MEMORIAL DAY PICNIC REMEMBERED

A great big THANK YOU to all who attended the Amber Glades Memorial Day celebration. It was a small crowd but, as usual, there was a lot of delicious dishes and great friends to share them with. For those who opted not to grill their own meat, our grill masters took care of them. John Chesney, Paul Fether, Paul Folsom and Greg Johnson did a fantastic job.

Of course these things don't happen without people volunteering to set up for them, do all the things during the event to make it run smoothly and then to reset and clean up afterwards. Thank you Millie Ricci, Randi and Richard Sandford for being so quick to volunteer your time. We also had several people who helped get everything back in order afterward. You are all the best and greatly appreciated.

Besides all the good food and being able to spend time with our neighbors, we also had a very nice presentation by Diane Holroyd. She shared a letter written by Richard's father while a soldier in World War I and another from a soldier in World War II written to her father. She also did a very emotional reading (a letter to us from our Flag), which left several in tears. Thank you Diane for reminding us all what Memorial Day is really all about.

Memorabilia from World War I was on display through the generosity of Ginger Gustafson, along with memorabilia from Diane and a table set up for the missing soldier.

Thank you to all who gave their lives in order that we may live in freedom and to all those men and women who continue to serve.

Liz Johnson

How did you get to Amber Glades?

Responses:

Liz and Greg Johnson are here because of Mike and Pam Routzon. They visited once and then a year later looked online and saw some coaches they liked. Flew down, didn't like any they had seen online, but, "Juke Box Bill" was putting a newly remodeled place up for sale and they bought it 2 days later and moved in that week.

Millie Ricci came to visit a friend in Florida and she looked around and liked a home in Amber Glades, went home, sold the house right away and moved down.

Sandy Jones married in. Enough said!

Bev Whitstine's son is a Safety Harbor firefighter and having been in Amber Glades on runs from his job liked what he saw and showed her the place. She has been here three years and it is closer to her son, in a place that's safe and very friendly.

PHONE BOOKS ARE HERE!

You can pick up a new Amber Glades Phone Book at the park office.

On the front cover you will notice that it is the 42nd Edition. Maggie McDonald has a collection of the other 41, if you are interested. She shared with me the first edition. Even her name is not listed in the 1st edition. She moved in just after it was printed. In fact, no one is mentioned in that first edition that is in this years' book.

Yes, the entire Amber Glades population has turned over in that time. And grew! In 1974 there were 203 families listed and this year 435.

Comparing the books, we find 4 different emergency phone numbers listed in the 1974 book and only one today -- 911. The first edition listed 4 area hospitals, 7 are listed today. Of these seven hospitals only 2 are the same and Mease Dunedin Hospital is the only one that lists the same phone number as 42 years ago.

Amber Glades has definitely expanded and the booklet now contains a map in the center of it so you can negotiate your way around the sometimes confusing lot numbers (SOMETIMES???)

Especially if you are new to the community and haven't figured out yet how lot #41 is right across from lot #397!

The newer book also has a listing by Lot Number, not just by last name. That way when we forgetful, older people say, "You know, the people who live down by so-and-so at the end of Jade." You can look at the Lot Number listing and find their last name and therefore look them up in the general listing for first names and phone number.

Other new features are a two year calendar and listings for the Amber Glades Office, HOA Officers, Social Committee Members and Activity Chairpersons.

Advertising helps pay for the booklet so that it is free to consumers. But, advertisers are down. In the first edition there were 20 advertisers and in today's only 6. For some reason this fact intrigues me. I can't imagine that printing costs have gone down that much, so I am inclined to believe that advertising costs have become too great for the "little" guy to afford.

[Having just run this article by my husband and critic, he points out that the first booklet was hand-set by Linotype and more manual work was involved whereas today computers do most of the work and copy machines take over collating, folding and stapling.]

Taking a looking at, and comparing the old 1st Edition of the Amber Glades Phonebook with the new one has been fun. My greatest take away from looking at the books printed 42 years apart isn't the interesting differences, but, that I found there is an emergency number for Amber Glades! It's on my refrigerator now with all the other numbers I hope to never have to use.

WELCOME TO THE NEIGHBORHOOD!

THANK YOU

First of all I want to start out thanking Mary Lynn Faiola on May 9th for driving and taking me to the hospital. ML was there for me when they told me Bob had passed away. I would not have been able to get thru it when I heard those words. She was a great help and comfort to me, helping me with the shock of my life, losing Bob. There she was, an angel beside me, with her big hugs.

Now, I would like to thank all my friends, neighbors, all those that stopped in to see me with comforting words, hugs, kisses and shoulders to lean on. Especially great thanks to Theresa Blasik, Pat Bundy and all my close neighbors, Bonnie Ott, Arlene Ackerman, Craig, Tess, Janice Rogers who also still check on me daily and I still use their shoulders to comfort me. I hope I didn't leave out any of my supporters, you know who you all are. Thank you all who came to Bob's Memorial at the church for his service. It meant a lot to me and my family to see you all there. Bob was a great husband, father, good person who loved everyone.

FOURTH OF JULY TRIVIA

- Most of the signers of the Declaration of Independence actually signed the document on August 2, 1776. Only two signed the document on July 4th.
- Three of the first 5 presidents died on the fourth of July. John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe. Adams and Jefferson both died on the same day in 1826.
- Calvin Coolidge, 30th president, was born on the fourth of July in 1872.
- The 4th of July became a legal Federal holiday in 1938.
- There is something written on the back of the Declaration of Independence. [NO! Not a treasure map as Nicholas Cage’s character claims in “National Treasure”]. Written upside down at the bottom of the signed document is, “Original Declaration of Independence dated 4th July 1776.” It is not known who wrote this or when it was written. Since parchment was normally rolled up in those days, it’s thought to have served as a label.

July CROSSWORD

Making room

A farmer lived in a small house with his wife and six children. The lack of space was driving him crazy, and in desperation he sought advice from the local rabbi.

The rabbi listened sympathetically to his problem. “I can help you,” he said, “but you must do exactly as I say.” The farmer agreed.

“Do you own any animals?”

“Yes,” the man said. “I have a cow, two goats, and some chickens.”

“Good. When you get home, bring all your animals into the house with you.”

The farmer was puzzled, but he did as the rabbi advised. The next day he returned, complaining, “Rabbi, the animals are all over my house! What should I do?”

“Go home and take the chickens outside,” the rabbi said.

The man went home and took the chickens away. The following day he went back to the rabbi’s house. “The chickens are outside, but we still have two goats and a cow getting in the way.”

“Take the goats back outside,” the rabbi instructed.

The day after that, the man returned again. “The goats are out in the yard, but the cow is everywhere.”

The rabbi nodded. “Now take your cow back to your field.”

The farmer came back smiling the next day. “It’s amazing! The house is quiet and we have room to spare! Thank you, rabbi!”

Not so obvious

A math professor had a very rapid and hectic lecturing style. He often simply turned his back on the class and scribbled equations on the chalkboard while speaking so fast many students couldn’t keep up.

One day a student asked a question about one of the problems. The professor replied, “Well, that’s obvious!” But the student persisted. The prof listened thoughtfully, nodding, then went out into the hallway to think. He paced the hall for 10 minutes, then returned to his classroom.

“I’ve thought it over,” the professor said. “I was right: It is obvious.” And he went right back to his lecture.

Balance your internal ‘thinker’ and ‘doer’ to bring ideas to life

Creative people can have dual personalities: the “thinker” who comes up with bright ideas and the “doer” who puts plans into action. How can you help them work together effectively? Follow these steps:

- Record your revelations. When an idea strikes in the middle of a task, don’t stop what you’re doing so you can ponder your brainstorm. Instead, keep a notebook where you can record sudden inspirations to review at a more appropriate time.
- Take time to think. Set aside some time each day when you can forget about performing tasks and quietly focus on shaping your ideas.
- Conduct a weekly review. Bring the thinker and doer together each week to decide how to turn vision into reality. Review your ideas, then create action steps to ensure they come to fruition.

Take the risk of being creative

Creativity is a risky business. Your best ideas may get shot down—or never even make it into the air. If your worries are interfering with your ability to find creative solutions to problems, keep this advice in mind:

- Practice. Don’t wait for the pressure of a crisis to start flexing your creativity. Envision some possible scenarios where you’d have to think fast to find a solution. When real problems arise, you’ll be better prepared to deal with them.
- Seek feedback. Look for people who can help you evaluate your ideas fairly. They should challenge you, not just say, “Great idea!” This will help keep your thinking sharp.
- Take small risks. Get used to uncertainty by using your imagination when the risks are minimal. You’ll build confidence as you learn what works and what doesn’t.
- Search for data. Be on the lookout for all the information you can gather about the problem you’re trying to solve—and about your organization and industry. The more facts you have, the better the creative decisions you’ll make.

When you’re heartbroken, you’re at your most creative—you have to channel all your energies into something else to not think about it.
