PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Submitted by Bob Doty

Greetings to everyone! November is here (finally) and we can look forward to opening our windows!! Looking forward to seeing our Northern Neighbors, Welcome Back! Our Welcome Back Party will be held on November 12th, please join us.

Recently someone posted personal information about Cheryl (CC) and I on the HOA Bulletin Board and I take issue with this on several levels. The HOA Bulletin Board is for HOA business only. Any postings must be approved by the current HOA President or Activities Chairperson or Co-Chairperson. The HOA Bulletin Board is not for Personal attacks or anyone's personal information. When anyone needs help in our community we all step up. We are a great community, let's not tear each other down.

After the much anticipated return of Bingo to Shangri La, it is with extreme disappointment that I must report that despite several checks and tests, the Bingo machine again has malfunctions. ELS had the machine checked and reports that due to the age of the machine, it can no longer be repaired. I have been in contact with ELS for a suitable remedy to this ongoing problem but have not yet received a response. I will keep you informed of future Bingo information.

As always, God bless and stay safe.

BRIGHTEN SOMEONE'S DAY THIS CHRISTMAS

I am looking for volunteers to help deliver teddy bears to elderly residents of nursing homes who have no family coming to see them on Christmas Day. I have people willing to buy the bears ($1 at Dollar Tree) and a woman is going to make little fleece blankets for them, too. We also have cards we're making with a little poem about it being a comfort bear. I just thought that it would be a nice thing to do for people with no one coming to visit them at Christmas. I will be calling local nursing homes to see how many people they have living there who have no family coming to see them.

I can be reached at 727-559-1550, if you'd like to help. If you don't have time on Christmas, you can also help by purchasing a teddy bear at the Dollar Tree store. Item is Plush Sitting Bear 9" tall. I'm at Lot 136 if you want to drop any off.

Maybe we can brighten someone's day this Christmas.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

Louis and Diane Desrochers, Lot 101

Louis and Diane like to celebrate their birthdays on 12-6 and 1-19 of every year! They have been married for 39 years as of September 10 of this year. Mark the calendar CC we have some new dates for you.

Louis and Diane moved to Florida from Lowerell, Massachusetts. They both worked for Raython.

They have 2 children together 1 boy and 1 girl and 5 grandkids. Their daughter and 4 of their grandkids live in New Port Richey and their Son and 1 grandchild live in Lowerell still. You may have seen Louis and Diane walking around the Park with their fur baby Bailey.

Louis and Diane grew up together in Lowerell within a 1/4 mile from each other. In fact, Louis was best friends with Diane's uncles and spent more time at her grandmother's house than his own. They started dating in High School. After retiring from Raython they decided that it was too cold and they didn't want to shovel anymore snow so they moved on down here to Florida for the beautiful weather.

Louis and Diane both enjoy fishing (catch and release), they love to gamble and hang with the grand-kids. Going to the gym and a little shuffle board are worked into their busy scheduled when they have the time. They are both very friendly and quiet people, and if you happen to be out walking by their place it always smells good from the burning candles.

FURRY FRIENDS CORNER

WHY IS MY DOG SO ITCHY???

Just like people, dogs can have allergic reactions to a number of things, including food, grooming products, pollen and insect bites. Normally dogs will scratch relentlessly, and there will be an ugly rash. Corticosteroids can help with itchy rashes, but the best way to treat a rash is to figure out what is causing it, and to remove that product, food, etc from your dog's environment.

Does your dog lick it's feet constantly? Does it drive you crazy? Yes. . . well it's probably a yeast infection. They will lick their feet, which a lot of times causes the fur to discolor from their saliva. Yeast thrives in warm, moist areas, like between their toes and in their ears. When your dog goes out for a walk their feet can get damp, and stay damp between their toes, and this causes yeast infections. Yeast infections can be remedied with a topical cream from your vet, or sometimes your vet may prescribe an oral medication or medicated baths.

Seborrhea causes a dog's skin to become greasy and develop dandruff. Sometimes it's genetic and can last a lifetime, other times it can just be an allergy. I have a friend whose schnauzer had this problem and when she changed her dog's food the greasy skin and dandruff went away. If a simple change in diet doesn't do the trick, check with your vet and have them figure out the underlying cause so it can be treated.

And last, but certainly not least, FLEAS. When I lived up North, my dogs never had fleas. Here in Florida, totally different ball game. Honestly, I'm not sure if the fleas are all the same, or if some are animal fleas and some are sand fleas. Maybe someone can enlighten me on that. Anyway, they are the bane of pet owners in Florida. It seems like you see one, and the next day there are a million of them on your pets, in your house, and for some reason they love my carport! I have tried so many medications which would work for a little while, or not work at all. I even tried to go "green" using diatomaceous earth spread all around my house. Made a total mess and the fleas loved it. I think it made them stronger. I finally broke down and put them on Trifexis. Some dogs have had very bad reactions to Trifexis so I was very wary, but also desperate. My dogs have had no problems with it. And it works.

Please keep in mind that I am not a vet, just a former dog groomer and major animal "person." Always go to your vet for advice. As far as the Trifexis goes, if nothing else is working, talk to your vet, read up on it, etc., and then make your own decision as to what's best for your dog.

A troubling trend: Americans overdoing antibiotics

Antibiotics are a boon to doctors and their patients, but they pose dangers if they're overused. That makes this news especially concerning: A Texas study reported on the UPI website found that about one in 20 adults have stockpiled supplies of antibiotics in their homes and use them without a physician's advice.

The study of 400 adults in the Houston area found that 14 percent of adults have a stash of antibiotic medications in their home, and 5 percent have used them without a doctor's guidance in the past year. The medications come from a variety of sources: 40 percent came from a store or pharmacy, 24 percent were purchased outside the United States, 20 percent came from family or friends, and 12 percent were left over from past prescriptions.

In 4 percent of cases, the drugs obtained without a prescription were intended for use on animals, not humans.

Millennials worry about debt

Millennials aren't the carefree kids you might think they are. A FICO survey found that they're concerned about debt—with good reason. According to FICO's online survey of approximately 1,000 Americans over 17, 32 percent of millennials owe $20,000 or more in student loans, and 45 percent owe at least $7,000 on car loans.

In all, 37 percent of millennials ages 25-34 say they're concerned about their level of debt, and 33 percent would like assistance in managing their debt. For example, 65 percent would like to receive an email alert when their student loan payments are overdue by less than 90 days, and 35 percent want to be notified by app when their mortgage payments are less than 90 days late (but they'd prefer a phone call if their payments are more than 90 days overdue).

These tiny robots may save your life

The newest medical robots look and move like bacteria, and they can deliver medications to specific locations within the human body and perform intricate surgeries like clearing clogged arteries.

According to the Science Daily website, a team of scientists is working to develop a selection of biological robots that are soft, flexible, and move through bodies under the control of an electromagnetic field. Once they reach their destination, they're heated to change shape, mimicking—for example—the bacterium that causes African trypanosomiasis, or sleeping sickness. Although still in development, these microrobots could revolutionize the way patients are treated in the not-so-distant future.

Get more creativity with a clear focus

Creativity and innovation aren't always accidental. A consistent focus will produce better results, so you don't have to wait for lightning to strike. Try these techniques to spur your imagination as you work:

- Start your day with a purpose. Instead of rushing out the door without a plan, spend a few minutes in the morning thinking about what you want to accomplish that day. Do this before checking your cell phone or email. You'll be less likely to get distracted by other demands.
- Shake up your routine. Get out of your comfort zone so you aren't always surrounded by what's familiar. Get up earlier than normal, take a new route to work, do your tasks in a different order, try something new and exciting—anything to shake your mind free of its preconceptions and look at your work in a different light.
- Be mindful. Don't go on autopilot. Pay attention to everything around you—the people you work with, the tasks you work on, the environment you work in, and so forth. The more aware you are of what's going on, the more likely you'll see a new connection or find an idea where you least expect it.

Don't be afraid to ask questions

Alyssa Mastromonaco was deputy chief of staff in the Obama White House until 2014. She told a radio station an important lesson she learned early on about the importance of asking questions:

During an Oval Office meeting on the economic crisis, she was close to panic, worried that the president would ask her a question about issues she knew nothing about, such as quantitative easing. She began quickly writing down key words and phrases to look up later.

Economic adviser Larry Summers noticed and tapped her on the shoulder. "Come to my office later," he said.

Worried that Summers was mad at her, Mastromonaco went to his office after the meeting. Summers asked about her list.

When she told him what she'd written down and why, Summers said, "I'll tell you anything you need to know." He proceeded to give her a quick lesson on economics. She left the office feeling relieved—and better informed than before. Nowadays she knows that admitting you don't know something is better informed than pretending you do—and she never thinks asking for information is stupid.

A lesson in determination

British runner Derek Redmond was one of the favorites for a gold medal in the 400-meter spring at the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona. But halfway through the race, Redmond—in the lead—collapsed on the track with a hamstring injury.

Medical staff rushed to help him, but Redmond waved them away. He somehow got to his feet and started staggering down the track. With thousands watching, and officials unsure of what to do, Redmond's father ran out to him.

“You don't have to do this, son,” he said.

“Yes, I do,” Redmond replied.

His father helped Redmond down the track, tears streaming down both their faces, waving away anyone who tried to stop them.

The crowd roared when Redmond finally crossed the finish line. The feat is considered by many to be the defining moment of the Barcelona Olympics.

Keep learning at any age

As you and your family members age, you may find you have more difficulty remembering things. Try to help you stay on top of the knowledge game and keep you learning as you age:

- Visualize. Mentally rehearse an event, conversation or activity before it actually happens. This visualization helps eliminate the stress you may feel over the unknown. Plus, when you're more relaxed, you're better able to learn.
- Take a break and exercise. If you're trying to remember information you're reading, take frequent breaks. Don't just sit around, though. Engage in some kind of activity to keep your mind alert and your blood flowing.
- Focus on concentrating. Distractions are the bane of any learning attempt. If you're attending a class or lecture, sit near the instructor and maintain eye contact with him or her. Try not to fidget; simply relax into the session and let your focused attention do the job.
- Say it out loud. Read aloud the material you're trying to learn and repeat out loud the facts you want to retain. This way, both your mind and your ears are taking in information.
- Tame frustration. If you grow frustrated over material you're trying to learn, remind yourself that getting emotional will only hamper your ability to retain information. If you have to, step back and take a long break.

Did you know that November is also...

National Epilepsy Awareness Month. Learn about the different types of seizures and how to prevent them—or help someone suffering from them. A seizure is a short change in normal brain activity that can cause changes in awareness, behavior, or body movement. Because anyone can have a seizure, recognizing symptoms and knowing how to help is vital.

Native American Heritage Month. Established at the turn of the 20th century as an effort to gain a day of recognition for the significant contributions the first Americans. In 1990 President George H. W. Bush approved a joint resolution designating that November “National American Indian Heritage Month.” Similar proclamations have been issued each year since 1994.

Military Family Appreciation Month. Throughout November, military families serving around the world are honored and recognized for their commitment and the many contributions they make every day in support of the military and our nation.

National Animal Shelter and Rescue Appreciation Week, Nov. 3-9. Approximately 3,500 animal shelters across the United States serve the estimated 6 million to 8 million homeless animals who need refuge each year. Get acquainted with your local shelters and rescuers, and learn how you can assist their lifesaving work.

National Nurse Practitioner Week, Nov. 13-19. Held annually to celebrate these exceptional health care providers and to remind lawmakers of the importance of removing outdated barriers to practice so that NPs will be able to practice to the full extent of their experience and education.

American Education Week, Nov. 14-18. The 2016 theme, “Great Public Schools: A Basic Right and Our Responsibility,” will present all Americans with an opportunity to celebrate public education and honor individuals who are making a difference in ensuring that every child receives a high-quality education.

U.S. Election Day, Nov. 8. Get out and vote!

World Diabetes Day, Nov. 14. Celebrated worldwide by the more than 230 member associations of the International Diabetes Federation in more than 160 countries and territories.

International Games Day, Nov. 19. Raising awareness of games and gaming in libraries to publishers and the public around the world.

Thanksgiving, Nov. 24. Turkey, football, pumpkin pie, and family. What could be better?
