SPECIAL EVENTS COMMITTEE PRESENTS

2017-18 SEASON EVENTS AT CROSSWINDS

We will start off our 2018 season with our Santa Claus parade, starting at 4:30pm on Saturday, December 9, 2017. Plan to decorate your bike, golf cart, or just walk in the parade to usher in the Christmas Season. Starting and ending at the Large Hall, Santa will drive through the park collecting non-perishable food donations. After the parade, join us in a pot luck dinner in the Hall where we will be asking for $5 donation for our money tree and the proceeds will be used to sponsor a family at Christmas.

On Sunday, December 17, 2017 our annual Christmas Tea will take place at the Large Hall at 2:00pm. This year's theme will be a Vintage Tea. As in past years, please bring a pair of child's pajamas and a book that we donate to Sallie House in St Petersburg.

Ending the 2018 season will be our annual Activities Appreciation Day. Set aside Tuesday, March 20, 2018 for "Denims and Diamonds" themed dinner and dance. And once again we have engaged the Oldies Rock Group Blinky & Fritz to entertain us.

Plan to join us in these events. These events don't just make our park good, they make it great!

Two busy parents

Billy ran into the house shouting, "Mom! Mom! Come quick! I just knocked the ladder over outside!"

"I'm very, very busy," his mother said. "Why don't you get your father?"

"I can't! Come on!"

"What's he doing now that's so important?"

"He's hanging from the roof!"

Man of the house

Before he left on a business trip, the father took his young son aside. "Son," he said, "I'm trusting you to take care of the family while I'm gone. You're going to be the man of the house."

Comprehending the gravity of the situation, the child replied soberly, "In that case, I'm going to need the remote."

Did you know that October is also...

Adopt a Dog Month. Each year an estimated 3 million to 4 million animals waiting in shelters never find someone to give them a safe, loving home and are euthanized. If you're thinking about getting a dog, be a hero and consider adopting from your local shelter.

Down Syndrome Awareness Month. Approximately one in every 700 babies in the United States is born with Down syndrome, making it the most common chromosomal condition. During October you can celebrate people with Down syndrome and make others aware of their abilities and accomplishments.

National Cyber Security Awareness Month. The internet touches almost all aspects of our daily life. National Cyber Security Awareness Month is designed to engage and educate public and private sector partners through events and initiatives to raise awareness about the importance of cyber security, provide them with tools and resources needed to stay safe online, and increase the resiliency of the nation in the event of a cyber incident.

National Protect Your Hearing Month. Hearing loss is a growing health issue among young adults and older Americans alike. Forty-eight million people nationwide suffer from hearing loss. National Protect Your Hearing Month is an important reminder to take steps to preserve your hearing health.

Mental Illness Awareness Week, Oct. 1-7. During Mental Illness Awareness Week, join the National Alliance on Mental Illness in shining a light on mental illness and replacing stigma with hope.

World Space Week, Oct. 4-10. More than 2,700 events in 86 countries celebrated the benefits of space and excitement about space exploration in 2016. This year's theme, "Exploring New Worlds In Space," aims to inspire even more events around the world.

National Business Women's Week, Oct. 15-21. The purpose of this observance is "to recognize women who have been the cornerstone of working in business in the United States in the past and to examine how far women in business have come."

International Music Day, Oct. 1. Initiated in 1975 to encourage the promotion of musical art among all sections of society.

World Teacher's Day, Oct. 5. Celebrate the hardworking teachers who educate our children.

Columbus Day, Oct 9. In 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue . . .

Dinosaurs may have been big softies

The popular image of dinosaurs is one of tough, ferocious creatures, but they may have been more sensitive than previously thought—at least their faces.

According to the Science News website, paleontologists at the University of Southampton used advanced X-ray and 3-D imaging to examine the skull of a large carnivorous land-based dinosaur found on the Isle of Wight and found that its snout may have actually been very tender—more like that of an aquatic creature. The dinosaur, a Neovenator, may have possessed pressure receptors in the skin of its snout, similar to those enabling crocodiles to forage in murky water.

Because scientists don't believe the Neovenator was a water feeder, they speculate the receptors may have been useful for picking meat from bones while eating and also stroking other dinosaur faces during mating.

What caused a massive extinction of sea life?

Most people know about the mass extinction of the dinosaurs millions of years ago, but paleontologists are hot the trail of another catastrophic event: the dying off by large marine animals 2-3 million years ago.

The extinction claimed the lives of up to one-third of marine megafauna, including water-based mammals, which lost 55 percent of their species. Forty-three percent of sea turtle species also died off, along with 33 percent of sea birds and 9 percent of sharks.

A team at the University of Zurich studying the event theorizes that a sudden loss of the productive coastal habitats combined with altered sea currents caused or contributed to the extinctions. The evidence suggests that large marine animals were more vulnerable to environmental changes than was previously believed.

Questions can expand your perceptions

One of the world's most famous paintings is "The Night Watch," by Rembrandt. When curators hung it in Amsterdam's Rijksmuseum, they conducted an experiment: They asked museum visitors to write down questions they had about the painting. The questions they received were varied: How much did the painting cost? Had it ever been forged? Are there any mistakes in the painting? Why did Rembrandt choose this subject to paint? Who were the people in the painting?

The curators then posted the questions, and the answers, in a room next to the gallery where the painting hung. Visitors had to walk through that room to view the painting.

Curators found to their surprise that the average length of time visitors spent looking at the painting jumped from about six minutes to half an hour.

Art lovers walked back and forth, reading questions and examining the painting. They told museum officials that reading the questions encouraged them to look closer and longer and to remember more details.

How to spot ADHD

Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder is an increasingly common and somewhat perplexing behavior problem. How do you know whether your child has ADHD or is simply going through a rough stage? Here are some clues and what your pediatrician should do:

Symptoms:

- Inattention. Your child seems not to listen often, makes careless mistakes, and fails to give attention to details; fails to follow through on directions; is forgetful in daily activities; and avoids or dislikes tasks that require sustained mental effort, such as homework.
- Hyperactive. Your child fidgets often, gets up from the seat in the classroom when he or she should be sitting down, and talks excessively.
- Impulsive. Your child often has difficulty waiting for his turn and butts into conversations or games.

What your pediatrician should look for:

- The symptoms should be present in at least two settings, like home and school, and should have persisted for at least six months.
- Doctors should look for the specific symptoms outlined by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Psychiatric Association.
- Doctors should talk extensively with both parents and teachers.
- Doctors should also investigate other conditions. About one-third of children with ADHD also have anxiety or depression disorders.

Groan if you've heard these

Who can resist a good pun—or a terrible one? Here are a few guaranteed to make you crack a smile—or someone's head:

- She was only a whisky maker, but he loved her still.
- What would you get if you threw a hand grenade into a French kitchen? Linoleum Blow-napart.
- He wondered why the baseball kept getting bigger. Then it hit him.
- How does a backward poet write? Inverse.
- Don't join dangerous cults: Practice safe sects.

You get what you pay for

A man was looking to board his horse for cheap. The first farmer he talked to said he'd give him a good deal: $25, plus he'd keep the manure for his crops. The owner thought about it for a minute, then moved on in search of a better deal.

He found a second farmer, who said he'd charge him $15, plus the manure. The owner started looking for a third deal.

He came across a farmer who offered him $5. "What a deal," he thought. Then he thought about it for a second and asked, "Wait a minute. Why didn't you ask for the manure, too?"

The farmer replied, "For $5 a day, there won't be any."

Facts about the bills in your wallet

You don't have to be a millionaire to know the value of a dollar. Here are some facts about paper money from the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing website:

- The first $1 bill was issued by the government in 1862 with a picture of Treasury Secretary Salmon P. Chase. George Washington's portrait first appeared on the $1 note in 1869.
- Dollar bills account for approximately 45 percent of all U.S. currency production.
- The lifespan of a $1 Reserve note is about 21 months. Other bills have different life expectancies.
- The first $2 bill was issued in 1862 and featured a picture of Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury.
- The first $100 bills were issued in 1862, with a picture of the American bald eagle. Benjamin Franklin's portrait first appeared on the Series 1914 Federal Reserve Note.
- The lifespan of the average $100 note is 89 months.

J.P. Morgan's negotiation tactics

J. P. Morgan loved to negotiate. Once, he told a jeweler friend of his that he was in the market for a pearl stickpin. Some weeks later, the jeweler found a perfect pearl. He put the stickpin in a beautiful box and sent it to Morgan, along with a bill for $5,000. The next day, a messenger brought the box with the stickpin in it back to the jeweler, along with a note from Morgan:

"I like the pin, but the price is too high," the note read. "If you will accept my check for $4,000, which the messenger has on him right now, I will buy the pin."

Disgusted, the jeweler refused the check, and opened the box to reclaim the pin. Inside the box, the stickpin was missing, and in its place was a check for $5,000.

When you're getting too big for your britches

Theodore Roosevelt was very good friends with William Beebe, the naturalist. Many nights, Roosevelt and Beebe would go outside and look up at the stars in the sky searching for a tiny patch of light near the constellation of Pegasus. According to The Little, Brown Book of Anecdotes, edited by Clifton Fadiman (Little, Brown), when they found the constellation, the two men would chant: "That is the spiral galaxy in Andromeda. It is as large as our Milky Way. It is one of a hundred million galaxies. It consists of one hundred billion suns, each larger than our sun."

Then, Roosevelt would turn to his friend and say: "Now I think we are small enough. Let's go to bed."

One way to attract visitors

Early in her career, the writer Dorothy Parker had a small, dingy office in the bowels of the Metropolitan Opera House building in Manhattan. Because her office was so out of the way, nobody ever came to see her. As a result, she became depressed and lonely.

One day she decided to remedy the situation. She summoned a painter to paint her door, but instead of her name, she asked him to write: GENTLEMEN.

She doubtless received many surprised visitors.
