Submitted by Lakeshore Management Inc.

We were so happy to see so many residents in attendance for our Town Hall meeting on February, 13th. Thank you to all who participated and we hope to see even more of you at the next Town Hall meeting set for Tuesday, March 27, 2018 at 10:30am.

We are looking forward to supporting the Crosswinds Activity Association on Appreciation Day in March. Hope we see everyone at the event.

Crosswinds management will be providing donuts and muffins for a coffee social event on the 1st Tuesday of each month. Please come join on the fun.

Remember you can receive your monthly statement by email. Just call or stop by the office to provide your email address and let us know you want them emailed in the future.

If you would prefer to have your monthly payments paid on line or by automatic withdrawal, call or stop by the office for details.

We know how much everyone loves to share good times at Crosswinds with their friends. Don't forget our resident referral program. You can earn money for referring your friends when they purchase a home from the community. There are new homes arriving soon, so be on the lookout for friends looking for a brand new home.

It's so much fun to have everyone here in the community and we look forward to many sunny days in March.

Coffee may cut risk of death, studies say

Starting the day with a cup of coffee helps many of us wake up. New evidence suggests it may help us live a longer life, too.

In one study written up in the journal Annals of Internal Medicine, researchers at the University of Southern California's Keck School of Medicine surveyed more than 185,000 Americans for 16 years. Their results: People who drank one cup of java a day were 12 percent less likely to die than those who didn't, and people who drank two to three cups were less likely to die by 18 percent—regardless of whether the coffee was caffeinated or not.

In another study reported in the same journal, researchers analyzed data from more than half a million people across Europe, and found that higher levels of coffee drinking were associated with a decrease in the risk of death from many causes, including circulatory and digestive tract diseases.

So enjoy your cup of coffee. It may add years to your life.

Keep your muscles strong at any age

As we grow older, we often lose muscle mass. Muscle mass decline typically starts in the 40s but increases after age 50. One study of about 200 men and women ages 64-93 found that it affected 22.6 percent of the women and 26.8 percent of the men.

Take these steps to keep your muscles intact:

- Strength training. Lifting weights has been shown to increase muscle mass and may even reverse the most debilitating effects of muscle loss.
- Aerobic exercise. Healthy muscle tissue needs capillaries to infuse it with blood. Regular exercise, like a brisk half-hour walk every day, can provide this.
- Protein. Inadequate protein in the diet, or difficulties digesting and absorbing protein, may be a factor in susceptibility to lost muscle mass. Older adults may need to increase their consumption of protein to maintain their lean body mass.

Families growing in size as remarriage rises

Family relationships can be complicated these days. The Bloomberg website reports that almost a third of U.S. households headed by adults under 55 have at least one stepchild, and among couples over 55 with adult children, 33 percent have at least one stepchild. Counting stepchildren boosts the size of a family by 55 percent among Americans with grown children.

Divorce and remarriage are driving the growth. The divorce rate for older Americans has almost doubled in the last 20 years, with almost 30 percent of people over 50 having been married more than once.

Life it is not just a series of calculations and a sum total of statistics, it's about experience, it's about participation, it is something more complex and more interesting than what is obvious.

—Daniel Libeskind

Beat sleeplessness through awareness of the risks

Insomnia is becoming a problem in our society, and it's attributable to complex interactions among dozens of factors. One in three American adults don't get enough sleep every night, and that number may rise if we don't work collectively to try and improve our sleep patterns. As health care writer Anna Johansson points out, the effects of sleep deprivation are dangerous, both in the short and long term:

- Lack of focus and memory. As both a short-term and long-term effect, losing sleep can interfere with your ability to create new memories, and may make it more difficult to focus during the day. This makes it difficult to perform in most professional roles.
- Declining cognitive abilities. Sleep loss also hinders your cognitive capacity, making it more difficult to think critically or solve problems. This gets more intense with more sleeplessness over time.

- Obesity and diabetes. There's evidence to show that chronic sleeplessness can lead to obesity, as well as diabetes, which in turn can lead to even more serious health complications.
- Heart disease and mortality. Chronic lack of sleep may even increase the likelihood and severity of heart disease, and decrease your lifespan.

Living in a healthy state

Does the state where you live affect your health? Some U.S. states appear to be dramatically healthier than others, based on rates of infectious disease, obesity, smoking, infant mortality, air pollution, and other factors. United Health Foundation looked at the figures and identified the healthiest—and unhealthiest—states in the country:

Healthiest

- Massachusetts
- Hawaii
- Vermont
- Utah
- Connecticut

Unhealthiest

- Mississippi
- Louisiana
- Arkansas
- Alabama
- West Virginia

Protect your eyes when dealing with car batteries

Many people don't know that vehicle batteries contain acid and produce hydrogen and oxygen gases, making them lethal if improperly handled. It's particularly important to understand the dangers when jump-starting a dead battery. A spark or lighted cigarette can ignite the gases and turn the battery into a bomb of flying fragments and acid.

The first line of protection is to wear safety goggles when dealing with car batteries. If battery acid does splash into your eyes, though, don't panic. Flush your eyes with any "drinkable" liquid close at hand. It can be water, milk, juice, or even soda. Remember that every second counts. The longer acid sits in the eyes, the more damage it can do.

Be contrary to plumb new ideas

Following the crowd is usually a safe bet, but it doesn't usually lend itself to creative thinking. If you want to be creative, sometimes you have to go against the grain. The trick is figuring out when you have a situation that calls for you to stand out from the crowd and take a contrary point of view from the majority.

The first thing to do before launching your career as a rebel is ask yourself whether you have a good reason for your contrary opinion. Just going against the conventional wisdom for the sake of taking the other side isn't usually smart. For instance, if you think your organization should change the color of a product, but it has a long history of making the product in only one distinct color, you have to be able to back up your opinion with reasons why you think this will benefit the organization. You might believe, for example, that your product needs to be rebranded—that it has grown stale with time and overexposure. Even if you don't ultimately succeed, you'll stretch your creative muscles and show an ability to think independently, which can only boost your career.

How the famous get ahead

What makes today's richest people so successful? There's no one answer, of course, but an infographic on the MBAnoGMAT.com website looks at some of the secrets of many highly successful figures in business, science, entertainment, and more:

- Elon Musk, founder and CEO of Tesla Motors and SpaceX. He schedules his day in five-minute blocks to squeeze the most out of every minute.
- Mark Zuckerberg, co-founder and chairman of Facebook. He wears the same T-shirt, pants, and hoodie every day to minimize the number of decisions he has to make, leaving his mind free to pursue the most important ideas.
- Bill Gates, chairman of Microsoft. The computer guru reads 50 books a year.
- Richard Branson, founder of the Virgin Group. He gets up every day to exercise by swimming, playing tennis, or flying kites, and claims to get an extra four hours per day or productivity as a result.
- Peter Thiel, co-founder of PayPal. He often asks, "Why can't you get your 10-year plan done in the next six months?" He believes in staying "lean" or "unplanned," because entrepreneurship is about experimentation.
