From the desk of the president

To all residents

As you may have heard we are looking into replacing the guardhouse and the guard at our entrance with a set of access-control arms that will work automatically. Though I feel this would be a benefit for all of us, I would like to know your feelings about this, because this is a community concern. Please feel free to stop by the office and talk to me, or leave me a written note and I will get back to you.

Thank you
Dave Schultz, President

Emergency Call List

Joadee Edwards

By the time you receive this issue of the Gazette the Emergency Call List will be established. The purpose of this committee is to let you know of any emergency situation such as hurricane, fire or police issues.

You should of gotten your initial call from your emergency contact person requesting updated information. For your safety please let your contact know the following:

- B). When you will be away from your Glenwood home.
- C). If someone is residing in your home (rental/family/friends)
- D). In the future if any of your original information changes

Please program your phone with your emergency contacts name and number so you recognize the call in the future so you will answer the phone. We need you to answer the call. Leaving a message does not guarantee your knowledge of the situation.

A Birthday Party

Karen Creamer

On June 4th 2018 we will celebrate Kathryn Creamer's 100th birthday at the clubhouse. Those of you who know and love her are invited to join us 3:30 to 7 pm for cake, fun, and karaoke. We've chosen a bird theme and ask anyone wanting to join the fun to dress in the colors of your favorite bird. There are prizes for this guessing game! We will be singing songs from the last 100 years especially for Kathryn, since she enjoys music so much.

Why are we throwing a party for the birds? Kathryn has a long history of watching and identifying birds, listening to lore about them, feeding them, and listening for their songs. For years she's timed her life by the bird clock in her dining room. So...“Happy 100th Bird Day Kathryn!!”

She and her husband Jim married during World War II, and he was posted to the South Pacific. He sent many hand-drawn pictures of tropical birds home to his mother and to Kathryn. I'm sure she wished at times to fly away over the sea to be with him. She probably wrote some poetry to that affect.

During the years that Kathryn and Jim raised their two daughters the family would visit Florida every summer, and soon Jim started yearning to live in “paradise.” Here in Largo is where they settled--Glenwood, in 1980, when there were few homes and lots of tall pine trees that housed mockingbirds in the spring.

Jim and Kathryn were snowbirds for a little while after moving to Glenwood, splitting their time between their nest in Florida and their granddaughters in Indiana. When Jim died in 1982, Kathryn continued to travel back and forth in snowbird fashion by herself for many years into the late 1990s.

Kathryn's “flock” of daughters, granddaughters and their spouses, great-granddaughters and now a great-great-granddaughter have been blessed to have this cozy Florida nest to call their second home ever since, and they visit as often as possible to be tended by their “mother bird” who has always created a warm , loving environment for them..

To those of us who love and cherish her, Kathryn is Self-Confident like the Eagle, Level-Headed like the Dove, Poised like the Hummingbird, Sincere like the Owl, and Loyal like the Peacock--to name just a few of her most admirable qualities.

Always a person of faith, she knows that “His eye is on the sparrow” and has always been content here in Glenwood—even through several hurricanes and the 1992 tornado How do YOU connect Kathryn to the birds?

Needlework

Barbara Strachan

The Glenwood needlework group is suspended for the summer. We will resume the first Monday in October. We are working on newborn baby hats. If you have a little bit of yarn around and you can make them at home, or poolside this summer we will be giving them to a maternity ward in October. See me for a patter if you need one. After that we make Christmas things for the mothers and children at Kimberly House. I hope you have a great summer

TOURS AND TRAVEL

Joyce Herbort, Jo Anne Pumphrey, Carol Smerker

There are many opportunities to 'get away' over the summer months. The new buses are air conditioned and we are treated very well. We will post trips on the white sheet with tours into September. There are Broadway plays with buffets, Casino tours, sightseeing tours and some Mystery Tours. Travel is Fun has some weekend trips 2 days or longer through December. Jay Getman from Cutting Edge Travel has several cruises listed. He can give you much more information if you are interested. His number is on the listed on the sheet along with T.I.F. A deal is a deal

Ronald made a deal with his dad that if he improved his grades by the end of the school year, pitched in around the house, attended church on Sunday with the rest of the family, and cut his now shoulder-length hair, he could have access to the car throughout the summer. Ronald began to focus on his schoolwork more, took on responsibility in the home, and was the first person in the house ready for church each Sunday.

“I knew you could do it,” his dad said as looked over Ronald’s final grades for the school year. “I’m very proud of how responsible and focused you’ve been these last few months.”

“Hand over those keys, old man,” Ronald said to his father with a laugh.

“Not so fast,” his father said. “Remember our deal? Grades, church, chores, and hair.”

“Do I really have to cut my hair?” Ronald protested.

“That was our deal,” his father said.

“Can’t you cut me some slack this one time? I’ve done everything else you wanted,” Ronald argued. “It took me so long to grow my hair out. Besides, Moses had long hair, and Samson had long hair, and even Jesus had long hair.”

“Good point,” his father agreed. “They walked everywhere.”

Timeless wisdom

During the celebration of his 100th birthday, a man was asked about the secret of his longevity.

“I never smoked, drank, or ate fried foods,” replied the man. He continued, “and I exercised every day for 30 minutes.”

“Well, a lot of people observe those same practices but don’t live to be 100,” someone in the crowd observed. “Why do you think that is?”

The old man said, “My guess would be they didn’t keep at it long enough.”

After 2 years of researching into new cart manufacturers, we have chosen to represent JH Global "Star Cars" line of new vehicles. They have a 14 year proven track record in manufacturing & customer service and all of their major electrical components are US made instead of imported.

Over the years we have seen numerous new carts come and go from the market, leaving customers hanging with useless warranties and no parts available.

Ancient humans cared for others

Popular culture paints our Neanderthal ancestors as brutish and cruel, but that picture is changing, according to the Sci-News website.

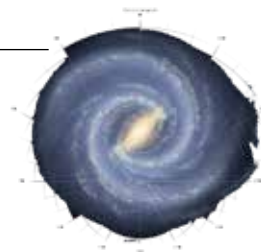

Neanderthals are known to have cared for their injured people, and new findings suggest that they took care of individuals who were suffering regardless of whether their peers could repay them in any way.

For example, the remains of one male Neanderthal 25-40 years old at time of death shows that he had a variety of diseases, including tooth loss, periodontal disease, arthritis, and other long-term health conditions. His care would have required fever management, hygiene maintenance, and helping him stay with the group when it moved its camp. For the last 12 months of his life he would have been unable to contribute much to the group, but he was carefully buried after his death.

The evidence suggests that “organized, knowledgeable, and caring health care is not unique to our species but rather has a long evolutionary history,” one scientist states.

A once-in-a billion-year spin

Galaxies rotate, just as Earth and other planets do. However, their spin is remarkably consistent, regardless of size. The Discover Magazine website reports that scientists have determine that all galaxies rotate approximately once every billion years, whether they’re massive spiral galaxies or small irregular dwarfs.

Researchers measured the velocities of hydrogen in the outer discs of a variety of galaxies differing in size. The measurements allowed them to calculate the rotation period of each galaxy. “Discovering such regularity in galaxies really helps us to better understand the mechanics that make them tick,” one scientist says.

Science is the great antidote to the poison of enthusiasm and superstition.

Exercise boosts immunity in older adults

Exercise is good at any age, but scientists now think that regular exercise as you get older may help boost your immune system and prevent infections.

An article on the BBC website reports that scientists in the United Kingdom tracked 125 long-distance cyclists, some in their 80s, and discovered they had immune systems comparable to those of 20-year-olds.

The researchers examined the cyclists' blood for T-cells, which aid the immune system in fighting off infections. The long-distance riders had the same level of T-cells as adults in their 20s, but a similar group of older adults who were less active produced fewer T-cells.

The research suggests that increased physical activity can also help older people respond better to vaccines for such infections as the flu.

These foods keep your brain healthy

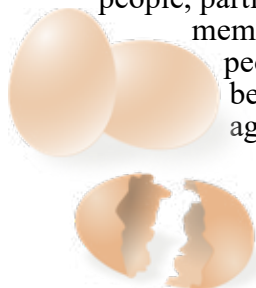

Some foods help keep your heart in shape. Others help your bones. What keeps your brain and memory healthy? The CNN website offers this list of what to eat to maintain a healthy brain as you grow older:

- Berries. Studies suggest that eating at least a half-cup of blueberries, or one cup of strawberries, on a weekly basis may help stave off cognitive decline. Berries have anthocyanidins, whose antioxidant and anti-inflammatory effects may keep the brain in shape.

- Green leafy vegetables. One study of almost 1,000 adults found that a daily serving of spinach, kale, collard greens, or arugula appeared to maintain cognitive health to the extent that participants were considered to be 11 years younger than people who rarely or never consume such veggies.

- Eggs. Eggs contain choline, which is an important brain nutrient. In a study of 1,400 people, participants with high intakes of choline scored better of visual and verbal memory tests than those who ate less foods with choline. In addition, people with a high intake of choline over the long term seem to have better MRI brain scans, suggesting that choline may protect people against dementia.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

Millennials leading in home purchases

Millennials are buying more homes than Gen Xers, baby boomers, and other age groups, according to the Builder Online website, citing a survey by the National Association of Realtors.

Thirty-four percent of all home purchases in the United States in 2017 were made by millennials, followed by Generation X (28 percent), baby boomers (30 percent), and people born from 1925-1945 (6 percent).

In 2018, the typical millennial home buyer has a higher household income than last year ($88,200 vs. $82,000). He or she bought the same size home, 1,800 square feet, for more money at a higher price—$220,000 versus $205,000 in 2017.

Millennials in 2018 have higher student debt balances than those in previous years, and more of them say that saving for a down payment is the most difficult task in buying a home.

Rentals up in the U.S.

More Americans are living in rented homes than at any point since 1965. That's from the Pew Research Center, which says that the total number of U.S. households increased by 7.6 million from 2006-2016. However, the number of households headed by homeowners has remained flat, partially because of the aftereffects of the housing crisis late in the last decade.

On the other hand, the number of rented households rose during the same time frame, from 31.2 percent in 2006 to 36.6 percent in 2016. In 1965, the rate of rented households was 37 percent.
