"Thank you for doing a very professional job on my roof. I am not easily pleased with most contractors, ASC is the exception! Your crew was on time, sometimes even early. There are no leaks and it looks great. ASC was not the cheapest, which proves you get what you pay for."

2017 Tax Tips for Canadian Residents:

Don't forget to file your Form 8840 Closer Connection with the IRS before June 15th if you were in the US in excess of 120 days for the 2017 calendar year.

If individuals rented their coach during 2017 you will be required to file the US 1040 NR. The only income (loss) you need to report is the rental income. In all likelihood there will be a loss to report as you are able to deduct all expenses attributed to the rental income. Same for your Canadian return. If you have a loss to report, the loss will be able to reduce other taxable income.

If you sold your coach in 2017 you are required to report any gain or loss on your Canadian T1. Remember to use the correct exchange rate for your cost base and sale. The cost of any improvements to the coach or property will increase the cost base. Don't forget the exchange rate. If the property is jointly owned the gain/loss may be reported 50/50 on a couple's tax returns. Failure to report a sale could trigger interest and penalties assessed by Canada Revenue Agency.

Did you know that April is also...

Alcohol Awareness Month. Since 1987, the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence has focused on raising awareness of the struggles associated with alcoholism during April. Go to QuitAlcohol.com to learn more.

Autism Awareness Month. With one in 68 children in the United States diagnosed with Autism Spectrum Disorder, the focus of this month is to educate the public in an effort to foster an atmosphere of acceptance and understanding in our society.

National Garden Month. Grow herbs in a window box, plant flowers that will attract the butterflies and bees, or cultivate a melon patch on a vertical grid. There's still time to plan what you will grow in your garden this year.

National Humor Month. Laughter truly is the best medicine, so why not strengthen your funny bone? Visit HumorMonth.com to find projects and resources that will help bring the laughter.

National Poetry Month. Reading a poem each day is one of the 30 ways the Academy of American Poets suggests you celebrate poetry this month. To learn more, visit Poets.org.

National Library Week, April 8-14. If you haven't been to your local library in a while, you're missing out on all of the free yet valuable resources they provide to your community. Visit a branch this week to learn all of the ways "Libraries Lead," which is the theme of this year's campaign.

National Volunteer Week, April 15-21. Let a cause near and dear to your heart inspire you to take action. Go to AllForGood.org to find a service project in your area and get involved this week.

Week of the Young Child, April 16-20. The National Association for the Education of Young Children shines a spotlight on the importance of early childhood education. Go to NAEYC.org to find out what you can do to engage the little ones in your life.

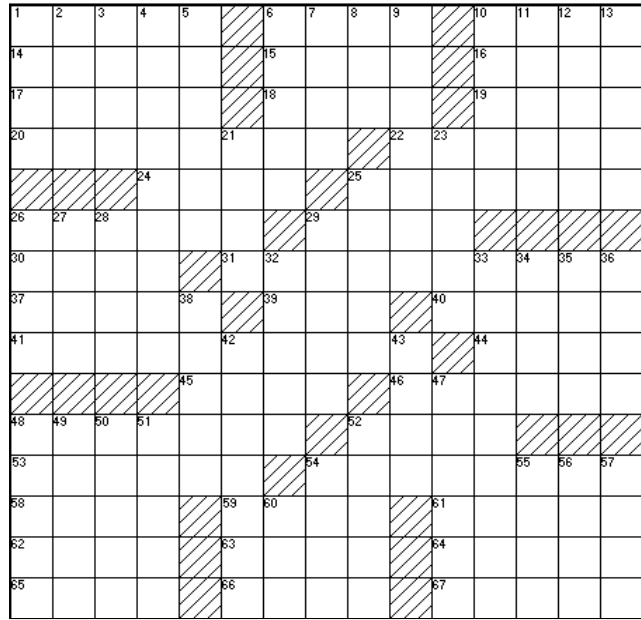

World Immunization Week, April 24-30. "Protected Together, #Vaccines Work" is the message the World Health Organization is sharing to remind individuals and governments that fatal yet preventable diseases are an all-too-common reality for more than 19 million children throughout the world.

Earth Day, April 22. Since 1970, people around the world have focused on issues that affect our planet. The theme of this year's campaign is "End Plastic Pollution." Go to Earth-Day.org to find out how you can be an environmental steward.

Burn and extinguish candles safely

Whether you enjoy candles for a romantic dinner or holiday celebration, you should handle them carefully. The National Candle Association says to properly put out a candle's flame, hold your finger in front of the flame and blow at it. The air will flow around the finger and extinguish the candle from both sides, preventing hot wax from splattering.

Other tips for candle keeping and use:

- Never leave a burning candle unattended.
- Keep lighted candles out of the reach of children and pets.
- Keep burning candles away from combustible materials like drapes.
- Store candles in a cool, dark, dry place.
- Before using, light and extinguish the candles so they burn better.
- Avoid drafts to prevent rapid, uneven burning or excessive dripping.
- Keep wicks trimmed to one-half inch.
- To remove wax from fabrics, scrape off excess and run boiling water through the material.
- Remove wax from holders by running hot water over them.
- Candles refrigerated before use will burn more slowly and evenly.
- Extinguish candles when they get within 2 inches of the bottom.

Walk safely in traffic

Now that spring is here and walking is more manageable in milder weather, here are some reminders about walking safely along busy streets:

- Stay on the sidewalk and crosswalks. If you can't avoid walking on roads with no crosswalks or sidewalks, walk facing traffic.

- Cross at intersections. Most people are hit by cars when they cross the road at places other than intersections. Make sure you stop at the curb. This signals to drivers that you intend to cross.

- Stay out of the driver's blind spot. Make eye contact with drivers when you cross busy streets.

One puff can lead to an unhealthy habit

The best way to quit smoking is never to start—a cliché borne out by a recent post on the Science News website. An analysis of survey data involving more than 215,000 participants, conducted by Queen Mary University of London, found that 61 percent of people who try one cigarette become daily smokers, at least temporarily.

As lead researcher Peter Hajek says, “In the development of any addictive behavior, the move from experimentation to daily practice is an important landmark, as it implies that a recreational activity is turning into a compulsive need. We’ve found that the conversion rate from ‘first time smoker’ to ‘daily smoker’ is surprisingly high, which helps confirm the importance of preventing cigarette experimentation in the first place.”

The advice stands—to avoid getting hooked, don’t light up in the first place.

Cut calories and time with these food prep tips

Trying to lose weight? You can save time and cut calories with just a few simple tactics. Try these, from the Health.com website:

- Chop lots of vegetables. Don’t prepare just a few vegetables for one meal. Chop enough to last for several days, so they’ll be available and you won’t feel tempted to skip them because you don’t feel like cutting more.
- Stock up on protein. Cook two or more chicken breasts at once, or hard-boil a half-dozen eggs instead of just one or two. Keep them on hand so you’ll always have a quick source of protein.
- Use storage containers wisely. Keep leftovers in small, meal-size containers instead of one large bag or bowl. You’ll find it easier to warm up or thaw out one or two meals at a time than dealing with half a frozen chicken.
- Buy canned foods. Staples like canned tuna and beans have a long shelf life and can help you prepare a nutritious meal quickly and easily. Check labels to avoid excess sodium, sugar, and other unnecessary additives.
- Measure precisely. Control serving sizes by keeping some measuring cups handy. You’ll be better able to prepare just the right amount of vegetables, beans, starches, and other foods if you measure them accurately, instead of just guessing at the right amount.

Travel trends for 2018

If you're looking to get away from it all in 2018, you're not alone. The AARP Travel survey looked at what Baby Boomers and millennials are planning for their vacations this year. Here's some of what the survey found:

- Boomers expect to take four or five trips for leisure this year, and spend about $6,400 on their travel.
- Seventy-four percent of millennials expect to take work with them.
- Fifty-seven percent of Boomers travel to spend time with family and friends, 49 percent say they travel to relax and rejuvenate, and 47 percent are looking for an escape from everyday life.
- Forty-nine percent of Boomers plan to travel only domestically, with Florida and California the most popular destinations.
- Forty-seven percent plan to travel both domestically and internationally. Top international destinations are the Caribbean/Latin America and Europe.
- Traveling abroad is a “bucket list” item for 22 percent of Boomers.

Sleep? There's an app for that

We use the apps on our smartphones for all sorts of things. One of them is tracking sleep patterns. In a survey of 934 mobile phone users by the NYU School of Medicine, 28 percent of participants reported that they use a health app to monitor how long they sleep, what time they go to bed, and whether they wake in the middle of the night, as well as whether they snore, have breathing problems while asleep or change positions.

Thirty-five percent of men and 20 percent of women reported tracking their sleep, and the average age of sleep trackers was 34. The most popular apps (of 24 named in the survey) were Fitbit (10 percent), Lose It (3.5 percent), and Apple Health (2.6 percent).

Just 5 percent makes a big difference

If you're overweight—like many Americans—you may be intimidated and overwhelmed by the thought of just how many pounds you have to lose in order to get healthy. How much is enough? Twenty pounds? Thirty?

Good news: According to NBC News' Better website, losing just 5 percent of your body weight can have significant health benefits. It can decrease your total body fat, including visceral fat that hugs your organs, as well as liver fat. In addition, it can lower your blood pressure and also increase your insulin sensitivity—all of which can cut your risk of developing type 2 diabetes.

The mask of kindness

There once lived a man who was disliked by everyone in his village because of his surly demeanor and foul temper. He was known to mumble and grumble unpleasantries to passersby and therefore had no friends. He lived alone, with the only knocks at his door coming from the rocks thrown at his cottage by the children of the village.

One day after his kitchen window was smashed by a rotten gourd, and the man visited the village elder to complain about his miseries as well as the ill treatment he felt he was subjected to by the other villagers. He demanded that something be done.

“I have a solution for your problems,” the elder said, and he disappeared into an adjoining room where he could be heard rummaging through a great many things.

He returned holding a mask of a smiling face. “What I’m about to share with you will have the power to transform your life,” the elder said.

“The only thing that needs transforming is my broken window!” the man sneered.

The elder let out a heavy sigh. “As I was saying, this mask will not only transform your life, but it will correct any grievances you might have. Though, I must warn you,” he continued, “to wear this mask carries a great responsibility, an obligation to speak kind words, think kind thoughts, and perform random acts of kindness. Can you agree to uphold this edict?”

The man grudgingly agreed, reminding the elder he was owed a new window before he put on the mask and began the walk back to his home. Along the way the people he encountered greeted him with a wave or a smile. Occasionally someone inquired about his day. Because of the mask, he felt inspired to answer with a positive remark and this led to a pleasant conversation with a neighbor who noticed the man’s broken window and offered to fix it.

As the days and weeks passed the man grew more grateful and astonished by the effect the mask had on him. Because of the mask, the man never let a stranger pass him by without expressing a kind thought; he sought out opportunities to help others; and now had friends. For the first time ever, he was happy. The mask had transformed his life.

One day there was a knock on the man’s door. It was the elder, who’d come to take back the mask.

“But without this mask I will lose the ability to smile and show kindness,” the man objected.

“The mask didn’t make you kind,” the elder said. “The mask simply revealed to you all of the possibilities that exist when you are kind.”

This substance may revolutionize solar power

Solar power is expanding at a breakneck pace thanks to breakthroughs in a crystalline material called perovskite. Perovskites can darken windows on sunny days and clear them on cloudy ones. Now scientists are using them to generate electricity.

Perovskites are a combination of elements with a specific crystalline structure. According to the AAAS website, solar panels made of perovskites are almost as efficient at transforming sunlight into electricity as the best modern solar panels. The best perovskite panels can convert 22 percent of sunlight energy into power, compared with 25 percent produced by standard silicon panels—and the building materials for perovskite are cheaper than those for today’s solar cells, making them a prime candidate for smart windows that can also act as solar panels.

We are at the very beginning of time for the human race. It is not unreasonable that we grapple with problems. But there are tens of thousands of years in the future. Our responsibility is to do what we can, learn what we can, improve the solutions, and pass them on.
