year. Until next month, be kind. It doesn't cost anything and is always appreciated. Want to make a difference in someone's life – then come join WWW.

A Message to Fairway Village Residents About Shuffleboard

From: Wednesday Shuffleboard League

Fairway Village has always been a place of pride.

A place where neighbors step up, show up, and keep our traditions alive.

Shuffleboard is one of those traditions.

For decades, Fairway Village has been known as a shuffleboard powerhouse.

We have a trophy case so full that we're out of room.

Teams from other parks used to worry about playing us — because they knew how strong our players were.

But right now, we are at risk of losing it all.

In 2019, we had four strong teams.

Today, we are down to two.

And the Wednesday Shuffleboard League — a league that has been part of this community for years — is dangerously close to shutting down.

Out of 740 homes...

I can't find 16 players to keep the league alive.

I'm not sugarcoating it:

If this trend continues, Fairway Village will lose one of the most successful and community-driven activities we've ever had.

Shuffleboard isn't hard.

You don't need experience.

You don't even need to be athletic.

What matters is that we show up.

That we keep our traditions going.

That we don't let something meaningful disappear simply because "someone else will do it."

Right now, we ARE the someone else.

If you've ever thought about playing...

If you're new to the park and want to meet people...

If you used to play and just haven't come back...

Now is the time.

We need you.

The teams need you.

Fairway Village needs you.

Let's bring the pride back.

Let's fill the courts again.

Let's keep this league alive for the next generation of residents.

If you're willing to join or even try it out, please reach out.

One day a week makes all the difference.

Don't let Fairway Village lose one of its great traditions.

We can fix this — but only if we stand up together.

Stay healthy by managing your digestion

If you're trying to watch your weight, consider what you know about the digestive process. According to the Medical News Today website, digestion actually begins when food enters the mouth, but the entire process can take 24 to 72 hours. Food high in protein and fats, like meat and fish, takes longer; high-fiber foods like fruit and vegetables are quicker to digest; sweets like candy and pastries are fastest. To improve digestion, follow these guidelines:

- Eat a balanced diet. Concentrate on foods high in fiber: fruits, vegetables, legumes, and whole grains. Limit your meat consumption, along with processed and fast foods.
- Keep yourself hydrated. Water, juice and tea keep food moving through the digestive system and help to prevent constipation.
- Eat probiotics. These foods supply helpful bacteria that can keep the bacteria in your gut in balance. Try yogurt, kefir, sauerkraut, kimchi, miso, and fermented vegetables.
- Exercise. Regular physical activity aids the digestive tract. A simple walk can relieve bloating, gas, and constipation.
- Manage your stress. Stress can slow digestion and cause heartburn, cramping, and bloating. Practice meditation, deep breathing exercises, and yoga.
- Practice good dental hygiene. Because digestion begins in the mouth, keeping your teeth in good health is important. Visit a dentist regularly, and be sure to brush and floss daily.

One hour of exercise may relieve depression

Feeling depressed? Get moving. As the Medline Plus website reports, a survey of some 34,000 adults found that people who exercise just one hour a week have a 44 percent lower risk of depression over 10 years than those who don't exercise at all.

A Norwegian survey tracked exercise habits along with depression and anxiety risk among people with an average age of 45 who underwent physical exams and filled out questionnaires about their medical needs and lifestyles. The results showed that the intensity of the exercise didn't matter—an hour-long walk provided just as much relief as a high-impact workout.

Exercise didn't appear to have any effect on anxiety risk, but the researchers found that regular exercise for at least one hour per week was connected to a lower risk of depression, regardless of gender or activity intensity.

However, more than an hour's exercise didn't appear to further decrease the risk of depression substantially. Also, the scientists have noted that they haven't proven a direct cause-and-effect relationship between exercise and depression.

Still, it sounds like another good reason to get off the couch and start up a modest exercise routine.

Three tips to spark your brain

Everyone can be creative, as long as they're willing to give up some preconceptions about what being creative really means. Try these tactics for opening up your mind to innovative possibilities:

- Focus on intuition, not intelligence. You don't have to be a genius to be creative. Train yourself to listen to your feelings, random thoughts, dreams, and intuition. Often ideas and solutions come to us when we aren't looking.
- Give yourself space to think. Collecting data about what you're working on is good, but don't let facts crowd out your creative impulses. Set the information aside and step back to allow your mind to process it without pushing. Build some room inside your head to let ideas grow.
- Try something different. Breaking your routine can lead to creative insights. See the kind of movie you'd never ordinarily watch. Take a walk in a new neighborhood. Fly a kite, or take up a new exercise regimen. Mixing things up can help your mind look at the world in new and different ways, sparking your imagination.

How creative types have gotten into the groove throughout history

Some people take unusual steps to get their creative impulses going. From the Mental Floss website, some examples of how famous folks have jumpstarted their imagination:

- Yoshiro Nakamatsu. This Japanese inventor with more than 3,000 patents to his name dives underwater, holds his breath, and scribbles ideas on a Plexiglas board in his swimming pool.
- Leonardo da Vinci. The Italian artist and inventor honed his creative instincts by taking short naps every four hours throughout the day. He's said to have slept a total of just two hours every day.
- Thomas Edison. This inventor was also a fan of naps, with a twist: He'd sit up holding a handful of marbles and think about the problem he was working on until he fell asleep. When the marbles dropping to the floor woke him up, he wrote down whatever came into his mind, regardless of whether it offered a solution.
- Johann Wolfgang von Goethe. The German poet kept a rotten apple on his desk, insisting that it helped him write more effectively.
- Charles Dickens. The British novelist would write only at a desk facing due north.

What friends are for

Two women were discussing their weight loss goals and dieting strategies. “We should team up. We could work out together, exchange recipes, and support each other,” said one woman.

“Sounds like a plan,” replied the other.

“And when I’m craving a deep-dish pizza with a side of cheese fries, like I am right now—“

“Don’t worry, sister, I’ve got your back,” said the friend. “I could go for a slice myself and know just the place. Come on, I’m driving.”

The meaning of life

Ryan left behind a successful career and all the material trappings his wealth afforded. In his quest for a more meaningful life, he embarked on a pilgrimage to a faraway land to seek the counsel of a sage rumored to live on the summit of a mountain.

Ryan’s journey took him through villages, valleys, and forests; he hiked through rugged terrain and climbed over sharp rocks. He was exhausted once he reached the base of the mountain and camped out there for a couple of days to regain his strength before his ascent.

The climb up the mountain was grueling, but Ryan knew he would be rewarded once he reached the top and learned the meaning of life from the sage.

When Ryan finished his climb, he made it to a tiny hut where he encountered the sage sitting cross-legged in the middle of the floor. Ryan sat cross-legged across from the sage and said, “I have discarded all of my material possessions and traveled thousands of miles to learn the meaning of life from you.”

The sage cleared his throat and said, “Life ... is like ... a—” The sage dropped his head and began to snore. Ryan poked the sage on the shoulder and the sage mumbled, “What was I saying?”

“You were going to tell me the meaning of life.”

“Oh, yes,” the sage said. “Life is like a rock.” He shrugged his shoulders and then coughed.
