October Message from the Recreation Board

As our summer has come to a close on a year unlike any we have previously experienced, we can hopefully look forward to resuming some of our activities. All events are subject to changing health regulations. Weekly coffees will start again on Nov 5, 2020. Masks will be required along with social distancing. Activities planned for the upcoming season include: happy hours, trivia nights, Christmas Potluck, New Year's Eve Celebration, annual rummage sale, 2nd annual Chili Cook-off, Super Bowl Party, Valentine's dance, Mardi Gras Masquerade Ball, St Patrick's Day Potluck, Disco themed dance, and an End of Season Party. Wishing all snowbirds a safe and healthy return and thanks to all the year round residents for safeguarding our community.

Bringing people to the center

Shortly after being forced out of Apple Computer, Steve Jobs bought a small computer manufacturer named Pixar. In 2000, he relocated the company to an abandoned factory. The original plan called for three buildings, with separate offices for computer scientists, animators, and the Pixar executives.

Jobs immediately scrapped it. Instead of three buildings, he wanted a single vast space with an atrium at its center.

As Pixar's Ed Catmull explains, "The philosophy behind this design is that it's good to put the most important function at the heart of the building. Well, what's our most important function? It's the interaction of our employees. That's why Steve put a big empty space there. He wanted to create an open area for people to always be talking to each other."

Jobs saw separated offices as a design problem. He shifted the mailboxes to the atrium, then moved the meeting rooms, cafeteria, coffee bar, and gift shop to the center of the building. "The atrium initially might seem like a waste of space," says director Brad Bird. "But Steve realized that when people run into each other, when they make eye contact, things happen."

Jobs insisted that the best creations occurred when people from disparate fields were connected, especially in an age of intellectual fragmentation.

When you plant a tree every day

What used to be a landscape devastated by erosion is now 1,360 acres of forest, and it's all thanks to one Indian man named Jadav Payeng. Jadav planted a tree every single day for 40 years, and now this man-made forest is bigger than Central Park. This incredible forest is also home to hundreds of elephants, rhinos, boars, reptiles, and birds.

This botanical enthusiast says he is planning to plant trees until his "last breath." "Nature is God. It gives me inspiration. It gives me power ... As long as it survives, I survive."

If you want to learn more about this hero, check a short documentary at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HkZDSqyE1do>.

Stay creative in times of turmoil

We're in a time of crisis, and that makes innovative thinking harder than usual. Forbes magazine shares some suggestions for tapping your team's creativity during challenging times:

- Don't fear failure. Obviously, you want every idea you generate to succeed, but if you're terrified of a single failure, you'll paralyze your thinking. Be rigorous in your planning, but remember that not every idea—even a good one—succeeds. Don't blame people for lack of success as long as they're making a good-faith effort. Just move along to the next idea.
- Encourage ongoing innovation. Don't make innovation a single project. Sure, you can bring together a team to brainstorm solutions to a specific problem, but don't wait for issues to arise before you start devising and implementing new ideas. Remind your team members that you want them to think creatively all the time and bring up ideas whenever they occur.
- Look for mavericks. You want a diverse team to explore and implement ideas. One of the most important members is the maverick—knowledgeable in a number of subjects, not just a single discipline, and someone who's not afraid to question the conventional wisdom and buck the status quo. They're the ones who can spot genuinely innovative possibilities and integrate ideas.
- Dig for the roots of innovation. Sometimes teams and organizations lose their spark. Stuck in a rut, they can't seem to generate anything fresh. When this happens, take a good look at how creativity and innovation have shaped your organization from the beginning. What idea was your organization founded on? What is your most important mission? What obstacles have you overcome, and how did you do it? Answers to these and other questions can remind people of what they can achieve and jumpstart the innovation process again.

Creativity is just connecting things. When you ask creative people how they did something, they feel a little guilty because they didn't really do it, they just saw something. It seemed obvious to them after a while.

— Steve Jobs

WHEN TREATING A HEART ATTACK OR STROKE, TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE. EVEN DURING THESE TIMES.

Don't hesitate when it comes to getting emergency treatment.

Even during a pandemic, you still need to be treated immediately if you have an emergency. Debating whether or not to risk going to an emergency room during a heart attack, stroke or other health emergency—waiting even a few extra minutes—could be harmful. That's why in all BayCare hospital emergency rooms, patients who have symptoms of COVID-19 are isolated from other patients. This helps keep emergency room patients and our team members safe. So if it's an emergency, don't wait. For more information: BayCareEmergencyCare.org

In search of the right job recruit

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “Can you handle a variety of work?”
The applicant replied, “I should be able to. I’ve had ten different jobs in four months.”

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “Why did you leave your last job?”
The job applicant replied, “It was something my boss said.”
“What did he say?”
“You’re fired.”

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “What’s your biggest weakness?”
The job applicant replied, “I don’t know when to quit.”
“You’re hired.”
“I quit.”

Hardest worker

An old ranch owner named John had a small ranch in Montana. The state government claimed he was not paying proper wages to his workers, so it sent an agent out. “I need a list of your employees here, along with how much you pay them,” said the agent.

“Well,” replied old John, “There’s my ranch hand Silas, who’s been with me for three years. I pay him $600 a week plus free room and board. The cook, Ben, has been here for 18 months, and I pay him $500 a week plus free room and board. Then there’s the half-wit who works about 18 hours every day and does about 90 percent of all the work around here. He makes about $10 per week, pays his own room and board, and I buy him a bottle of bourbon every Saturday night.”

“That’s the guy I want to talk to, the half-wit,” said the agent.

“That would be me,” replied John.

I enjoy life when things are happening. I don't care if it's good things or bad things. That means you're alive.

Halloween is scarier than usual this year

The COVID-19 pandemic has cancelled lots of celebrations and events this year—including possibly Halloween. Many communities are weighing the risks of letting children go trick-or-treating from house to house collecting candy.

Costumes and going door-to-door for treats can be traced back to pagan and Christian rituals from the Middle Ages. Trick-or-treating became an established fixture of American popular culture in the 1950s, when Walt Disney produced a cartoon called “Trick or Treat,” and an episode of the popular TV show Ozzie and Harriet showed children overwhelming the Nelson household in search of candy.

The Insight to Action website reports that 70% of parents plan to celebrate Halloween with their kids in 2020. Sixty percent of consumers expect their Halloween spending in 2020 to be the same as last year, about $89.

How can you celebrate safely? Consider these options from the Retail Me Not website:

- Decorate your home. Spooky lanterns, carved pumpkins, cobwebs, and hanging skeletons can still induce that thrill that makes Halloween so enjoyable.

- Zoom parties. Host a costume party via Zoom. Invite friends and kids to show up in their scary costumes and display their creativity.

- Trunk-or-treating. Some communities are organizing events in schools, church parking lots, or neighborhood driveways. Trunks are filled with candy, so kids can go trick-or-treating from car to car. Keep plenty of responsible adults on hand to supply hand sanitizer as costumed children collect their goodies.

- Drive-in movies. With indoor movie theaters shut down for the duration, drive-ins are experiencing a renaissance. Older kids may enjoy being creeped out by Night of the Living Dead, A Nightmare on Elm Street, or even (obviously) Halloween.

We make up horrors to help us cope with the real ones.

— Stephen King

Hurts all over

A retired man went to the doctor and said, “Doc, I ache all over. Everywhere I touch it hurts.”

The doctor replied, “OK. Touch your elbow.” The guy touched his elbow and winced in genuine pain.

The doctor, surprised, then said, “Touch your head.”

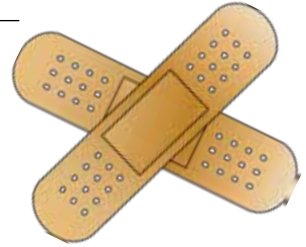

The guy touched his head and jumps in agony. The doctor asked him to touch his knee and the same thing happened. Everywhere the guy touched hurt a lot.

The doctor was stumped and ordered a complete examination with full-body X-rays. He told the man to come back in two days.

Two days later the man came back and the doctor declared, “We’ve found your problem.”

“Oh, yeah? What is it?” asked the retiree.

“You’ve broken your finger.”

Laughing gas

Hate going to the dentist? These jokes may ease the pain:

A little boy went to the dentist, who found a cavity that had to be filled. “Now, young man,” asked the dentist, “what kind of filling would you like for that tooth?”

“Chocolate, please,” replied the youngster.

Young man: “My dentist said bacon and soda are just as good as toothpaste.”

Parent: “That’s ‘baking soda.’”

If I brushed my teeth with half the energy I do 15 minutes before going to the dentist, I’d never have a cavity.

The person who can bring the spirit of laughter into a room is indeed blessed.
