Luck at the track?

Joe was reading his paper one morning when his wife walked up behind him and smacked him on the back of the head with a frying pan.

“What was that for?” Joe asked.

“I found a slip of paper in your pocket with ‘Hot Sue’ written on it.”

“Jeez, honey, remember last week when I went to the track? ‘Hot Sue’ was the name of the horse I bet on.”

She shrugged and walked away.

Three days later Joe was reading his paper when his wife walked up behind him and smacked him on the back of the head again with the frying pan. “What was that for?” he asked.

“Your horse just called.”

At the movies

A man with an elephant walked into a movie theater.

“I’m afraid I can’t let your elephant in here, sir,” the manager said.

“Oh, I assure you, he’s very well behaved,” the man said.

“All right, then,” the manager said. “If you’re sure.”

After the movie, the manager said to the man, “I’m very impressed! Your elephant was well behaved, and he even seemed to enjoy the movie!”

“Yes, I was surprised, too,” said the man. “He hated the book.”

There is nothing in the world so irresistibly contagious as laughter and good humor.

— Charles Dickens

A kindly gesture

A man was walking down the street one day when he noticed a boy trying to press a doorbell on a house across the street. However, the boy was very small, and the doorbell was too high for him to reach.

After watching the boy's efforts for some time, the man walked up onto the porch behind the little fellow and, placing his hand kindly on the child's shoulder, leaned over and gave the doorbell a solid ring.

Crouching down to the child's level, the man smiled kindly and asked, "And now what, my little man?"

The boy laughed. "Now we run!"

Afraid of the dark

A little boy was afraid of the dark. One night his mother told him to go out to the back porch and bring her the broom. The little boy turned to his mother and said, "Mama, I don't want to go out there. It's dark."

The mother smiled reassuringly at her son. "You don't have to be afraid of the dark," she explained. "God is out there. He'll look after you and protect you."

The little boy looked at his mother very hard and asked, "Are you sure He's out there?"

"Yes, I'm sure. He is everywhere, and He is always ready to help you when you need Him," she said.

The little boy thought about that for a minute and then went to the back door and cracked it a little. Peering out into the darkness, he called, "God? If you're out there, would you please hand me the broom?"

Life is worth living as long as there's a laugh in it.

WHEN TREATING A HEART ATTACK OR STROKE, TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE. EVEN DURING THESE TIMES.

Don't hesitate when it comes to getting emergency treatment.

Even during a pandemic, you still need to be treated immediately if you have an emergency. Debating whether or not to risk going to an emergency room during a heart attack, stroke or other health emergency—waiting even a few extra minutes—could be harmful. That's why in all BayCare hospital emergency rooms, patients who have symptoms of COVID-19 are isolated from other patients. This helps keep emergency room patients and our team members safe. So if it's an emergency, don't wait. For more information: BayCareEmergencyCare.org

Focus on these three components of creativity

Creativity is more important than ever these days, and it takes more than a bolt of inspiration. According to an article on the London Business School website, expert Teresa Amabile believes that creativity has three basic components:

- Expertise. This includes technical, intellectual, and procedural skills. For example, with ventilators in short supply at the beginning of the COVID-19 outbreak, researchers at University College London teamed up with engineers from Mercedes AMG to create a new device, the Continuous Positive Airway Pressure (CPAP), which got approval from health regulators and was available to hospitals within a week of launch.
- Thinking skills. South Korean health experts, cooperating with businesses and students, used their creative thinking skills to produce a drive-through test for the virus, along with a sterilizer that sprays people entering exhibition halls, a mobile app to track the health status of overseas visitors, and a website to counter fake news about the coronavirus around the country.
- Motivation. It's crucial for leaders to influence motivation—especially intrinsic motivation that comes from within, not extrinsic motivation that depends on rewards. In France, large companies joined together to produce 10,000 ventilators in 50 days. In the U.K., a similar challenge began with production of 10,000 COVID-19 tests a day, which was quickly raised from 25,000 and then 100,000. Such stretch challenges have to be seen as achievable to build confidence and draw the diverse talent necessary to meet it.

Take any challenge as a creative opportunity.

— Alexandra Watkins

There is no recipe, there is no one way to do things — there is only your way. And if you can recognize that in yourself and accept and appreciate that in others, you can make magic.

— Ara Katz
