DECEMBER MYSTERY LUNCH IS HISTORY!!!

In December the Mystery Lunch was held at Quaker Steak and Lube. Thank you to the 44 Amber Glades residents that came out and supported this adventure. It is always fun to see everyone and try new places to enjoy food and friends! The next Mystery Lunch will be held in March.....watch this newsletter for more information.

CARPORT SALE EVENT

Many residents held carport sales, and we hope they were successful. Thank you to the Social Committee for picking up the cost of advertising for this event.

CELEBRATING NEW YEARS

The clubhouse was full of fun and celebration as we all counted down to midnight to welcome in the New Year. Friends and family celebrated as 2019 arrived with a champagne toast, hugs and kisses. Everyone enjoyed food, dancing to the great sounds of Al March, and festivities thru out the night to make it a great evening, for all who attended.

I would like to give a HUGE THANK YOU to Ann Ohr and Cindy and Bill Conley for all the help they gave me with the entire event, from the encouragement, food preparations, decorations and clean up. I could not have done this without their entire support. I also want to thank Georgia Chesney, Gail Downer and Deb Karnes for decorating and clean up, and Paul and Janet Fether for taking down all the Christmas decorations to get us ready for New Year's Eve. Thank you Don and Faye Rahrig for all the pictures that everyone enjoys so much. And, I cannot be remiss in thanking all who attended on NYE for making this a fun and successful event. Thank You Everyone!!!!!! Barb King

January Flash Mob

Although sunrise for the January Flash Mob may have been too early for most Amber Glade residents, there were 6 of us who saw the most wonderful sunrise and the early morning sea creatures at Safety Harbor Marina. It really is a nice place to visit anytime of the day with the pier to put you right in the middle of manatee, dolphins and the sea birds. You might want to put it on your schedule!

BIRTHDAY HAPPENINGS AT LOT 41

On January 28, 2019 longtime resident, Angie Ronco, celebrated her 97th birthday in style. To help her celebrate, the Suncoast Hospice Teen Volunteers arrived with flowers, a handmade throw blanket, a handmade scarf and cupcakes to sing Happy Birthday and share an hour of friendship. The teens were 2 seniors and 2 sophomore high school students, Sydney, Noelle, Pallavi and Rachel. It was a fun time and great to see teens sharing their time and helping seniors.

Cave drawing of bull is earliest of its kind

Archeologists have discovered the oldest known drawing of an animal on the wall of a cave in Indonesia, according to the U.S. News & World Report website. It's some 40,000 years old, about five feet wide, and it depicts a bull-like creature in a red silhouette.

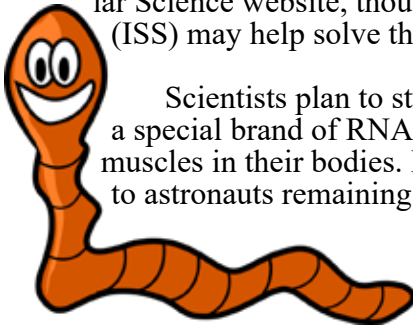

Along with similar drawings on cave walls in Borneo, the drawing sparks renewed debate about the role of art in ancient times. Similar cave paintings have been found in France and Spain, though they're just 33,500 to 37,000 years old.

Cave dwellers began sketching humans engaged in hunting activities and dancing some 14,000 years ago in both Europe and Asia. The findings raise the possibility that humans migrated from Africa to Europe and then Asia, bringing their artistic sensibilities with them.

Invasion of the space worms

Long-term space travel poses many challenges, but one of the most daunting is the loss of muscle mass in a zero-gravity environment. On a voyage to Mars, for example, space travelers could arrive on the red planet too weak to stand. Now, reports the Popular Science website, thousands of worms headed to the International Space Station (ISS) may help solve the problem.

Scientists plan to study muscle atrophy in the worms and then treat them with a special brand of RNA designed to stop the breakdown of protein and preserve the muscles in their bodies. If all goes according to plan, this could alleviate one danger to astronauts remaining in space for long periods of time.

Science is simply common sense at its best, that is, rigidly accurate in observation, and merciless to fallacy in logic.

Many Americans still worried about their finances

The stock market may be up, but many Americans are still struggling with financial security, according to a story on the USA Today website. A September 2018 Bankrate.com survey found that among people earning less than $30,000 a year, 78 percent said that their financial situation has failed to improve over the past two years, and many said it had gotten worse. On the other hand, people earning $75,000 a year or more reported feeling better about their money.

The survey found other divides as well. People 65 and older reported the least financial improvement, and millennials ages 28–37 felt the most improvement. In addition, men reported doing better in earlier years than women did.

Coffee still in demand

We sure like our coffee. The U.S. National Coffee Association's 2018 National Coffee Drinking Trends report says that the number of Americans who drank coffee in the past day is the highest it's been in six years.

According to the report, based on a study of more than 2,700 adults 18 or older, 64 percent said they drank coffee within the past day, the highest amount since 2012. This is higher than the growth from 57 percent in 2016 to 62 percent in 2017. The study also found that past-day consumption traditional coffee, defined as “regular coffee” brewed from “gourmet quality” beans, held steady over the previous years, at 16 percent. Similarly, consumption of espresso-based drinks held steady from 2017, at 24 percent.

Try these tips for healthy eating habits

If you've already slipped off your New Year's diet, it's not too late to get back on track. Just follow these tips for healthy weight loss from the Harvard Health Publishing website:

- Make a list. Keep track of what you eat and drink for at least three days. Include what you consume, where, how much, and so forth.
- Set a goal. Be specific—do you want to lose a certain number of pounds, lower your blood pressure, or something else? Identify strategies for reaching your goal in a reasonable amount of time.
- Anticipate obstacles. What might prevent you from hitting your goal? If a busy schedule might keep you from working out, plan to get up a little earlier. If an empty pantry tempts you to order take-out, spend some time looking up healthy recipes, then go to the grocery store for ingredients and make enough for a few nights of leftovers.

Start on the path to better heart health

Taking control of your heart health is one of the best ways to lead a long life. It's not that hard, especially if you follow this basic advice from the Time magazine website:

- Eat more plants. Fruits and vegetables contain fiber, antioxidants, and lots of vitamins and minerals.

- Limit animal fat. Butter and other forms of fat from animals have been linked to higher cholesterol and increased risk of heart disease. Stick to monounsaturated fats found in olive oil, avocados, and many nuts, along with polyunsaturated fats from fish like wild salmon and sardines.

- Watch your sugar intake. Many foods add sugar, which can add calories and weight. The American Heart Association recommends that women have no more than six teaspoons' worth of added sugar a day and men stick to nine—although the average intake for all Americans is roughly 22 teaspoons per day. Check the labels on everything you buy.

- Exercise often. You don't have to run for five miles every day. The American Heart Association advises about 150 minutes of moderate exercise a week, or 30–60 minutes every day.

- Stand up. Sitting for hours at a time has a negative impact on your heart. Even if you work at a desk job, make a point of getting up and moving around regularly for five to 10 minutes every hour.

- Watch your stress. Stress can heighten your heart disease risk at a rate similar to smoking and diabetes. Practice meditation and yoga to keep yourself calm and reduce your heart's workload.

The foundation of success in life is good health. That is the substratum fortune; it is also the basis of happiness. A person cannot accumulate a fortune very well when he is sick.
