Knock, knock who is there? Not a health agent.

Michael Crotts
FL Licensed Independent
Health Insurance Agent

Medicare has very strict rules prohibiting the enrollment into most products via door-to-door sales. Still many seniors are experiencing unsolicited calls and visitors. Making a decision about your health coverage is important and should be done every year, but not by someone who shows up on your doorstep or is cold calling you. At Best Plan Choice, we encourage you to find out how good a full-service health agency can be for you. We work directly with individuals, groups and communities to bring our services to you, at your request.

During the annual enrollment season for Medicare health coverage (Oct 15-Dec 7) we host seminars with free coffee and dessert (see our enclosed insert or call 855-BOOMER65). Throughout the year, we are available to present every available plan, assist you with customer service issues or become your agent if you need one.

Are you debating if you need Medicare Part B? We can show you how to save money on your Part B premium each month. Do you need financial assistance? We can help you apply for Medicaid or extra help for the high pharmacy costs you may have. Is your spouse still working to provide health insurance for you? We may have options which will start their retirement sooner. We will provide a complete needs analysis during a personalized appointment so you can make the best plan choice for you. As always, our services are without charge or cost to you. Call us at Best Plan Choice, where Clients become Friends, and Friends become Clients!

Busy as a bee—even when the bees are sick

Honeybees are hard workers—even when they're sick. The (e)Science News website reports that researchers using radar technology have learned that honeybees continue to seek and collect honey for their hives even when they're suffering from infections or viruses.

The scientists mounted tiny, lightweight transponders to bees' thoraxes, enabling them to track individual bees using a radar signal. Studying the flight paths of 78 bees, the researchers found that although the sick bees didn't fly as far or as long as their healthy counterparts, they continued their search, suggesting that bees are hardwired to seek and procure honey even when they're ill.

Copper bracelet suggests vast ancient trade network

An ancient copper band unearthed with cremated human remains in Georgia suggests that Native Americans may have traded across greater distances than previously was thought, according to the EurekAlert website. The band, a little wider than a bracelet, came from the Great Lakes region some 1,500 miles away. Scientists were able to determine the band's origin because copper sources have a unique chemical makeup.

The fact that the Native Americans were cremated is also significant, because cremation was unknown in the Southeast United States during the time period the bracelet dates from—some 3,500 years ago—but was commonly practiced in the Great Lakes region and other northern regions. This suggests that our ancient ancestors may have had connections across large distances, allowing for wide trading networks across North America.

The question is one of judgment. For the distinguishing element of science is not intelligence but judgment. Or perhaps it is simply luck.

Is it a headache—or a brain tumor?

Is that headache a sign of a serious medical problem? Maybe, but don't panic. A severe headache makes many people worry that they have a brain tumor, but according to The Cut website, the time to worry about brain tumors is when you have a headache combined with vomiting. These types of headaches come on suddenly, often at night, and feel worse when you're lying down. Over time they'll create other symptoms—numbness, weakness on one side of the body, and speech and vision difficulties.

More likely, a severe headache is either a migraine or a cluster headache. Both of these tend to appear in one side of the head. Some 36–44 million Americans suffer from migraines, which can last up to 72 hours. Cluster headaches also occur on one side of the head, and come in waves—people may have up to eight per day. They're more painful than migraines, but they're also over more quickly, lasting from 20–45 minutes.

Seek treatment, but don't worry yourself sick about brain tumors.

Doctors shortchanging patients, study says

Doctors are busy people—sometimes too busy. A study conducted by the University of Florida found that patients, on average, have only about 11 seconds to tell their doctors what's wrong with them before the doctor interrupts, sometimes sidetracking the interview. That may have something to do with the study's other finding—that doctors identified the patient's reason for the visit correctly only about 36 percent of the time.

The researchers offered several explanations for the situation: physician burnout, time constraints caused by the necessity of dealing with health insurance issues, and limited training in patient communication skills for physicians trained before 2004 (after that, training put more emphasis on communicating with patients).

Surprising sources of pain

The causes of pain aren't always obvious. Consider these unexpected sources:

- Back pain. Taking your vitamins? Chronic back pain can be caused by low levels of vitamin D. Another possibility: constipation caused by blockage in the colon. Eat more fruits, vegetables, and fiber for better digestion. (Source: Prevention magazine)
- Headache. Cheese may be the culprit. A substance called tyramine in cheese can trigger headaches. Also, low blood sugar can create a headache even before you realize you're hungry. A snack like whole-grain crackers with peanut butter can bring quick relief. (Source: the WebMD website)

Monthly

National Gratitude Month. You don't have to wait for Thanksgiving to show your gratitude and appreciation. There's something to be grateful for every morning you wake up. This November, challenge yourself to greet each day with an attitude of gratitude.

National Healthy Skin Month. Summer is long gone, but you should still be wearing sunscreen and taking other steps to keep your skin hydrated this time of year. Make an appointment with your dermatologist for a skin check and find out what you should be doing to ensure that the largest organ of your body stays healthy.

National Inspirational Role Models Month. What better way to show our gratitude this month than by honoring those who've offered us the foundation of a good example? Keep that legacy alive by committing to passing along that example to others.

National Novel Writing Month. If penning a novel is on your bucket list, this is the month you can check it off. You have 30 days to crank out a masterpiece of 50,000 words. For inspiration, ideas, and more information, visit: <https://nanowrimo.org/>.

Weekly

American Education Week, Nov. 12–16. Each year the National Education Association highlights the value of our public school system and the tireless efforts of those involved with it. This is an opportunity for parents and community leaders to learn more about their local schools and get involved to ensure their ongoing success.

National Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week, Nov. 10–18. Since 1975, the week before Thanksgiving has been designated to raise awareness to the issues surrounding hunger and homelessness. To learn more, or find volunteer opportunities in your area, go to <https://hhweek.org/>.

National Game and Puzzle Week, Nov. 18–24. What better way to entertain the crowd during the week of Thanksgiving when several generations of family converge under one roof? Grab a deck of cards for a friendly game of Go Fish, dust off the checker board for a tournament with bragging rights until next year, or help your Aunt Liz work a crossword puzzle. Make your home “Game Central” this week.

National Deal Week, Nov. 19–25. The day before Thanksgiving kicks off the holiday shopping season. This week many retailers will offer deep discounts on just about everything imaginable. Whether you prefer to shop online or stand in line at a store at 3 a.m., make sure you get the best deal possible.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word – the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

Reading for pleasure is on the decline

Whether it's because of the internet, binge TV watching, or other factors, reading for leisure has declined in the United States over the past two decades. A survey from the Bureau of Labor Statistics found that leisure reading has dropped by more than 30 percent since 2004, when approximately 28 percent of Americans 15 and older read for pleasure on a given day. In 2017, that figure had dropped to 19 percent.

“That steep drop means that aggregate reading time among Americans has fallen from an average of 23 minutes per person per day in 2004 to 17 minutes per person per day in 2017,” according to The Washington Post, which reported on the survey.

The decline is sharper among men, whose reading for pleasure dropped from 25 percent to 15 percent. Among women, leisure reading fell from 31 percent to 22 percent.

The survey, the Post notes, was based on a nationally representative sample of about 26,000 people who answered questions and filled out detailed diaries about what they spent their time on the previous day.

The digital divide on online shopping

Online shopping is more common than ever these days, but some people do it more than others—women, specifically. According to a survey by First Insight, men prefer shopping at physical brick-and-mortar stores, whereas women are more likely to shop via the internet.

For example, the survey found that 60 percent of women frequently shop on Amazon, but only 46 percent of men. Similarly, 40 percent of women frequently use their mobile devices to shop, but only 22 percent of men do.

The divide holds on comparison shopping online: Thirty-one percent of women will compare prices on a mobile device while in a store, but just 21 percent of men do. Sixty-seven percent of women will check product prices on Amazon before making a purchase, compared to 54 percent of men.

One area where men are in the lead? Help from artificial intelligence. The survey found that 51 percent of men will use AI to research prices, but only 46 percent of women do the same.

Family Owned & Operated

For Over 3 Decades!

A heartfelt request

Emma came home from work one Tuesday evening with no idea how her life was about to change. Mixed in with her daily mail was a handwritten note addressed simply to “neighbor.” The handwriting on the envelope and the note inside was in a shaky hand that reminded Emma of her late grandmother’s penmanship.

The return address on the envelope was for a house across the street that Emma believed to be vacant. The curtains were always closed and in the few years since Emma and her family moved into the neighborhood, they never saw anyone enter or leave the house across the street.

The note inside the envelope read:

Dear neighbor,

I see you with your family and you seem like a very nice person. I was wondering if we could be friends. I am 93 years old and no longer have any family. I am very lonely.

The note was signed by a woman named Allison.

In just a few lines Emma was reduced to tears. She thought of her own grandmother, who she’d just buried a few months ago, and how the loss of her passing was still present. Then she thought about how much loneliness and courage it would take for an elderly person to reach out to a complete stranger, hoping to make a connection.

The next day, after Emma sent her kids off to school, she walked over to Allison’s house and knocked on the door. She was greeted by a petite older woman with dazzling blue eyes. For the next few hours they got to know a little about each other over a pot of coffee and warm banana bread. Over the next few years Allison became a surrogate grandmother to Emma and her family.

As we embark upon this festive season of feasting and holiday observances, let us remember that the person in the next cubicle, living down the hall or across the street may be left out of these good times. Reach out in the spirit of friendship and inclusion to warm the heart of a lonely person through a selfless act of kindness.

Fortunately, somewhere between chance and mystery lies imagination, the only thing that protects our freedom, despite the fact that people keep trying to reduce it or kill it off altogether.
