National Hot Tea Month. What better time of year to settle down for a nice relaxing cup of hot tea? According to the Tea Association of the U.S.A. Inc., tea’s health benefits include antioxidants, which aid in cancer risk reduction, increased blood flow for cardiovascular health, and increased energy expenditure that may help combat obesity.

National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month. Aimed at raising awareness of the many forms of human trafficking that still plague the world today: “Children forced to take part in armed conflict or sold to brothels by their destitute families, men and women who toil for little or no pay, who are threatened and beaten if they try to escape,” as the 2013 presidential proclamation put it.

National Volunteer Blood Donation Month. When you give blood at your community blood center, you can save up to three lives. Blood is always needed—up to 40,000 pints every day. Find your local blood donation center to find out more about how you can help.

Train Your Dog Month. Did you know you can start training your puppy when he or she is just seven weeks old? Dogs, like people, are learning every second of the day. For a truly well-mannered dog, you need to reinforce the positive behaviors. “Use it or lose it!” is a good maxim to follow when teaching your dog. For training tips, go to www.trainyourdogmonth.com.

Millennials dreaming the American dream

The American dream of buying your own home is alive and well, but surprisingly, it's stronger among the members of Generation Y than their older friends. The most recent U.S. Housing Confidence Survey found that among millennials (age 18-34) who currently rent their abodes, 82 percent are confident about their ability to someday purchase a home of their own, while only 62 percent of Generation X renters (age 35-49), and only 48 percent of baby boomers (age 50-64) feel the same.

And despite the real estate crash of a few years ago, millennials are more bullish on property values, with 33 percent expecting the value of homes to rise in the coming years, compared to 21 percent of Gen Xers and 15 percent of the boomer population.

Maybe they're just naïve, but millennials seem to have more traditional opinions about housing than their older forebears: Sixty-five percent agree that owning a home is necessary to living "the good life," and 46 percent feel that home ownership is a requirement to being considered a respected member of society. In both areas, Generation X and baby boomers exhibit lower levels of agreement. Are they more realistic, or just shell-shocked and cynical? Only time will tell.

Eat right to avoid the flu

It's never too late to protect yourself (and your friends and family) from the flu. A flu shot may be your best line of defense, but you can also keep the flu virus at bay with help from these foods:

- Chicken soup. Once again, your mother was right. Chicken soup provides fluids that help fight off viruses, and it can reduce inflammation and other symptoms of the flu.
- Garlic. Compounds in garlic (also onions) known as allion and allicin have an antiviral impact. For maximum effect, chew a raw clove every three to four hours. If necessary, try chopping the clove into smaller pieces to swallow like pills.
- Pumpkin seeds. The zinc in pumpkin seeds is said to help white blood cells fight off disease.
- Citrus fruits. The vitamin C found in most citrus fruits (as well as red bell peppers, broccoli, sweet potatoes, and other foods) can reduce cold and flu symptoms by up to 25 percent.
- Blueberries. Antioxidants are more plentiful in blueberries than in lots of other fruits and vegetables. Eat half a cup a day during flu season. Fresh blueberries are best, but even frozen ones offer strong benefits.

Early riser vs. nighthawk: Who's better off?

Are you the early bird who gets the worm, or a night owl burning the midnight oil? The answer may have an impact on your health—and even your career.

One study cited in U.S. News & World Report found that teens who are early to bed and early to rise tend to be in better health than their peers who stay up late and sleep in, even if they get the same amount of sleep. And other studies suggest that morning people do better at resisting fatigue, anxiety, and depression, while nighthawks appear to suffer higher rates of insomnia and ADHD. The stay-up-late crowd may also have a higher propensity for substance abuse, addictive behaviors, and mental health problems.

But being a night owl has its advantages, too. Research also indicates that they can have higher IQs, more stamina during the day, better reasoning and analytical skills, and greater creativity and productivity. These traits, along with an inclination toward more risk-taking, seem to contribute to night owls having a higher average level of financial and career success.

The Mayo Clinic website notes that our sleeping habits are governed by the body's natural 24-hour cycle, known as the circadian rhythm. Some people have a slightly longer light-to-dark ratio, making them night owls; others with a short cycle tend to be early risers. However, the cycle can shift over a person's lifetime: Young children are usually early birds, then become nighthawks as teenagers, then gradually transition back to being morning people as adults.
