Thanksgiving Dinner

Thanksgiving Dinner

Sixty five resident and guest attended Thanksgiving Dinner. Three turkeys and one ham was cooked and cut by Wally Schultz and Larry Byrd. Kathy Schultz made the mashed potatoes, Roberta O'Brien made jello cream salad, Janice Jones made the green bean casserole and Diane Pelkey cut the pies. Michle, Isabel Wally Schultz, Bob Vogel and Ben Jackman helped with the cooking and setting up. Diane Pelkey sold the 50-50 tickets

Larry and I would like to thank the numerous people that joined in to serve and clean up after the dinner. Of course we can't forget to thank Diane Desorchers for her lovely decoration.

Share of the Wealth was won by Linda Keenan

A NOTE OF GRATITUDE

Thanks to my husband, Wally and the "little" elves who helped me put up the Christmas decorations throughout the park. We tried to cover every lamp post and entry way into the clubhouse. The elves who did the poles were: Diane Desrochers and Patricia Wright. The elf shopper, Penny Campbell, obtained the colorful bows. Residents have stated the results are beautiful. Thank You All.

Heat olive oil and garlic

Add Tomato Sauce and pepper, Cook for five minutes. Serves 4

Jokes

Little Johnny was thrilled when his turn came to enter kindergarten. To make sure he had plenty of time to eat breakfast and get ready on the first day, his mother woke everybody up early -- so early that it was still dark. After looking outside Little Johnny went down the hall and found his mother dressing in the bedroom. He looked so troubled that his mother asked, "What's wrong?" mustering as much cheerfulness into her voice as she could at that hour. "This is your big day!" Little Johnny blurted, "You didn't tell me I was going to night school."

During a funeral for a woman who had henpecked her husband, drove her kids half nuts, scrapped with the neighbors at the slightest opportunity, and even made neurotics of their cat and dog with her explosive temper. As the casket was lowered into the grave, a violent thunderstorm broke, and the pastor's benediction was drowned out by a blinding flash of lightning, followed by terrific thunder. "Well, at least we know she got there all right," commented her husband.

Giving a man his physical, a doctor noticed several dark, ugly bruises on his shins, so he asked, "Do you play hockey, soccer, or any physical sport?" "Not at all. I just play bridge with my wife."

A man takes his place in the theater, but his seat is far from the stage. He whispers to the usher, "This is a mystery, and I have to watch a mystery close up. Get me a better seat, and I'll give you a handsome tip." The usher moves him into the second row, and the man hands the usher a quarter. The usher leans over and whispers, "The wife did it."

Two blonde girls were taking their first train trip to Arkansas on the train. A vendor came down the corridor selling bananas which they'd never seen before. Each bought one. The first one eagerly peeled the banana and bit into it just as the train went into a tunnel. When the train emerged from the tunnel, she looked across to her friend and said, "I wouldn't eat that if I were you." "Why not?" "I took one bite and went blind for half a minute."

An atheist complained to a friend, "Christians have their special holidays, such as Christmas and Easter; and Jews celebrate their holidays, such as Passover and Yom Kippur; Muslims have their holidays. EVERY religion has its holidays. But we atheists," he said, "have no recognized national holidays. It's an unfair discrimination." His friend replied, "Well... Why don't you celebrate April first?"

It is well documented that for every mile that you jog, you add one minute to your life. This enables you at 85 years old to spend an additional 5 months in a nursing home at $5000 per month.

"The Supreme Court ruled that the government has the right to seize your land. And today Native Americans said, what else is new?" --Jay Leno

Turkey Shoot

Turkey Shoot

On Wednesday, January 23 we will hold our annual turkey shoot competition. You don't bring guns but our shuffle sticks and quarters. It's a fun game and anyone can play even if you don't shuffle. It is very simple and will be explained before game starts. It cost a quarter for each round you want to play with a limit of three rounds. Money collected will be split for three top scores. After the game, Pizza will be served to all that play.

Shuffleboard

Two of our first three games were cancelled. The one game we did play was a hard game on the court that every team does not look forward to. It is super fast and uneven. We are always glad to get this one over early in the year. We did have a two game winner, Jim Quaile, and three of our newer players split, Roberta O'Brien, John Holmes and David Dusablon. Our new players are learning fast and hopefully will help our struggling team out of the basement.

At the shuffleboard meeting in December Polly Pifer won the share of the wealth.

Activities

As the new year is upon us we start out wishing everyone a Happy Birthday !

Our park wide Birthday Party will be on Sunday January 20th with Happy Hour at 4 and Dinner at 5 . EVERYONE in attendance will receive a GIFT. FREE for residents and $5 for guests. Next up is my favorite HORSE RACING ! Come place your bets and win win win ! Bring your nickels and dimes because that's what it takes to bet on your favorite nag ! Sunday January 27th . Horses hit the gates at 2 p.m.. We will have Pizza following the races for those in attendance and guests are $5. Hope to see you all there !

HOA

At the December meeting we were unable to elect our new Board of Directors because we did not have a quorum. Please attend the meeting on Jan. 8 and cast your vote

The rest is history

This is the time of year we dream big, vow to make changes, create goals, and promise to transform into a new and improved version of ourselves. Then we allow life and other responsibilities, naysayers, doubt, and fear to veer us of course.

As you follow your bliss and explore your passions, draw inspiration from the following individuals who found success in spite of the odds against them:

- Fred Astaire. He sang and danced his way into our hearts on the silver screen, but his first audition for a major studio was a bomb. The executives were underwhelmed by his performance and offered this critique of Astaire: “Can’t act. Can’t sing. Slightly bald. Can dance a little.”
- Wayne Gretzky. Widely regarded as one of the greatest pro hockey players, Gretzky was considered too slow and too small at the start of his career. The popular opinion was he’d never be a success in the NHL.
- Sir John Gurdon. He is a pioneer in the fields of nuclear medicine, cloning, and cellular development. Among his many honors are a cancer research facility named in his honor and a Nobel Prize. Yet Gurdon finished last in his prep school biology class because his ideas about science were not aligned with the curriculum of that time.
- Im Dong-Hyen. This South Korean archer has won medals and set records. He even competed in the 2004, 2008, and 2012 Olympics—despite being legally blind.
- George Lucas. There wasn’t a single studio in Hollywood interested in Lucas’ script for Star Wars. He endured four years of rejection before an executive at 20th Century Fox decided to give Lucas a chance—not because he liked the script, but because he liked Lucas’s film American Graffiti.

What you know

A CEO was asked by a new hire for any words of wisdom that would be helpful in developing a successful career. “Never lose your sense of curiosity, and always be on the quest to learn something new,” was the executive’s reply.

“When I first started here,” the executive continued, “I never imagined that I would one day become the CEO. In fact, I wasn’t sure if the job I had was a good fit, so I worked in different departments over the course of a few years. Then I became curious, and everything I learned led me on a quest to learn more.

“I talked with the salespeople and learned about the market for our products. I toured the factories and saw how the products were assembled. I even traveled around the world to visit different vendors who supplied materials for everything we manufacture.

“Being successful,” the executive said, “is not about what you study or what you read or what you think. It’s about what you know.”

Coffee aids in kidney disease fight, study says

Among coffee's health benefits may be a reduced risk of death from kidney disease, according to the Healthline website.

A study recently written up in the journal Nephrology Dialysis Transplantation examined data from 4,863 Americans.

The subjects were divided into four groups. Group One consumed the amount of caffeine in one cup of iced tea per day. Group Two took caffeine equivalent to one cup of coffee per day. Group Three had one or two cups, and Group Four had multiple cups per day.

Subjects in Group Two, researchers found, had a 12 percent lower risk of dying from kidney disease. Group Three showed a 22 percent lower risk, and Group Four, which consumed the highest amount of caffeine per day, saw a 24 percent lower risk.

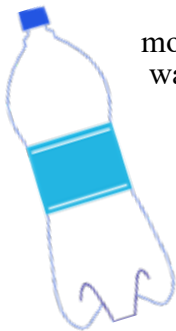

Scientists caution that caffeine poses other health risks, and patients on fluid-restricted diets should take coffee into account of their daily fluid intake. Cream, creamers, and syrups can also cause problems for people with kidney disease, including increased phosphorus and potassium levels. Check with your doctor, as always.

Water might help reduce women's UTIs

Women who suffer from frequent urinary tract infections (UTIs) may find relief by simply drinking more water, an article on the WebMD website advises.

A yearlong study in Europe followed 140 premenopausal women who experienced recurring UTIs at high rates. At the beginning, the subjects drank less than six eight-ounce glasses of water per day. As the year went on, half the participants drank slightly more than six glasses, while the rest kept to the same regimen.

Researchers found a significant reduction of UTIs among the women who drank more water per day. The average number of UTIs among subjects in the first group was 3.2, but dropped to 1.7 for women whose water intake increased.

“Drinking more water to improve one’s health is probably safe and, if tap is used, pretty inexpensive,” said one doctor (who was not involved in the study). “Producing additional urine—and thus increasing voiding frequency—may raise one’s awareness of the importance of keeping the bladder as empty as possible, which can help reduce UTIs.”

A New Year's resolution for fiscal fitness

Most New Year's resolutions revolve around getting fit. Although that frequently means losing weight, one area you want to fatten up is your money supply. Here are some simple resolutions for adding some healthy heft to your overall financial profile:

- Pay down your mortgage. You can save more than $63,000 on a 30-year, $200,000 mortgage by paying just $100 more a month.
- Save 10 percent. Put aside 10 percent of your income for long-term investments and retirement savings before paying any bills.
- Track your expenses. Record every dollar you spend, for at least one week. You'll get a clearer idea of where the money goes and what you can cut back on.
- Energize your house. Look for ways to make your house more energy efficient. You'll save on heating and cooling costs and help the environment.
- Stay home. Resist the temptation to eat out. Cook more meals at home. Instead of going to the movies, stream a video, read a book, or play a game with your whole family.
- Don't rely on credit cards. Credit card debt can eat up your savings and your future. Start reducing your debt, and don't buy anything on credit if you don't have the money to pay the bill off promptly.

Save money at the grocery store

You have to eat—there's no getting around it for long. You don't have to sink all your money into your next trip to the grocery store, though. The Reader's Digest website shares these tips for saving money on groceries:

- Know your store's coupon policies. Many stores offer their own printable coupons on their websites. Some allow you to use that coupon with a manufacturer's coupon (that's called "stacking"). Ask your store what it allows and what's off-limits.
- Join loyalty programs. You can get discounts and money back on your purchases through your store's loyalty program. Sign up and check all the rules so you get maximum value from it.
- Look for final markdowns and clearances. Many grocery stores place clearance items in a designated area, or use special stickers to help shoppers identify them. Find out what your store does, and keep an eye open for food you can use.
- Be careful with multiples. They can trick you into spending more than you want. For example, if a sign on a bag of chips says "Two for $5," and a single bag of chips is $3.29, you're getting a good deal (if you want chips). On the other hand, a sign that promises "10 for $10" for ramen noodles when they're individually priced at $1 apiece isn't offering any savings. Do the math, and be choosy.

Many folks think they aren't good at earning money, when what they don't know is how to use it.

—Frank A. Clark

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word – the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

Monthly

Financial Wellness Month. Are you saving enough for retirement? Are you saving at all? Will you owe the IRS money this year toward your 2018 taxes? What are your financial goals for 2019? These are just a few of the questions to ask yourself while you review your spending habits and determine your preparedness for any "rainy days" ahead.

Get a Balanced Life Month. It's the start of a new year. Use this new beginning as time to review, reconsider, streamline—and maybe even eliminate—the unnecessary commitments, responsibilities, and activities that fill your days.

Get Organized Month. It's cold outside, and more than likely you're spending more time indoors fretting that there's nothing to do. Here's an idea: Don't wait for spring to purge your work and living spaces of unnecessary clutter and unused or unwanted items. There's no better time than the present to restore a sense of order to your life.

Learn to Ski and Snowboard Month. If saying "yes" to new adventures tops your to-do list this year, why not start things off right by developing your ski legs? Go online to learntoskiandsnowboard.org to find information on destinations, deals, and other considerations.

Weekly

Someday We'll Laugh About This Week, Jan. 2-8. Don't let the failures and embarrassments of the past continue to cast a shadow over you. Laugh and get over it. Let someday be now.

Sugar Awareness Week, Jan. 14-18. Has your daily consumption of sugar gotten out of control? Are you ready to do something about it? Take the challenge and give up sugar for five days. To learn more, visit <http://sugarawareness.com/>

No Name Calling Week, Jan. 21-25. Educators and students in K-12 schools, along with nonprofit partner organizations, focus on themes of inclusion, anti-bullying, and anti-discrimination this week to promote kindness as the guide of actions and conversations with peers. Protect older relatives from theft and fraud

Turn on the news and you're sure to hear about the latest scam targeting the elderly, but some of the stories we don't always hear are the ones that hit closer to home. These are the stories about how your Great-Aunt Sylvie's no-good son was draining her bank account while keeping her a prisoner in her home, or how a widowed neighbor in the early stages of dementia was robbed by the drug addict son of the gardener.

Here are a few suggestions from AARP that you should consider if you are concerned about the welfare of an aging parent or relative:

- Stay connected. Isolation makes the vulnerable among us easy prey. If you are unable to visit with elderly relatives during the week, make sure you are checking in often by phone, and through social media or video if possible. Apps like FaceTime, Skype, WhatsApp, and others allow you to connect in real time. This will make it easier to assess your loved one's health, well-being, and living environment.
- Keep an eye on caregivers. Personally interview and check the references for anyone assigned to care for your relative in their home. Keep an inventory of jewelry and other valuables, or keep those items locked in a secure location. Make a surprise visit during a time when the caregiver is scheduled to be there to gain insight on whether the arrangement is working.
- Create a system of checks and balances. Get power of attorney to handle the medical and financial aspects of your loved one's care, but remember that those and other financial responsibilities can be shared to keep everyone accountable and informed of what is happening. It's important to note that a relative with a history of substance abuse, gambling, or money problems is not a suitable candidate to enlist for any of these matters.

3 ways to persuade your teens to give back

Some high schools require students to complete a certain number of community service hours before graduation, but if you are raising your teens to be generous and thoughtful individuals, stressing the importance of giving back should be taught at home as well. Here are three ways you can help your teen cultivate a spirit of generosity and a willingness to serve:

- Make it a family affair. Be the example of stewardship you'd like your teens to follow. Find an organization or a cause that the entire family can get involved with and participate in together.
- Let them decide. Your teens might have a service project in mind that they want explore. Support them in their efforts. Their ideas are being shaped by their interests and experiences. Your encouragement at this crucial stage in their development will help to validate their sense of self-worth and provide an additional boost of motivation.
- Even small gestures count. Raising money for charity or volunteering a couple of hours a week at a food bank are great ways to give back. So, too, are neighborly deeds such as shoveling out an elderly neighbor's driveway or pulling their trash cans out to the curb. Teach your teens never to overlook small ways they can make a difference.

Trading places

A world-famous scientist was being driven to a university where he was scheduled to give a lecture. During the drive he complained to his chauffeur: "I'm not sure how much longer I can do this. I'm so bored with giving the same lecture at every campus we visit."

"I have an idea," said the driver. "I've been listening from the back of the room each time you've given this lecture. I know the material pretty well. Why don't we trade places today? I'll take your notes and give your speech, and you can sit in the back of the room and observe."

"I'll take you up on that offer," replied the scientist. Before they arrived at their destination, the pair pulled into a rest area and traded clothes. The scientist then drove the rest of the way while the driver sat in the backseat reviewing the lecture notes.

The driver was able to pull off the lecture with no one in the audience aware of the deception. Several minutes into the Q&A portion of the presentation a student asked a rather complicated question. The scientist began to panic. This was something they hadn't anticipated.

Yet the driver, standing confidently at the podium, maintained his composure as he said, "The answer to that question is so simple, I'm going to let my driver, seated in the back of the room, answer that."

Congratulations!

Four expectant fathers are nervously pacing around the hospital waiting area. A nurse comes into the room and says to the first man, "Congratulations! You have twins!"

"That's interesting," the new father says. "I work for the Minnesota Twins."

The nurse returns a short time later and says to the second man, "Congratulations! You are the proud father of triplets."

"That's interesting," says the man. "I work for 3M."

Another nurse walks into the room and says to the third man, "Congratulations! Your wife just had quadruplets, and all of the babies are beautiful and healthy."

"That's interesting," says the man. "I work for the Four Seasons."

The fourth man in the room buries his face in his hands and begins to sob loudly.

One of the fathers asks, "Hey, buddy, what's wrong?"

The man composes himself momentarily and replies, "I work for 7-Up."
